SAME GREEN, DIFFERENT TASTE?

Here we turn our attention to the popular 'compact' Merlo P32.6 with its Kubota Stage IIIB/Tier 4 Interim power unit and its 2017 replacement, the Deutz driven Stage IV/Tier 4 final Merlo TF 33.7-115. Respective widths and lift capacities are 2,000mm and 2,100mm and 3.2 tonnes and 3.3 tonnes. Is choosing the right model for your needs as simple as selecting the newest model you can afford?

Price point: £36,000

In 2013, Merlo moved to Kubota power for its P32.6 telehandler, the revised machine essentially retaining the same cab, chassis, boom and running gear as its Perkins powered predecessor and also sticking with the Plus, Plus L (low cab) and Top specifications. Then in 2017, the P32.6 was replaced by the Deutz powered Merlo TF33.7 115, this pretty much all-new model coming with just the Top spec choice.

For a used buyer, the normal course of action is to go for the newest model on offer as this will typically represent the best buy in the longer term. With these two handlers, however, you may want to think somewhat differently as both have their own set of attractions that may make one more suited to your specific needs than the other.

POWER IS NOT ALWAYS WHAT IS SAYS ON THE TIN

First consideration is engine output. The Kubota engine powering the P32.6 is rated at 101hp, pretty much in line with its Perkins powered predecessor. Different test standards, however, make this a bit misleading as the rated output for Kubota engine relates to the power unit alone, with no ancillaries attached. This could make these models feel down on power although much of this was due to transmission settings. Once this was tweaked, performance would typically be as expected.

That said, some users swapping from the previous generation P32.6 with Perkins power would suggest the later Kubota will still feel 'down on power'. Although this should not prove a handicap for light yard duties; heavy mucking out or the need to tow a mixer wagon with the handler between yards could highlight the lack of horses.

Another consideration is that the Kubota engine has a diesel particulate filter. This enables it to meet Stage IIIB emission regs without the need for Ad-Blue. The emission hardware is relatively compact, with it all tucked away under the engine hood. There is no bulky exhaust system running up on the outside of the machine. The downside to this type of emission control is >>

The hydraulic attachment lock pin needs to be in good shape. It is well worth hooking something on and off the carriage to check. The pin cylinder should be a tight fit in the carriage frame, wear between the two only getting worse if left and costing more to put right. Allow at least several hundred pounds for a new pin and related pipework. Under the black plastic cover a sensor can be fitted to link to certain Merlo attachments. On the TF33.7 headstock, a set of connectors offer pretty much the same connectivity, this CDC system adding automatic recognition of the attachment fitted, maximum load parameters and automated weighing.

Merlo employs plastic steering bushes in the King Pins and these were originally designed to run without grease. Grease nipples were subsequently fitted at both the top and bottom as it was found bushes that were immersed in damp muck benefitted from a shot of lube to drive out moisture. Pictured lower bush has started to fail and will need to be renewed. This is not a difficult job, but still allow £250 to £300 to fettle the bushes front and rear.

There is a dirt trap between the carriage and ram attachment bracket, accumulated debris trapping moisture that can lead to the hydraulic pipe corroding (left). Bright new components (right) a good sign. Note also the newer pin has a grease point. This will enhance pin life if used.

Rocking the carriage will help show if there is any wear in the pivot and ram brackets. Routine greasing is often missed, but as the bushes are plastic Merlo suggests this is less of a problem than all-metal alternatives. Good job too as the grease points are not that easy to get at. New carriage and ram bushes are not over costly at around £25 apiece. The crowd ram on the P32.6 is 80mm, and 90mm on the TF33.7.

In-built retardation is a key hydrostatic drive attraction, but one that can see the disc brakes in the axles seize through lack of use. Uneven pad wear can also be a problem (right). On a used buy, give the brake pedal a few heavy applications from speed and note if the handler gets 'held back' when reapplying drive. Access to the brake callipers is good, reducing the labour cost of fitting new pads, but severe braking problems could require more work so ask questions and cost a proper fix if you are concerned. The braking system on the TF33.7 is improved over its predecessor.

On the P32.6, the transmission forward and reverse solenoids are mounted opposite each other on the transmission housing. They are easy to get at, which was a good point as initially the wiring was liable to fail. Merlo changed servo supplier, with the subsequent designs proving less liable to give trouble.

Merlo axles are not known for problems, but check the hubs and differentials are not leaking. Merlo seal kits for both are available and cost under £100 plus labour to fit. Note the P32.6 (left) has a different axle design to the TF33.7 (right), the latter offering slightly reduced ground clearance but helping to reduce the machines overall height. All Merlo handlers benefit from a smooth underbelly and have decent clearance.

<< the now well understood demand for the DPF to be run hot enough to burn off trapped particulates with light work around the yard typically not enough for this to happen 'passively'.

Although Kubota and Merlo did tweak the emission control software, the DPF filter can still need a regenerative clean in as little as every 10 hours on a lightly worked machine. In fairness this is the extreme, but where the engine never has a chance to get good and hot the DPF will need an active clean relatively frequently. This is achieved by leaving the engine running at a fast idle for between 10 and 20 minutes, this filter cleaning process automatically shutting down once the task has completed.

IMPORTANT: Using incorrect or non-OEM Kubota oil and air filters can cause problems with the system. >>

The Kubota engine installation in the P32.6 is neat and provides really good service access. Note the hydraulic oil tank (arrowed left) is fitted with a radiator style cap, as is the coolant header tank (right arrow). Confuse the two and it will almost certainly lead to expensive damage. The compact DPF filter needs to get hot to self-clean, lightly used handlers possibly seeing the filter block in as little as 10 hours when the machines were first launched. Active cleaning intervals were improved following a series of software upgrades, hard worked handlers typically passively cleaning the filter as it gets hot in work.

<< Even though Kubota engines with these filters are now well-established, it is difficult to give hard and fast DPF related running costs, although active cleaning will typically burn around 2 litres of fuel to complete the task. Eventually, a DPF filter will either need to be renewed or possibly professionally refurbished once it has filled with ash, but as to when... this is still a bit of a grey area. A replacement unit will cost around £3,000, a remanufactured unit costing considerably less at around £600.

Should these points influence your used buying decisions? Difficult to say, so talk through any concerns with a Merlo dealer. User feedback suggests it is engine power, and not the DPF, that is the main consideration. More generally, Kubota engines have a good record for smooth and dependable running, and most suggest the engine is up to the task of delivering all the power needed.

Moving to the 115hp Deutz power unit in the Merlo TF33.7, engine output is a truer reflection of actual power as output is measured from a 'fully dressed' engine. A point to note is that in the UK the TF33.7 is only offered with the 115hp engine and not with the 75hp alternative available in other markets.

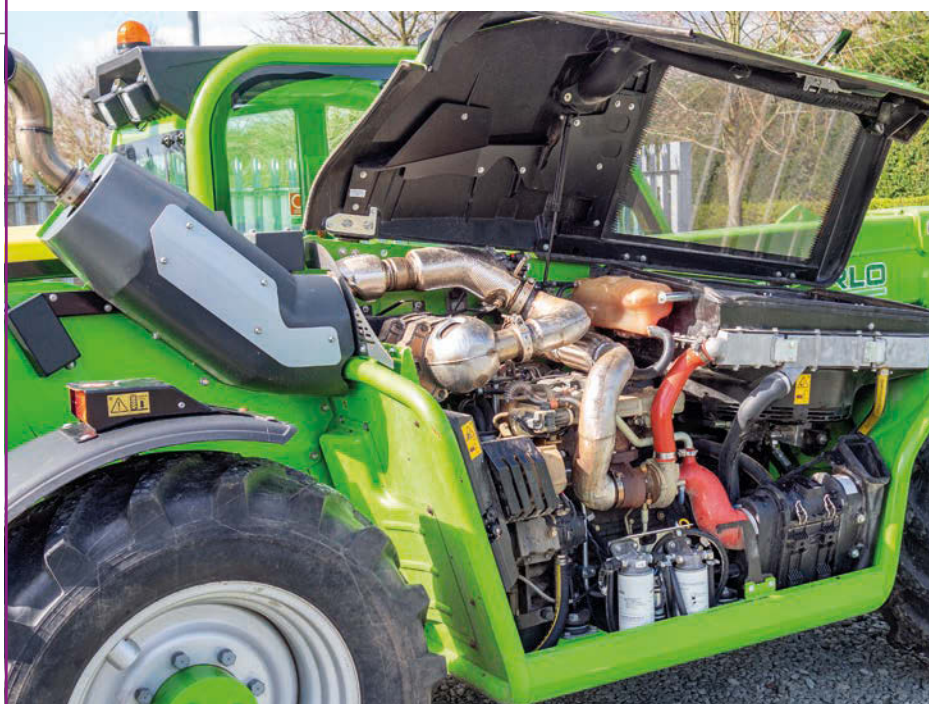

The extra power offered by the TF33.7 comes with a caveat, however, and that is visibility. There is simply not enough room to stuff all the Stage IV emission hardware under the handler's engine hood, a chunky exhaust silencer to the operators rear right spoiling what is otherwise good all-round visibility.

Another consideration is pricing. Merlo UK initially offered the TF33.7-115 in Top spec only, with a load sensing 125 l/m pump, full electronic joystick control, boom suspension, rear pick-up hitch, trailer brakes and a two year, 2,000 hour warranty. The new retail price was north of £70,000. As a pre-owned buy, you will pay more pro-rata for these models than their predecessors, even if the latter is of a high spec.

From 2018, a TF33.7-115 G model with a 98 l/m gear pump (but still with the 115hp engine) was made available in the UK. This variant has not sold strongly as it is not much cheaper, particularly when the pick-up hitch that comes on the Top spec models is added later in production. It will be a rare used find. Air conditioning is an option on all compact models, incidentally, and has become more popular in recent years.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

The photo captions outline the key check points on both the Merlo P32.6 and TF33.7. Dealer prepared buys should be presented in good order

Somewhere under the horizontal cooling package and emission control hardware of the TF33.7 there is a 115hp Deutz power unit. Like many modern engines, the fuel injection system is susceptible to dirty and/or water contaminated fuel. Check OEM Deutz fuel and oil filters are fitted. The air filter is located low and at the front of the engine bay where it is easy to get at. Check the area is clean and that the filter itself is in good order. Incoming air is drawn from a vent behind the coolant grill on the top of the engine cover. The cooling fan reverses automatically to blow debris from the screen with a manual override to increase the cleaning frequency. Debris can get trapped between the radiator and hydraulic cooler so would need lifting and blowing out. Note the fat exhaust stack which can hinder over the shoulder visibility.

MERLO P32.6 SPECIFICATION PACKS

As with all Merlo handlers, the model number is a broad guide to lift capacity and reach (3200kg and 6.0m but see table). The 'P' element refers to the handler having a Panoramic cab. Plus model largest seller.

Plus: Mechanical seat. 85 l/m gear pump. 40kph

Plus L: As above but with lower cab to reduce overall height from 2,150mm to 2,000mm on standard 400/70-20 tyres. Note: In the UK, taller 405/70R24 tyres are a common fit.

Top: Load sensing hydraulics 117 l/m. Rear pick-up hitch. Better seat with pneumatic option.

and sold with a telehandler annual safety test. Do not expect a used buy to be given the full cosmetic treatment, the cost of repainting rusting paintwork possibly outweighing the value it will add to the machine.

Merlo paint used to be pretty poor but by the time these models were made it was much improved. This is not the same as saying you will not find any rust. Black finished parts and grills are liable to corrosion and the green paint can fail, falling back from a 'squared off' metal edge. Although cleaning machines off is a good thing, aggressive pressure washing can damage the paint, so consider this if a clean machine has rust patches.

There is no particular order to checking a handler over but following a sequence will help ensure you do not miss anything. It is important you drive the machine and operate the hydraulics and allow time for everything to get good and warm. If you have a concern or question it is best resolved before you decide to buy the machine, so take your time.

MORE GENERAL CHECKS, P32.6

- Look over the hydraulic pump and valve block for leaks. Earliest models had push-on type couplings that could fail. If finished in black they are more likely to have problems than those in silver.
- Two rear spools are standard, a dealer fit Cherry Products rear pick-up common. A Bill Bennett hitch, with trailer braking, was also offered but has been less widely specified. >>

The Kubota engine mounts on the P32.6 could fail on earlier models, upgraded brackets subsequently solving the problem. Worth a periodic check to avoid the engine leaning over and causing damage, or worse still, setting on fire.

On the TF33.7, fuel is carried in an 80 litre capacity tank at the front nearside, along with a separate 15 litre Ad-Blue tank. The latter should not be allowed to run dry, a low-level warning light in the cab illuminating typically when the minimum level of 5 litres is reached. It is important to ensure the tank is filled with quality Ad-Blue and kept clean. Relocated to the rear, the TF33.7 hydraulic oil tank has a sight level and holds 85 litres. The guard protection should prevent reversing mishaps damaging the tank, but still check.

MERLO TF33.7 115 TOP AND G. MORE SOPHISTICATION

It is not just the Deutz engine that separates the still current TF33.7 115 from the P32.6. The newer model is of a different generation, with features to include EPD Top. This allows the operator to select a Speed Control mode that in outline will record the handler's speed and keep it constant around the yard. The aim is to reduce throttling up and down during manoeuvres, reducing operator input and cutting fuel consumption. The engine speed management function can also be operated directly from the joystick.

As standard, the Top specification will include a pick-up hitch with hydraulic trailer braking and be Type Approved as a tractor. A real plus for some users will be the standard fit, hydraulically powered, reversible fan. In hot weather, the ability to self-clean the radiator and blow debris from the hood screen will be a real plus.

In the UK, the Boom Suspension System (BSS) will have been an option from new. Some dealers made this a default fit, as it is worth having, but check if it is fitted to a used buy. It makes a noticeable difference when moving loads at speed and over rough ground.

The TF33.7 115G shares its 40km/h EPD hydrostatic transmission with the Top, but has a gear pump hydraulic system with a maximum flow rate of 98 l/m. It still has the electro-hydraulic joystick but does without the traffic light load monitor. A pick-up hitch is an option on later machines, adding one as a retrofit bringing G pricing near enough to the Top spec to make the latter a better buy new.

Debris can build up at the base of the radiator on the P32.6, leading to the possibility of trapped moisture causing corrosion in the alloy. Make sure the area is clean on a used buy and look for evidence of coolant leaks.

The 100 litre capacity fuel tank on the P32.6 is located at the rear of the handler, the pictured pick-up hitch providing useful protection should the machine get reversed into something. The battery lives at the front of the cab and is easily accessible.

Mounted ahead of the coolant radiator, the air filter on P32.6 models draws in air via a mesh grill. This folds up and out of the way separately from the engine hood for cleaning. On a used buy, remove the filter and check it is clean or has been renewed. The air filter should be blue paper, not white, as the latter does not offer the correct air flow. Despite having a fixed radiator fan, cooling is not a problem if the grill is kept free of debris.

The cable to sensor seals can let in moisture so it is best not to pressure wash this area. The plastic orange and red caps on the P32.6 need to be in good shape as they also keep moisture out of the load monitoring system. The mudguards pivot on the P32.6 but not on the TF33.7 (right).

- Mudguards swivel with wheels but on some machines proved liable to break at the mounting point.
- Wiring loom to the load monitor rear axle liable to damage.
- Amber flashing beacon can fill with water in its folded down position.
- If air conditioning is fitted, check the extension on the rear of the cab fan housing is clean.
- Door hinges can crack but door latches that secure both open are better on these models than current design.
- If no radio is fitted and you want one, ensure it is slim enough to fit in the housing.

- A constant pump kit to power a third service to drive a feeder or rotary brush is worth having. Can retrofit the plug-in switch.
- Roof wiper. Check it works if fitted (Rare).
- Boom ram leaks. These are a fiddle to repair so can be expensive. Check the end cap has not come unscrewed.
- Boom suspension is mechanically reliable but broken wires on the control solenoid is a common fault.

MORE GENERAL CHECKS, TF33.7

- If the Ad-Blue system is not dosing correctly, it can see the engine de-rate. A good point to check if the handler feels down on power.

- The engine and transmission layout are reversed from the P32.6, with an oil cooler added to the radiator package. The risk of mixing up hydraulic oil and engine coolant is removed but the hydrostatic drive level needs a check as it can get overlooked.
- Battery positioned behind the boom where it is awkward to get at. Check the terminals are in clean condition.
- Load sensors could cause problems so check the handler's history to see if they have been upgraded to later type.
- Look for boom pipe leaks. Spool block changed to upgraded fittings. Not normally a problem area.

The plastic pages of the safe load chart on the P32.6 become brittle and liable to breaking up. As they are a necessary part of the loader's safety test ensure those supplied with a used buy are in good nick. The later flip over chart used on the TF33.7 is much better although some do not like its location and remove it. Make sure it, plus the operator's handbook, are included.

The safe load 'traffic light' indicator on the cab frame of the TF33.7 Top is something many users have grown to like as it provides a clearer indication of how a load impacts upon what the machine can and cannot lift or how far the boom can be extended out. The P32.6 relies solely upon warning buzzers.

TF33.7 operators will benefit from an improved cab, with much better ventilation with the doors closed and a better air-con system if fitted. Both the door top and bottom halves still lock back. On all models check the alloy door hinges and the alloy mirror brackets for fatigue cracks. This is common, the door hinges in particular benefitting from periodic lubrication. Note the worn seat cover has protected the fabric underneath. If a new cover is fitted, check the seat under it is in good shape. The pick-up hitch handle is typically too long and can catch when the operator jumps in and out of the cab. Easily remedied with a hacksaw.

Compact dash of the TF33.7 does the same job as its predecessor but adds extras to include details on the load mode selected. Both the P32.6 and TF33.7 have a transport speed of up to 40km/hr, a speedo coming as part of the standard package.

Offset dash of the P32.6 is large and easy to read. Toggle switches below include the two with yellow symbols that work with the DPF regeneration system. The handler can be left running with no one in the cab during DPF cleaning, and the system will shut down the engine once complete. Ensure there are no failed pixels in the central display showing transmission range, date and hours.

- If the cab mists up, check the filter. The cab should be noticeably quieter than P32.6
- Merlo carriage now seen by some as dated. Changing to alternative not easy and is time consuming.

WHICH MODEL IS THE BEST USED BUY?

Hydrostatic drive is well suited to yard work and is dependable if the machine's oils have been changed on schedule and if you continue to look after it. A new hydro pump is around £2,000. Kubota engines in the P32.6 have a solid reputation for longevity, but we add a note of caution. Some dealers may have 'chipped' the engine to bring its output up to a 'true' 100hp or even to 115hp to 125hp. This may impact upon the handler's longevity at high hours.

If you are on a tight budget, a sound 4,000 hour to 5,000 hour P32.6 can be yours for around

Grammar seats are fitted to all models, with a choice of mechanical or pneumatic suspension. Merlo dealers will typically have fitted a seat cover to a new machine, these proving robust and explaining why the seat in this 2,500hr P32.6 is in such good order. The cab of these models offers decent accommodation and all-round visibility is about as good as it gets in a telehandler. When the doors are closed, ventilation is not the best, with a crude fan package venting to the rear screen. The front screen can be opened but in the UK this feature is seldom used.

The boom is designed to slide freely without the need for greasing. The wear pads do a good job, but they are not cheap.

£25,000. In modern terms that will provide decent lifting heft per used buying pound. Just ensure the work you do includes a bit of longer or harder graft to help keep the DPF filter clean.

The Deutz engine TF33.7 should deliver fuel efficient handling with a bit more refinement in its improved cab; the cab on both these and predecessor models is pretty 'roomy' for a compact handler, but the TF design is a notch higher up quality wise. The TF33.7 did have niggling as opposed to serious problems when new, most stemming from electrical gremlins that should have been resolved under warranty.

Persistent problems are not over common and where they do arise are typically understood and easily resolved. If you have the budget, a 2,500 hour to 3,500 hour TF33.7 Top will set you back at least £45,000 (which is the rough starting price). In these difficult times that could represent solid value, with the usual suggestion that you buy from a dealer >>

Buttons on the column select forward, neutral and reverse on the P32.6 (left), a handler lever doing the same on the TF33.7. The transmission has two ranges set via the finned toggle switch adjacent to the shuttle. On the TF33.7, the two lower buttons are used to adjust settings on the central dash such as time and date.

Both models share the same electronic joystick with its integral shuttle buttons. The joystick on these handlers should deliver well-modulated proportional control, with the load sensing pump delivering more immediate flow at low engine speeds. The joystick has an operator presence switch on its underside and this needs to be squeezed before any function can be operated. Although some do not like the system it prevents the joystick working if accidentally nudged, a real plus when entering or leaving the cab in a bulky coat.

Designed to hold both the upper and lower door sections in place without having to fiddle around to lock them open, the door catch on the TF33.7 is a great idea but one that can fail in service. Check it locks properly on a used buy and continue to ensure it is working in service. This is a weak point on these models.

Halogen roof lights on the P33.6 have bulbs that typically need to be sourced via a Merlo dealer, but they are not overly costly and are easy to renew. The TF33.7 has LED work lights as an option.

They may look similar, but the P32.6 and TF33.7 have less in common than you may think. The latter's cab is wider at just over a metre and is quieter too. Front mudguard extensions are fitted by Merlo dealers R W Pugh to TF models to help keep much of the front screen, the standard design doing a poor job. When looking over a used buy, ensure the windscreen wiper is in good order. A new blade will cost in excess of £30.

<< usual suggestion that you buy from a dealer who you know will offer support when you need it. (Also see separate box, 'Merlo TF33.7')

SUMMARY

Used equipment prices, regardless of what you are after, have increased dramatically and we all know new kit seldom gets cheaper. Many UK buyers may well find they need to hang onto existing kit for longer too. With this in mind, those on the hunt for a used Merlo P32.6 or TF33.7 need to be on their mettle. It is all too easy to be bounced into buying the wrong machine.

A point to also factor in is ongoing maintenance. As machines age, they need more care and attention, not less. When doing costings, try and factor in a professional service at least once a year, with money set aside for a more general maintenance budget. The best used buy is the one you can afford to keep running reliably, not the one with the lowest sticker price.

With thanks to Howard Sherren, RVW Pugh Ltd, Holmes Chapel, Cheshire and Merlo UK.

Viewed side by side, the newer TF33.7 has a slightly lower roof line than its P32.6 predecessor to the right. The latter has a folding amber beacon that collects water when it is left lowered, the same item being fixed on the current machine.

FASTRAC 'ICON' WITH ALL NEW TECH-FOCUSED CONTROLS

JCB has launched new Fastrac 4000 and 8000 Series tractors with an all-new electronics infrastructure that delivers higher levels of performance and convenience while giving operators unprecedented choice in the way they operate their machine.

The new Fastrac iCON operator environment has three key features:

- iCONFIGURE – creating a bespoke control experience for every operator
- iCONNECT – integrating advanced precision agriculture technology
- iCONTROL – redefining operation through new driveline software

The 175hp to 348hp (133kW to 260kW) Fastracs feature the new iCON armrest console and touch-screen display that provides outstanding flexibility in control allocation and operator information, and a new transmission control strategy to deliver ultimate operator comfort and powertrain efficiency. The tractors are also available with fully-integrated ISOBUS, precise JCB GPS guidance and implement control applications that minimise the need for additional displays.

THE ICON ARMREST CONSOLE

At the heart of the new Fastrac iCON models is a new electronics infrastructure that enables a host of modern technology features to be fully integrated as standard or optional equipment.

The most obvious manifestation of this development is the new iCON seat-mounted armrest console and a 12inch colour touch-screen display that can be positioned ahead of the controls for easy viewing or moved to one side to maximise visibility through the Fastrac's large windscreen.

The console houses a new main joystick; assignable RGB LED colour-coded levers giving proportional control of electrically-operated spool valves; pto and hitch controls; an auxiliary joystick; and hard keys plus an encoder dial for a tactile alternative to using the touch screen.

Hydraulic functions can be allocated freely to the five main joystick buttons and also to a four-way auxiliary joystick with its four buttons and rocker switch, with LED colour backlights identifying which spool valve is allocated to which control.

JCB's new high definition 12inch touch screen display presents key information on five screens using clear, crisp graphics.

Swiping right brings up a more detailed running screen that includes settings for up to six front/rear electric spool valves; another two retain essential vehicle status information while providing a remote camera view and an ISOBUS 2 Universal Terminal screen; and a fifth screen is dedicated to JCB's new satellite guidance and precision farming options.

JCB Headland Turn Assist now has up to 50 individual sequences with up to 50 steps each.

TRANSMISSION CONTROL CHOICE

Smart Transmission Control is a new speed-based system that allows operators to set the required forward speed and leave the tractor to do the hard work of balancing engine speed and gear ratio to achieve that speed under changing load.

ISOBUS AND PRECISION FARMING

The new electronics infrastructure on Fastrac iCON tractors caters for optional ISOBUS control of rear and front-mounted implements using a common graphics interface on the 12inch touch screen, with the auxiliary joystick providing further opportunities for bespoke control allocations.

Operators have the added benefit of JCB Rapid Steer, which reduces the number of steering wheel turns needed for headland and other manoeuvres.

Massey Ferguson, is proud to announce the introduction of its latest MF 3 Speciality Series. This comprehensive new range includes six variants designed specifically to provide the dimensions, specifications and power that precisely match the particular demands of each specialist sector.

Equipped to a high standard, MF 3 Speciality Series tractors deliver exactly the right features for straightforward, comfortable operation and optimum performance with low running costs.

"High value crops, often cultivated in tight spaces and on difficult terrain present particular challenges for growers. MF 3 Speciality Series tractors offer a range of features that are specially tailored to meet the exact requirements for each cropping situation. At the same time they also offer operators much greater comfort and ease of use," said Jérôme Aubrion, Director Marketing Massey Ferguson, Europe & Middle East.

SPECIALISTS FOR EVERY SECTOR

The MF 3 Specialist Series includes six different versions, with a new top, 120hp model available for all the variants apart from MF 3GE and MF 3AL models. The full range offers models with cabs or a platform, a choice of transmissions including a new 30F/15R Eco as well as the option of Essential or Efficient specification.

MF 3VI – Vineyard – for use in traditional narrow vineyards. Five models from 75hp to 120hp, from 1.00m wide and with cab as standard.

MF 3SP – Specialised – for more open vineyards with a slightly wider chassis and a more spacious cab. Five models from 75hp to 120hp, from 1.25m wide and with cab as standard.

MF 3FR – Fruit – for use in extensive vineyards and fruit orchards. A more substantial tractor with a wider front axle and a more spacious cab. Five models from 75hp to 120hp, from 1.45m wide and available with cab or platform.

MF 3WF – Wide Fruit – a wider, stable tractor for use in orchards, hillside vineyards and livestock operations. Five models from 75hp to 120hp, from 1.70m wide and available with cab or platform.

MF 3GE – Ground Effect – A low profile model for use under trees, in polytunnels and in canopied vineyards, equipped with a wider front axle for greater stability. Four models from 75hp to 105hp, from 1.40m wide and equipped with an operator platform.

MF 3AL – Alpine – a versatile, strong and stable tractor for use on hills and challenging terrain. Four models from 75hp to 105hp, from 1.70m wide, available with a low-profile or flat-floor cab. At 1.40m wide, the high specification cab brings big tractor features to the compact and powerful MF 3AL.

MF 3 SPECIALITY SERIES DELIVER THE PERFECT CHOICE

ESSENTIAL AND EFFICIENT VERSIONS

Two specification packages and a range of options enable owners to further tailor their MF 3 Speciality tractor to improve comfort and convenience as well as suit their crops and operations.

Entry level 'Essential' models are equipped with a mechanical transmission, 93 litre/min dual pump hydraulic system and mechanical linkage control. This can be supplemented by a range of further options, including Electric Linkage control (ELC) and a PowerShuttle and Speedshift transmission.

'Efficient' versions include a 120 litre/min triple-pump hydraulic system, Electric Linkage control (ELC), PowerShuttle and Speedshift transmission as well as a multi-function joystick and four electro-hydraulic spool valves.

Additional options include Cat 4 cab filtration, joystick control for rear linkage offset and levelling as well as a front linkage and pto and front loader package.

TRANSMISSION CHOICE EXPANDS

Transmission choice starts with a straightforward and easy to use 15F/15R version with mechanical shuttle. The addition of a mechanical splitter increases the ratios to 30F/15R, providing a much wider speed choice to match the work and operations.

Optimum control and comfort is provided by the addition of the easy to use, electro-hydraulically operated Speedshift, gear splitter and PowerShuttle. This also comes with Comfort Control, which adjusts the sensitivity allowing operators to set how quickly or slowly the shuttle responds.

HIGH HYDRAULIC PERFORMANCE

MF 3 Series tractors are equipped with either a dual-pump or triple-pump hydraulic system, depending on specification. Both provide ample flow and pressure to power a wide range of modern equipment.

For Essential models there is a choice of two or three mechanical spool valves, with the option to provide up to five spool valves with two switches on the levers.

Efficient versions come with four electro-hydraulic spool valves. An optional diverter valve enables the use of up to six spool valves, selected using switches on the multi-function joystick control.

COST EFFECTIVE 75HP MODELS

Entry-level, 75hp MF 3 Speciality tractors are powered by the latest 3.4 litre, Stage V, four-cylinder engine. Like the more powerful models, they are also available with the same choice of Essential or Efficient specification packages.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE FROM A COMPACT MACHINE

AGCO TO OFFER NEXT MACHINE MANAGEMENT LICENSES THROUGH AGCO DEALER NETWORK

AGCO a global leader in the design, manufacture and distribution of agricultural machinery and precision ag technology, announced that AGCO dealers will now offer the NEXT Machine Management solution with the objective of bringing simplified electronic documentation requirements and field task management to more European farmers. AGCO will offer the licenses for free for a limited time to AGCO machine owners.

NEXT Machine Management is a cloud-based software developed by a consortium of equipment manufacturers called the Agriculture Application Group (AAG). In addition to AGCO, it includes Lemken, Krone, Kuhn, Pöttinger, Rauch and Zunhammer. The application enables farmers to utilise their machinery from various manufacturers more efficiently. Farmers can plan field activities with ease, transfer data via the agrirouter and create documentation automatically.

Owners of AGCO machines with field task data (TaskDoc Pro) and agronomy or precision ag packages will be able to try out NEXT Machine Management for free until June 30. After the trial period, a license must be purchased. Customers without a field task data service can purchase one to try out NEXT Machine Management.

NEXT MACHINE MANAGEMENT

NEXT Machine Management is a central component of the modular farm management system "Next Farming live". NEXT Machine Management allows for simple task planning, fast wireless data transfer via agrirouter, allowing compatibility with dozens of other FMISs, real-time display of machinery locations and data, and substantial time savings through automated documentation. The software features a future-oriented design with fully GDPR-compliant data security.

Bobcat has extended the company's R2-Series of mini-excavators with the launch of the new E88 8 tonne Stage V compliant model, replacing the previous E85 M-Series machine. The E88 delivers outstanding performance from a compact dimension machine, superb operator comfort and excellent stability with high digging output.

The E88 provides the operator with the full experience expected of an R2-Series excavator, adding new features and options such as an optional fourth AUX4 auxiliary tilt coupler line, a fifth AUX5 hydraulic coupler line as standard and a longer undercarriage. Bobcat's acknowledged productivity is coupled with smooth controllability thanks to low effort joysticks and intuitive 5 inch or 7 inch displays, class-leading visibility and exceptional transportability for its weight class. Large, easy opening covers provide convenient, ground level access to all service points and for maintenance checks.

The proven Bobcat D24 Stage V 4-cylinder engine offers a maximum power output of 48.5 kW (65hp) and ensures the highest performance and maximum reliability. To meet Stage V emission levels, the engine uses diesel oxidation catalyst (DOC) and a diesel particulate filter (DPF), replacing selective catalytic reduction, to achieve maximum reliability, efficiency and environmental protection.

PANORAMIC VISIBILITY AT THE TOP OF ITS CLASS

Unparalleled visibility improves job site awareness, making the machine more precise, easier and more productive to use, while keeping the job site safe. The new E88 excavator is engineered with narrower, but solid cab pillars and ample glass surface area.

Rear visibility, together with the downward sloping right hand cover that does not restrict the view to the side, gives the operator the industry's best visibility of the workgroup and the blade cutting edge as well as all around the machine.

Features like powerful demisting with adjustable heating vents in front, large heating vents in the rear, front and boom LED lights (protected against damage) and the wiper with an optimised working area ensure that visibility remains uncompromised in all conditions and at different times of the day or in rainy and foggy weather. A rear LED light is available as a kit.

For better awareness of the job site area, especially for working in confined spaces, the E88 can be equipped with the rear camera kit. This camera can be connected to the 5 inch or 7 inch displays, both providing a high resolution view.

HIGH VERSATILITY

The new R2-Series E88 is available with Standard Arm and Long Arm configurations. Up to 5 arm mounted hydraulic auxiliary lines and the award-winning A-SAC (Advanced Selectable Auxiliary Control) technology enable a wide range of machine customisations to match any attachment requirement, making this excavator an excellent tool carrier.

The AUX1 general purpose hydraulic line and AUX5 for hydraulic coupler control are standard equipment on the E88. The AUX2 hydraulic line for supporting functions such as rotation and the AUX4 hydraulic line for tilting control are available as an option. The AUX3 line for clam shell bucket (bucket diverter) operation is part of Bobcat's comprehensive kit list for the E88.

SUPERIOR STABILITY

Like all R2-Series machines, the E88 is designed to achieve superior 360-degree stability in any situation, even when digging over the side or when handling heavier loads. It is a well balanced machine for operating with different attachments owing to improved weight distribution, extended track length, optimised counterweight design and dual flange rollers guaranteeing superb over the side stability.

INEOS Automotive has announced that order books for its no nonsense Grenadier 4X4 opened on 18 May. It launched with a simple model line-up that is easy to configure with a wide range of options and accessories, to meet owners' exact needs.

Depending on the market, the Grenadier is available as a two-seat and a five-seat Utility Wagon, and a five-seat Station Wagon. The Utility Wagon is for those needing a stripped back 4X4, but still with the comfort and refinement expected of a modern vehicle. The two-seat model has a full-length flat floor capable of taking a Euro pallet. The Station Wagon has five seats, with the second row positioned further back than in the five-seat Utility variant, to offer the optimum balance between payload and rear passenger space.

In addition to the standard specification Grenadier, INEOS Automotive also offers two pre-configured vehicle editions inspired by Belstaff. The hardcore Grenadier Trialmaster, has been specified with extreme off-roading in mind and comes prepared for gruelling expeditions, while the Grenadier Fieldmaster is designed for those who need their vehicle to get them and their kit to wherever they want to go.

ORDER BOOKS OPEN FOR INEOS GRENADIER

From launch, INEOS will offer a wide range of factory-fit options and an extensive choice of accessories. An open-source approach means customers can attach existing kit, and pre-wired electric access points means fitting lights and other powered accessories is easy.

Order books and an enhanced online configurator went live from 18 May. A deposit payment – refundable until the sales contract is signed – secures a build slot.

The acquisition of Agwood Ltd by neighbouring AGCO dealer RW Crawford Agricultural Machinery Ltd represents a continued commitment to providing a first-class experience for Massey Ferguson owners and users in Essex, East Hertfordshire, Kent, Surrey, and Sussex.

Terms agreed by the Crawford family with Agwood owner and Managing Director Ian Wood, mean that from early summer 2022, the three existing Agwood depots, at Swingfield and Linton in Kent, and Godstone in Surrey, will continue operating under the Agwood trading name. All the Agwood team members based at these depots will remain, ensuring continuity of service for their customers. Ian Wood continues his involvement in a senior advisory role, and General Manager Phil Bush has been appointed MF Dealer Principal for the Agwood sales territory.

FAMILY BUSINESSES

RW Crawford Agricultural Machinery Ltd was established in 1980 by Bob Crawford and became the Massey Ferguson dealer for Essex in 2001. Bob's son Wes took over as Managing Director in 2015, and Bob continues to be involved with the business along with other members of the Crawford family.

Customer service was a foundation of the business and remains key to its current success. With the Agwood acquisition, Massey Ferguson will have group brand recognition in Essex, East Hertfordshire, Kent, Surrey, and Sussex from four depots. Crawfords also continues as the Fendt and Valtra dealer for Essex, East Hertfordshire, Kent, Sussex, Surrey, and Hampshire, operating from its existing depots.

RW CRAWFORD LTD TO ACQUIRE AGWOOD LTD

DEALER SYNERGY

Ian Wood, who started Agwood in 1978 as a sole trader commented: "With AGCO's strategy for brand separation, the Crawfords head office in Essex will work alongside our depot teams, continuing to provide the high level of support you have enjoyed from Agwood Ltd over many years."

CUSTOMER BENEFITS

Wes Crawford explained that acquiring the multibranch dealership will allow the business to develop within AGCO's brand separation policy – Route 66, while also bringing significant benefits for new and existing customers, including a large product stockholding and expanded demonstration fleet.

"Our acquisition of the Agwood business brings added benefits of economy of scale, without losing the local back-up that we know is so important to customers."

£1,172,281 PAID FOR A TRACTOR!

Thursday 21 April saw the mighty Aumman Auctions Pre 1930 sale completed at Nokomis, Illinois the company's HQ in the USA. It produced a whole host of world records that will surely stand for some years.

The sale highlight was the 1913 J I Case 60 (later 30-60) tractor, designed by Welshman David Pryce Davies who was born in Towyn and went on to be the company's vice-president. The model was introduced in 1911 and won a gold medal at the Winnipeg Trials in Canada. It's powered by a twin-cylinder 10 x 12in bore and stroke engine although 500 were to be made it looks as though 125 were actually built and five remain today.

The tractor was heavy at 25,800lbs (11,703kgs) and some had crank and axle problems, but were very well built with 6ft rear wheels. Dennis Powers purchased this tractor in 1993 from Ron Carey, who originally purchased it from the Stan Reynolds Museum in Alberta, Canada. This example, No. 889, comes with the original extension rims. It underwent an extensive restoration that began in the year 2000 and was completed in 2006. The engine work was completed by Larson Welding & Machine Co in South Dakota, and the frame and wheels were rebuilt by D & H Spring in Montana. It went on to sell for £1,172,281 ($1,470,000) the highest price ever paid in the world for a preservation tractor and more than any steam engine that has ever been sold.

One of the editor's favourite prairie tractors is the Pioneer Tractor manufacturing from Winona, Minnesota. In 1910 the 30 model was introduced, with its four-cylinder 7 x 8in engine that featured 8ft rear wheels! And a wonderful cab, which is amazing to be in during winter. In fact the tractor was still in the company's inventory list in 1927 when they went bust. They even made a larger example the 45-90 with a six-cylinder engine and a couple of these also survive. Number 652, was originally in the Stan Reynolds Museum in Alberta and was purchased by Ron Carey. Dennis Powers later purchased it from Ron in 1993. The Pioneer underwent a major restoration and paint in 1997, including radiator, fuel tank and cab rebuilding. This is the second Pioneer that Dennis had, and one of the best around and was sold for another massive record of £364,244 ($456,760).

The mighty 8ft wheeled Pioneer 30 was yours at £364,244

The highest priced tractor ever sold is the 1913 Case 60 at £1,172,281

Before we get into the amazing month of April sales where so many new tractor records were created. I want to thank the many readers who came to my Bodle Street Green FBHVC 'Drive It Day' Charity Gathering & Road Run on Sunday 24 April. Thanks to you all supporting the raffle we were able to raise £1,600 for Prostate Cancer UK and Ukraine Refugees. My next month's column will feature a round-up of major preservation agricultural events that have taken place so far this year.

BARREAR FARM MUSEUM DISPOSAL

On Wednesday 15 June H J Pugh are heading to Newton Stewart, Dumfries for the James Taylor, Barrear Farm Museum sale.

The Museum features so many things: bygones, farm machinery including Ferguson, International, Leyland and Marshall tractors all in very good condition. There is a fine Garvie threshing drum and associated equipment in the sale plus lots of horse related items.

The Leyland and Marshall 804 four-wheel drive tractors are going to make strong money here

Just some of the crowd at the Blandford's well kept farm

GREAT ATMOSPHERE

In excellent weather like so many this spring, the Ben Blandford original Massey Ferguson sale took place on Saturday 26 March at his Herefordshire farm. There was a huge crowd at this event which went on to set the tone for most of the spring sale season with record prices for the stock offered. Not only that, the local charity cake stall was so popular it sold out of its produce early on.

There were plenty of highlights along the way starting with the Ferguson winch, grade 2/3 at

The Flexi cabbed 1965 Massey Ferguson 188 sold for £16,000

Looking so clean the MF 565 went on to sell for £9,500

£3,200, another highlight was the original 1965 Massey Ferguson 130 CBX460C at £5,000 a record price. Some £11,000 was paid for an original MF 550 another record price. The Massey Ferguson 188 went on to change hands at £16,000 in grade 2/3. The MF 1250 artic in original condition sold here for £26,000. The lovely original Ferguson TE-F with cab was yours at £4,200. Another record was set for the petrol MF135 at £6,200. Ben was delighted with the way it went.

Massey Ferguson 135 original grade 3 was yours for £6,800

Another gem was the very clean 592 that went on to sell for £15,600

RESTORED COUNTY SELLS FOR £214,400

The first Cheffins collective vintage sale of 2022 grossed over £2m as record prices were paid for classic and vintage machinery and collectors' items. Taking place on 22-23 April at the Cheffins sale ground at Sutton, near Ely, over 2,800 lots went under the hammer and buyers were in attendance from across the UK and Europe.

The highest price paid on the day was £214,400 for a 1982 County 1474 short nose tractor, which smashed its presale estimate of £120,000-140,000. Having been fully restored to grade 5.5 standard, the tractor saw significant presale interest and now holds the record for the most expensive modern classic tractor sold to date. Other significant sales in the tractor section include £73,000 + VAT for a 2004 JCB 2140 WUO4 KKD with 318 hours on the clock, against an estimate of £60,000-65,000. As always MB Trac are hot property for the right examples and £48,240 was paid for a well serviced 1983 1500 AG19LFL.

Some £42,880 + VAT was paid for a grade 5.2 1974 County 1164 another record price. The 1950 Fowler VF single-cylinder crawler, which was found in original condition having been used on the Landwade Hall Estate, near Newmarket, since new, sold for £16,080. Its presale estimate was £7,000.

There was also an enormous consignment of automobilia on offer, with over 400 lots going under the hammer. The highlights from the section include £5,600 for a 1930s Shell Satam cabinet two-door petrol pump; £5,376 for a Regent 100 petrol pump globe and £4,704 paid for a 1930s Dunlop air tower model and the same price paid for a Dunlop Fort enamel sign from the 1930s. The highest price in the literature section was the 1938 Ferguson Brown A 80 page parts book and 16 page price list at £700. Runner up was the Marshall M brochure at £240.

Oliver Godfrey, Head of the Machinery Department at Cheffins said: "We knew the April sale was going to be a record breaker, with a strong catalogue of varied items, however, to sell over £2 million worth is bonkers. The market is alive and well, in fact it is thriving, as collectors still have cash in the bank which they want to invest in something tangible. Something they can see and use and enjoy. Collectors are becoming younger, so the focus in the market is really on tractors and machinery from the 1970-1990s as they look to buy up a part of their youth."

"It is impossible to put a price on the value of nostalgia. Many buyers are also looking for tractors which they believe will become the next collector's piece and an investment which will pay dividends. It appears that at the moment, the market bets are mainly focussed on Ford variants, such as County and Roadless, which are seeing double digit price growth year-on-year."

The next collective sale will take place on Saturday 23 July, at Cheffins Machinery Sale Ground, Sutton, Ely, CB6 2QT. For more information: www.cheffins.co.uk, or call Cheffins auctioneers on 01353 777767.

BONHAMS DO WELL AT GOODWOOD

With the interesting double seat at the back which is illegal in the UK the Porsche 219 went on to sell for a record £26,450

On Sunday 10 April at 1pm Bonhams held their annual sale at the 79th Goodwood Members motor race meeting, which saw £6.8 million change hands for the lots on offer. The top lot was the 1964 Aston Martin DB5 that needed recommissioning for £506,000.

However the sale started off with the 1976 Lamborghini R320 vineyard tractor selling for £11,270 with full linkage in grade 5 condition. The second lot was the 1962 long wheelbase Porsche 219 without mower in grade 5 condition which changed hands for an amazing record of £26,450 what can one say!

At the NEC Birmingham Restoration Car Show on 20 March, CCA sold a Lamborghini 1R in grade 4.9 condition at £15,500 + 15% buyers premium.

With a reserve of £9,000 the 1976 Lamborghini R320 changed hands at an amazing £11,270

WRIGHTS BROKER SERVICE

The safe and reliable way to buy and sell machinery and equipment

Wrights Farming Register offers farmers and contractors a unique service through its team of brokers. They are the 'men in the middle' who give an impartial opinion on the items of machinery they handle on behalf of their clients. The brokers, who currently cover an area stretching from the Scottish borders to the South Coast, can save farmers time and money when it comes to buying or selling anything from a combine harvester to a cattle trough. In these security-conscious days, they also provide a discreet alternative to a public farm dispersal sale and can help farmers avoid the tax pitfalls these can cause.

The Radial Range

Designed to ensure you get the Power of C-T-R, i.e. Low compaction, High Traction and High Roadability. Aimed to give you an all-round performance and peace of mind. Due to their flexible sidewalls, superior construction, higher tread arc width & higher inner tyre volume, our radial tyres help reduce soil compaction. Their dual lug angle design with more lug overlap gives it superior traction and better roadability.

The Bias range

The high traction farm & agriculture vehicle front and rear bias tyres are developed for mighty performance over hard and black soil for sturdy crop that leaves behind strong stubbles. Properties of self-cleaning, improved puncture resistance and longer tyre life assures farmers of a tension free usage. Working on fields across the world, our Bias tyres come in 4 ranges to suit different terrains.

HOW TO SPOT A SCAM ADVERT

CAUTION

We are currently aware of a number of fraudulent advertisers attempting to sell items within this section.

While we aim to protect our readers by removing these adverts, sometimes they may unfortunately appear.

Please be mindful before entering into any deals and PROCEED WITH CAUTION.

1. SPEAK TO THE FARMER

Always look into whether an advertiser appears legitimate.

2. VIEW THE ITEM

If you can, view the item on the farm first.

3. AVOID ERRORS

Avoid anything with errors. If an ad has odd formatting, strange or poor-quality images, or spelling/grammar mistakes.

5. NEVER PAY IN ADVANCE

Avoid sellers who claim to be unavailable (e.g. they are travelling or have moved overseas) and insist on payment prior to arranging delivery.

6. PAYMENT

Avoid any arrangement that asks for payment via money order, wire transfer, international funds transfer, pre-loaded card or electronic currency, like Bitcoin. It is rare to recover money sent this way.

CAUTION

We are currently aware of a number of fraudulent advertisers attempting to sell items within this section.

While we aim to protect our readers by removing these adverts, sometimes they may unfortunately appear.

Please be mindful before entering into any deals and PROCEED WITH CAUTION.

1. SPEAK TO THE FARMER

Always look into whether an advertiser appears legitimate.

2. VIEW THE ITEM

If you can, view the item on the farm first.

3. AVOID ERRORS

Avoid anything with errors. If an ad has odd formatting, strange or poor-quality images, or spelling/grammar mistakes.

5. NEVER PAY IN ADVANCE

Avoid sellers who claim to be unavailable (e.g. they are travelling or have moved overseas) and insist on payment prior to arranging delivery.

6. PAYMENT

Avoid any arrangement that asks for payment via money order, wire transfer, international funds transfer, pre-loaded card or electronic currency, like Bitcoin. It is rare to recover money sent this way.

Farm Machinery is NOT responsible for any part of the transaction that takes place with the seller and the buyer.
