WILL BUYING A USED BALE CHASER STACK UP?

A straw hungry harvest always proves a great time for those with access to a bale chaser. These self-loading units collecting, carting and stacking bales without the need for a handler. Here we look at the established Heath SuperChaser models and outline what to consider when looking for a used example.

HEATH

SUPERCHASER QM

Year: 2007

Condition: Ready for work

Developed by John Heath back in 1992, the first Heath SuperChaser self-loading bale trailers were offered for sale from 1995. Designed to pick up, carry and stack ten '4x4' 120x130 Hesston big bales, versatility was enhanced with the arrival of the SuperChaser QM in 2002. This variant will handle 120x90, 120x70, 80x90 and 80x70 bales. Around 2008, the longer SuperChaser Extra was introduced and upped the 'standard' Hesston bale carry count from 10 to 12, the QM Extra bale count increasing by 20%.

Armed with this basic information, those on the hunt for a pre-owned example can potentially seek out a used buy with the correct bale handling abilities and take it from there. A self-loading bale trailer is hardly the most complex item of equipment which will make buying a used one an easy job. Right? As is so often the case, a little knowledge is a dangerous thing.

The first point to consider is productivity. Although this relates more to management than buying a used machine, it is important to work out how the chaser is going to be used. Where bales are collected and stacked local to the baler or balers, a SuperChaser Extra, with a good operator, can potentially service two '4x4' big balers producing 1,200 bales in a typical season long day.

Pretty good going for just one operator and trailer. The potential fly in this productivity ointment is the distance between the collection point and the stacking area. The task of quickly clearing bales from the field and stacking them on a nearby headland is a different job from one that requires a chaser to haul its load for perhaps 20 minutes or more down the road for stacking. It is important to get this point across from the outset. A chaser with the potential to load and stack 12 big bales in minutes is dulled by having a long period in transport.

The second point is versatility. The original SuperChaser was designed to handle 10 '4x4' Hesston big bales and nothing else. The QM model from 2002 will handle pretty much every other large bale size except the big Hesston. >>

<< This is an important consideration if the bales you are handling straddle the different size groups (See model table).

The MultiChaser MC2, which has been available in production since 2017, will handle all big bale sizes. As these models are pretty new to market, pre-owned examples are thin on the ground and are likely to have a sticker price that will not shave a great deal off the new sale price of £92,500.

This leads to the third important point which is used prices. By far and away the bulk of pre-owned Heath chasers will be handled by Heath agents, Big Bale North, the company suggesting used values reflect strong demand.

The most affordable ten bale SuperChaser and subsequent twelve bale SuperChaser Extra have entry level prices that, dependant upon condition, will start at around £30,000. Remember these models will only handle the '4x4' 120x130 bales.

Those seeking out a chaser to handle other big bales will have to work a bit harder to find a pre-owned SuperChaser QM model, these having entry level prices that are more likely to be at least £5,000 higher than a SuperChaser. Big Bale North will have the widest choice of pre-owned SuperChaser and related models but Heath chasers may well be offered from other sources.

If you do find a tempting buy, it can be worth getting in touch with Big Bale North. They should be able to furnish you with details of the machine as it was when originally sold, any records of it having been serviced by them and perhaps even a guide to what you should pay for it. Big Bale North, incidentally, comprehensively refurbishes all pre-owned units prior to a retail sale. Consider this when comparing prices.

MODELS, VARIATIONS AND UPGRADES

As a sweeping generalisation, Heath Super Chaser models divide into the following main groups:

HEATH BALE CHASER BALE SIZES AND CAPACITY BY MODEL

Model	Bale capacity and metric bale size
SuperChaser	10 (120x130)
SuperChaser Extra	12 (120x130)
SuperChaser QM	14 (120x90), 18 (120x70), 21 (80x90), 27 (80x70)
SuperChaser QM Extra	18 (120x90), 22 (120x70), 27 (80x90), 33 (80x70)
MultiChaser MC2	12 (120x130), 18 (120x90), 22 (120x70), 27 (80x90), 33 (80x70)

ORIGINAL SUPER CHASER

Designed to handle ten '4x4' bales, these now entry level models did see a fair degree of evolution prior to the introduction of the twelve bale capacity Extra models to include detail chassis strengthening and the introduction of hydraulic Side Gates to help lock the bales in place and produce a more stable stack. The load and stack cycle is controlled via an electric joystick.

Super Single tyres would have been standard from new, although by now you should find all pre-owned examples will have flotations; a common choice are the Alliance 560/60R22.5 cross-ply tyres. The tandem axles will have leaf spring suspension, hydraulic brakes coming as standard with air as an option.

These early units do the job well and remain sought after as a used buy. This is reflected in entry level pricing, with early examples typically commanding north of £20,000.

SUPER CHASER EXTRA

Although it is tempting to suggest these units are simply longer versions of the original ten bale models, Heath did make a number of design tweaks for these twelve bale units to include a MultiChaser MC2 models offer maximum bale handling versatility, the pictured units having been made in 2017 and 2018 and forming part of the Big Bale North hire fleet. stronger chassis and the incorporation of a front jockey wheel. Fitted with a 380/55.17 tyre, the latter helps to stabilise the trailer during loading.

The jockey wheel works hard and was originally prone to punctures. This was solved by end users filling the tyre with foam, an idea subsequently taken up on production models. It is likely a used buy will just have air in this tyre.

It follows that the stack produced by an Extra model will be six as opposed to five bales high. This can be an important consideration if your stacking area is not as large as you would like. Prices for Extra models can span £30,000 to £70,000, the latter buying a 2017 example in tip-top order.

BROAD OUTLINE MODEL DEVELOPMENTS

Heath bale chasers have seen a number of key developments since launch, with numerous detail changes between production runs. From a used buyer's perspective, the key points of note are:

1995 Heath SuperChaser. Will handle 10 '4x4' 120x130

Hesston bales. These units were originally fitted with a tandem axle with Super Single cross-ply tyres, leaf springs and hydraulic brakes as standard.

2006 Heath SuperChaser QM. Specifically developed to handle all key big bale sizes with the exception of the 4x4 Hesston.

2008 Heath SuperChaser Extra and Heath SuperChaser QM Extra. Capacity increased by 20%, with front jockey wheel adding stability for loading. Air suspension, radial tyres and air brakes with ABS. Hydraulic extensions to the pushers and side gates. Although the QM is not primarily designed to pick up Hesston bales it can be fitted with a SuperChaser head.

2017 Heath Multichaser MC2. In development since 2013, the MC2 is designed to collect all big bale sizes.

Prior to the introduction of the Extra models, leaf springs and hydraulic brakes were fitted as standard. Although this running gear is tough, the leaf springs can snap, particularly on units run at speed across tramlines or rough terrain. There is a great deal to check on all models so allow at least a couple of hours to look over a non-prepared buy.

Air suspension makes a big difference to the ride of the chaser, with the system pretty much becoming a default fit for all Extra models from 2012. More recent models are likely to have ABS for the air brakes, ideal where fast road travel is part of the work cycle.

Some areas of concern are easy to spot, such as corrosion on a ram. Less easy to detect is wear in the pivot points. There are a number of grease points on all models and each needs a meticulous grease routine. As some can get overlooked, look for clear signs of recent greasing.

common find on the pre-owned market. A sound 2007 model year QM could easily retail for £40k. It is possible to fit a standard SuperChaser 4x4 headstock onto a QM but seek advice first. These models share the same running gear as the SuperChaser.

SUPERCHASER QM EXTRA

Pretty much the same difference as with the SuperChaser and SuperChaser Extra, the main difference relating to bale capacity (see model table).

SUPERCHASER EXTRA '2' AND QM EXTRA '2'

In 2012, the '2' designation was briefly applied to what can be seen as the 'second generation' of Heath chaser models, although the designation was not really made officially. You may spot the number 2 after the model decal of chasers made that year but it was subsequently dropped with a move to the still current black, red and white decal showing model type.

Developmental changes include a move to a joystick controller, air suspension and air brakes as standard. ABS was offered as an option. The running gear on SuperChaser models in general evolved to include the offer of radial tyres initially as an option, Heath subsequently standardising Michelin Cargo Bib 560/60R22.5 radials.

In 2014, all models had side gates fitted, these helping to secure the load in transit and also firming up the bales on the trailer. Although most units made from this date will have these gates fitted, they could be deleted as a build option so check. Some operators prefer to stick with no side gates on their chaser as that is what they have been used to.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

As is the case with so many items of apparently 'simple' equipment, there is a lot more to a SuperChaser than you may think. With this in mind, the key is to initially look at the unit's overall condition. Some of these chasers will have handled huge numbers of bales but, of equal importance, the manner in which they have been operated and cared for will have a bearing upon wear and tear.

A chaser that has been prepared by Big Bale North will be supplied in ready for work condition. The company has a dedicated team looking after chasers in its hire fleet and those that are prepared for sale. Older units may be stripped and

The small jockey wheel fitted to the front offside of all Extra models can take a real hammering, so check the tyre and rim. Most later models will be foam filled to resist punctures. Check the wheel rim and nuts. These must, like all wheel nuts, be checked for tightness as part of daily maintenance checks.

It is unlikely that there are many chasers running around on super single tyres now, radials offering greater floatation and holding up better at higher transport speeds. Pronounced shoulder wear is typical of units employed on fast road work (right).

I WISH I KNEW THAT....

Two common problems found on SuperChasers returning from hire are worn drawbar pick-up rings and neglected pivot pins. All models are designed to run on the tractor pick-up and not the drawbar. Play between a drawbar pin and ring will see the latter wear quickly. The pivot pins, particularly those related to the bale pick-up, work hard. The pictured pin shows wear that would have been avoided had it seen a routine shot of grease.

Located under a cover at the front of the chaser, the bank of solenoids that co-ordinate the various hydraulic functions will either work or not. The only way to check is to connect up a tractor and run through a collection and stack sequence.

comprehensively refurbished, this in turn explains why pre-owned old models may have what seems to be a high price.

If you are looking at a chaser from another source, the key checks should be divided up as follows:

DRAWBAR AND CHASSIS

The drawbar is designed to work with a pick-up hitch. The ring should ideally be renewed well ahead of pronounced wear. It is not unusual for the chaser to be hitched to the tractor drawbar, this rapidly wearing the ring, so check.

The next job is to take time to look for chassis damage, repairs and cracks. Although the chassis is robust, detail developments have been made to strengthen various stress points. This may mean there are obvious weld repairs and detail modifications that have been made to older models. Key areas to look at will include pivot point brackets and the main chassis rails. Mis-matched paint can be a clue to past repairs.

HYDRAULICS

There is a lot going on in this department, with a nest of relays looking after load and stack sequencing. First do a physical examination of all the hoses, couplings and rams, looking for damage, wear and leaks.

If possible, have the chaser hooked up to >>

Colour coding helps identify the various button functions, a chart easing familiarisation of which does what. Although simple, it takes practice to seamlessly master operating a SuperChaser.

<< a tractor and work through all the working cycles, to include swinging the drawbar out from transport to the collection position. If you can only look over the chaser, and you are not buying from a trusted source, assume you will need to spend money. It is easy to miss something.

Electrics: Dependant upon model, there are several sensors on the chaser that work with the hydraulics to help the machine cycle through its various functions. As a rule, a sensor either works or not although these items can get knocked out of place and with that cause loading/stacking errors. As with the hydraulics, the only way to check everything is to work the unit.

When looking over the various couplings and wiring, take a look at the plug linking either the switchbox or, on later models, the control joystick to the machine. The design of the plug has changed over the years but in all cases careless handling can lead to connection problems. If the connector looks in poor shape, budget around £250 + labour to renew it.

RUNNING GEAR

Tyre condition is pretty obvious, with worn shoulders being typical of fast road work. Take time looking over the tyres and wheels to include the hub wheel nuts. These need to be checked periodically in work as they can loosen.

Leaf springs are liable to break if the chaser is worked across tramlines or rough tracks, so spend time checking this area. New springs are not ruinously expensive, but they take time to fit and will stop work if they fail.

Later air suspension is far better for fast road work and will offer a smoother ride when loading, but as with so much of the machine the system can only be checked once hooked up to a tractor. The main job is to spend time looking over the entire suspension and not to be afraid to walk away from a machine that clearly needs more than a little TLC to get it up to safe working condition.

SPECIFICATION

This is something you can't change. The chaser you go to look at will be what it is. Before travelling to view it, ask questions. If possible, take the serial number and contact Big Bale North. The company has a record of all Heath chasers and will be able to access original build info.

FRONT NUDGE BAR

A nudge bar fits to the front of the towing tractor to turn bales so they face side-on to the chaser for collection. The basic nudge bar is fixed with a slight offset to the right offside of the tractor.

As an option, the nudge bar could be fitted with hydraulic offset to enable it to be tucked towards the tractor centre to narrow the overall width to travel. More recently, Heath have offered a nudge bar with integral tool box. This is an increasingly popular option. In all cases, you will get the bar as originally supplied with the chaser.

SUMMARY

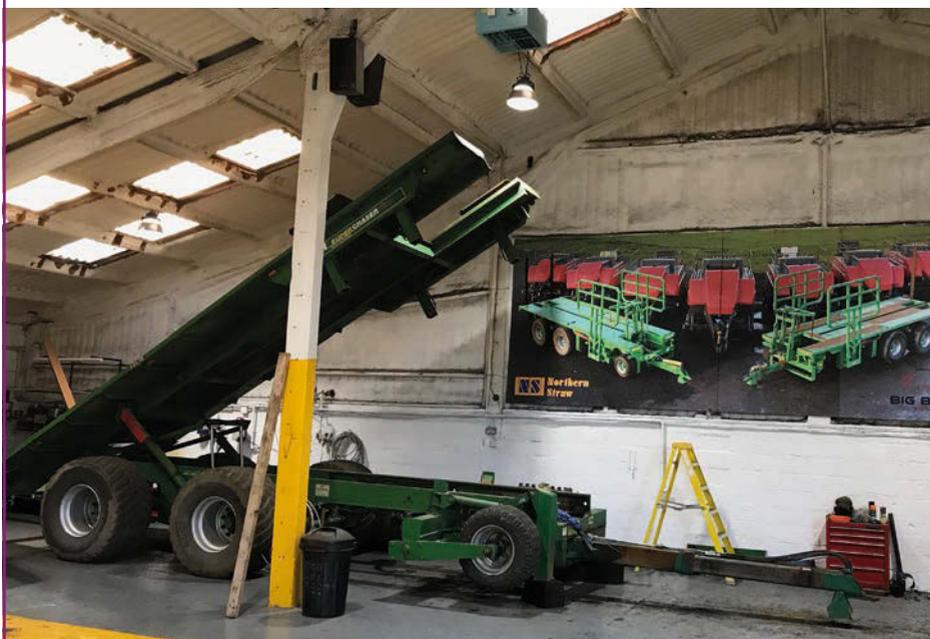

A fair number of pre-owned Heath chasers will be ex-hire machines. This ensures there is a ready supply of used examples, although QM models are less common with firm pricing as a result.

It follows that model choice will be more difficult ahead of harvest so look early or put in a request to Big Bale North sooner rather than later if you are after a specific machine. The company can draw from a large stock but this shrinks once the combines are out.

With thanks to Doug Price and John and Bob Woods, Big Bale North.

Original switchbox electronic controller may look dated but it is easy to use once you become familiar with what switch starts a particular action. Operators familiar with a SuperChaser can collect a load of bales in as little as five minutes, offloading the same as a stack in under a minute.

All SuperChaser trailers sold through Big Bale North undergo thorough preparation ahead of a retail sale, to include older models. Bear in mind that QM versions are harder to find.

HEAVY DUTY FLEXIBLE ROUND BALERS

Case IH has topped its range of variable chamber round balers with the new RB HD Pro. Designed for larger livestock farmers and contractors, the new machine produces higher density bales in a wide range of crops, from wet silage to dry straw. For top reliability and throughput, it has been fitted with heavy duty components and fewer moving parts.

"We know that for farmers and contractors who use their balers a lot - typically 10,000 bales a year or more - durability and reliability are really important. With their needs in mind we have looked at every aspect of the baler, not only to produce the best bales from every crop quickly, but also to make sure that they get them time after time after time," says Michal Jankowski, Case IH Product Marketing Manager.

"To do this, we have strengthened and enlarged the rolls, shafts and tailgate and introduced a more powerful gearbox and driveline - which also increases the numbers of bales per hour. In some places we have simplified things to help reliability and maintenance, for example reducing the number of driveline chains and sledge rolls."

Able to handle up to 30 tonnes per hour, the RB HD Pro has been designed to manage everything from straw and hay to haylage and silage at different cut lengths, thanks to new no-slip dual drive rolls and a wide range of knife sets selectable from the cab. An extra-wide diameter rotor helps prevent blockages while a new Active Drop Floor means any that do happen can be cleared quickly.

"We have completely re-designed the bale chamber and belt path," adds Michal, "to give us neatly formed, very dense bales that will stack well and efficiently. Bale size, wraps and density pressure can all be set up on the same screen page in the cab."

In developing and testing the new baler, it has been put through its paces with farmers around the world to understand and match their needs and priorities. 150,000 bales were produced in a wide variety of crops and weather conditions in the testing programme.

The new balers come in two bale size options: the RB456 HD Pro makes 120cm wide bales from 90cm to 165cm in diameter while the RB466 HD Pro also makes bales 120cm wide but from 90cm up to 190cm in diameter. Each size comes with three rotor options: a feeding rotor, 13 cutter knives or 25 cutter knives, making six models in all.

The new RB HD Pro can be ordered from July 2022 onwards for the spring season 2023.

In a world of self-driving tractors, cars and even lawnmowers, the call for the precision and reliability of GPS controlled vehicles is sweeping across all industries.

For compact sprayer manufacturers Martin Lishman Ltd, their venture into the world of autonomous spraying became a reality when they were approached by UK based precision equipment specialist, Manterra Ltd. The plan was to mount a Martin Lishman Mini-Spray 125 litre demount sprayer with 3.5m boom on their XAG R150 fully autonomous utility vehicle and create a go-anywhere unmanned GPS controlled spraying system.

With both Martin Lishman and Manterra having roots in the agricultural industry, their shared ethos of understanding customer requirements to provide solutions which were not always readily available was a perfect match for this project.

With Martin Lishman's long history of designing and manufacturing compact sprayers, the choice was clear when it came to choosing a sprayer for the project. "We were struggling to find a UK based manufacturer who could fill all our requirements for lead time, quality, specification and value", explains Andrew Manfield, Managing Director of Manterra Ltd. "Martin Lishman were able to fulfil all our requirements regarding these critical aspects, worked closely with us to meet our needs and were always responsive to our requests."

The XAG and Mini-Spray combo provides a robust and versatile ground-based platform, which offers a whole plethora of spraying capabilities at an affordable level. It utilises the Trimble control system to deliver a full suite of variable rate application and targeted application solutions using Trimble Weedseeker sensors.

The use of the unmanned sprayer vehicle brings with it many benefits; the precision aspect means incredibly accurate spraying application and minimising the overuse of chemicals. From a safety perspective operators have greater separation from chemicals when the sprayer is in use and from an environmental point of view, the battery vehicle is quieter and lighter than typical UTV's or tractors, minimising disturbance, and ground pressure.

FULLY AUTONOMOUS GPS SPRAYER

"One simple but very effective application is using the XAG 'follow me' mode to do spot spraying using the lance attached to the Lishman sprayer", added Andrew. "As the R150 will follow the operator, stopping and starting automatically at approximately two metres away, it is infinitely better than using either a knapsack sprayer or a machine which must constantly be driven forward. Ultimately the applications for the sprayer and XAG platform are only limited by the ingenuity of the operator."

"We jumped at the opportunity to get involved when Manterra approached us", explained Gavin Lishman, Managing Director of Martin Lishman Ltd. "Our sprayers are going from strength to strength each year and we can firmly say that they have taken a strong hold in both the agricultural and amenity industries. Exploring new ideas and driving our product development is one of the reasons we got to where we are, so to be a part of this project was a good fit for us. We've seen GPS driven sprayers before, but never a fully autonomous unmanned sprayer – this could be a world first!"

FIRE WARNING AS TEMPERATURES SOAR

Heatwave conditions could spell financial ruin for farmers if they are not protected against fire risk, an insurance expert has warned.

The potential for outbreaks has been heightened by this summer's high temperatures, and Rupert Wailes-Fairbairn, of Lycetts insurance broker, has stressed the importance of thorough safety checks.

"One of the main causes of agricultural fires at this time of year is combine harvesters, and they should be a notable focus of attention," he said.

"Every year, fires caused by harvesters devastate crops, costing farmers thousands. This month alone they have already been responsible for a number of significant blazes.

"Accumulated dust and chaff in the machinery, along with electrical wires in close proximity to fuel, are a constant risk. When you factor in the tinder dry conditions we are currently experiencing, this risk intensifies. In one recent case, it was overheated bearings that proved incendiary.

"Combines go from many months of inactivity to intense use. It is therefore vital they undergo careful inspections and stringent maintenance checks, in addition to being regularly cleaned and tested."

Other recommendations include using a compressor to blow away debris, keeping a fire extinguisher on the combine, using water bowsers when harvesting and cleaning equipment at the end of each day. Mirrors on stationary equipment can cause fires, so care should be taken to keep them out of sunlight.

"It is also sensible to have a communication system in place so remote workers can be contacted in the event of a fire. The What3Words app, for example, can help emergency services pinpoint your precise location in farm fields.

"Fires can cause severe disruption at one of the busiest times of the farming year and, in some cases, even destroy livelihoods.

"Garnering advice from an experienced and specialist insurance broker can help guard against this.

"In addition to the risk to life, crops and machinery – new combines can cost more than £500,000 – wildfire can spread rapidly to farm buildings, homes and storage facilities. Leaving aside the cost and disruption to the business, of equal concern is the long waiting list for new equipment should a combine have to be replaced at short notice."

STYLE AND POWER

Landini Series 6H T-Tronic, the new addition to the Argo Tractors family, is a tractor that represents performance, versatility, design and comfort. One of the main innovations is the Stage V emission engine, thanks to DOC-DPF-SCR technology. Additional features include closed-centre hydraulics, suspended cab and axle. The Landini Series 6H T-Tronic is brilliantly positioned in the Utility category, suitable for open field, haymaking and typical farm operations, enhancing performance and efficiency, optimising style and ergonomics.

The range offers two models, both powered by a 16 valve, 3.6 litre F36 engine: 6-125H, capable of producing 119 horsepower, rising to 127 in the 6-135H version. Fuel consumption is reduced by 10% thanks to innovative solutions and tank capacity has been increased to 170 litres (previously 150). Maximum torque has also been increased, with both models reaching 518 Nm at 1300 rpm.

The hydraulic system has been upgraded to a closed circuit (CCLS) of 110 litres/minute, with 38.5 litres for steering; a solution that allows greater hydraulic performance and increased productivity in front loader handling. At the same time, lower fuel consumption and less noise during operation are guaranteed. It is possible to take out 34 litres of oil, plus an extra 10 litres with optional tank to operate tipping trailers. The range also includes the "Power Beyond" system that ensures the use of the full 110 litres/minute flow rate. There are up to seven spool valves, two of which are mid-mounted and three mechanical, as well as a flow selector that doubles the outputs and a solenoid valve for implements that require certain flow rates, with the possibility of an additional two spool valves, also at the rear and also electronic.

The transmission ensures the correct speed for each specific application. This is thanks to the tried and tested 36+12 scheme with HML (3 speed under load) and Reverse Powershuttle with modulated engagement. The speeds become 48+16 thanks to the creeper. As an option, Park-lock — a brake system with a gear in the transmission — is available for greater safety.

Full frontal visibility is ensured by the installation of the Stage V after-treatment system and the SCR system under the bonnet, ensuring a compact tractor line that is true to the new Landini family feeling. Visibility is fully expanded by the 4-pillar cab and the sunroof with opening hatch for natural ventilation of the cabin. All front loader operations are therefore made easier, as is night work thanks to the 10 LED work lights.

Greater attention is given to operator comfort by the mechanical cab suspension system with 96 mm cylinders and by the ergonomic solutions adopted on the control console, which features a new joystick for loader, hitch and half-speed engagement. Comfort that is also demonstrated during road transport thanks to the option of a suspended front axle with brakes.

The electronically controlled rear power lift has a load capacity of 6,000 kilograms, while the auto pto system activates/deactivates the pto at a specific hitch height. There is also an anti-pitch system that dampens the stresses from uneven ground during transport.

Optional equipment includes the L30 front loader and front hitch that can lift up to 2,250 kilograms, with front pto.

Farmers and contractors running multi-brand tractor fleets can now use John Deere's AutoTrac™ TIM (Tractor-Implement-Management) activation for the Gen4 Universal Displays. This means that the proven guidance system AutoTrac™ can be used on all tractors with AEF (Agricultural Electronics Foundation)-certified TIM guidance capability. Existing well-known solutions for machine guidance on multi-colour fleets are AutoTrac™ Universal 300 and Reichardt GREENFIT. The new AutoTrac™ TIM is a complementary offer that is fully integrated. The key benefit is that no further steering wheel or controller components are needed.

This is a simple solution for farmers and contractors with mixed fleets who want to use a universal guidance system. To run AutoTrac™ TIM, they need the AEF-certified Gen4 Universal Display (4240 or 4640) with AutoTrac™ activation and a StarFire™ 6000 or 7000 receiver.

More and more manufacturers provide their tractors for the AEF TIM interface. John Deere unlocks its steering system for tractors for other manufacturers through ISOBUS, which are AEF

EASIER TO USE

TIM guidance certified. Details on machine compatibility to fit John Deere AutoTrac™ TIM can be found on the AEF Database.

As soon as AutoTrac™ TIM is used, the system can be supplemented as follows: If the machine (regardless of brand) is equipped with a JDLink™ modem, data can be exchanged wirelessly and free of charge with the John Deere Operations Center™. It enables workflows to be set up, planned, monitored and analysed in a single online portal. This also allows customers to use functions for precision farming, such as creating application maps. These can then be sent directly to the tractors in the field using John Deere AutoSetup.

With the AutoTrac™ TIM activation, John Deere shows that openness to other manufacturers still plays an important role. In this way, the company enables customers with mixed fleets in particular to easily use John Deere's solutions for agriculture.

The new Carrier XT

Carrier XT has the ability to optimise the disc angles to its working depth. This creates a full cut-out at a shallower working depth or reduced soil flow at a deeper working depth. Both of these factors contribute to a lower diesel consumption.

Learn more at vaderstad.com

Carrier XT can either be delivered as a trailed or mounted version. The working width is 4.25, 5.25 or 6.25m. All Carrier XT models can be equipped with a range of both single and double packer options.

CATERING FOR HIGHER HORSEPOWER TRACTORS

An all-new design for the Spaldings FlatLift subsoiler has been unveiled to cater for higher horsepower tractors while maintaining its low running cost, high build quality and efficient soil loosening characteristics.

The new design incorporates an exceptionally strong box-section frame to cope with the rigours of operating on powerful tractors in heavy soils, and its 'V' shape places the tines in the optimum position for effective soil loosening across the entire width but with low draft forces and good trash flow.

Steve Constable, Spaldings managing director, said: "The original FlatLift started the trend towards shallower, targeted subsoiling that restructures compacted soils with minimal impact at the surface. The new FlatLift V Range implements maintain that core purpose and ability but are much stronger to match today's more powerful tractors and offer auto reset leg protection."

Key features from the original FlatLift design are retained, such as the slim legs with replaceable shins, and the prominent point and broad wings.

"Maximum working depth is 500mm, the emphasis being on the ability to work at shallow depths just beyond any layers of compaction caused by field traffic during cultivations, ploughing, harvesting," explains Steve Constable.

In addition to the standard soil-engaging fitments, the new V Range subsoilers can be upgraded with tungsten-protected and Spaldings' own SPLUltra high-performance wearing parts.

Standard equipment includes multi-shot shear pin leg protection but a hydraulic auto-reset system is also available for work in more challenging conditions; and this system has the added ability to lift the legs for increased clearance during transport.

An 800mm diameter serrated ring finishing roller is also standard; the Multipacka is designed to provide a level, weather-proof finish while helping to maintain a consistent working depth, which is adjustable in small increments using the multiple pin-and-hole positions for the packer's long trailing arms.

Three fully-mounted sizes of this important new addition to the Spaldings implement range distributed in the UK and Ireland are available: the three-leg FlatLift V3 with 900mm tine spacing to cover a working width of 2.7m; the FlatLift V4 with legs spaced 650mm apart for a 2.8m working width; and the five-leg, 650mm spacing Spaldings FlatLift V5 works across 3.6m.

'NEW BREED' OF FLOCK MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE

Tech startup launches livestock management platform for UK's sheep farming sector

- New livestock management platform aims to replace paper-based records and drive digital transformation of the UK's £1.3 bn sheep farming industry
- Cloud-based app enables farmers to record flock and medical treatment data in-the-field and share information instantly across multiple users and devices
- Suite of ready-made treatment reports to support farm inspections
- Calculates dosages, withdrawal periods and overall medication usage
- Helps farmers prepare for digital reporting ahead of DEFRA's Livestock Information Service (LIS)

- Available to download on iOS, Android, PC and Mac with demo version available to test the app for free

FlockFinder, a tech firm on a mission to spark a 'digital revolution' in the UK's £1.3 billion sheep farming industry with its modern livestock management platform, has announced that it is now available to download for the first time across all platforms.

The FlockFinder app allows farmers to capture key livestock information such as medical treatment data whilst out-in-field and helps them to digitize regulatory reporting and record keeping while increasing efficiencies and improving farm performance.

The company is aiming to disrupt outdated practices in the traditional sheep farming industry such as paper-based medical record keeping and flock management with an easy-to-use app which can be updated instantly with data shared across all devices and users on a farm.

The app, which has been designed in collaboration with sheep farmers, works by leveraging existing Electronic ID ear tags to link medical data and dosage information to specific animals to help farmers meet their regulatory reporting requirements.

The platform also helps to calculate dosages, withdrawal periods and overall medication usage in order to keep accurate records and drive efficiencies.

Crucially, FlockFinder's unique cloud-based architecture means that data will not be lost even if a device is lost or broken.

The FlockFinder app has been tested across a number of farms and comes installed with a suite of ready-made reports, so that farmers can quickly download a detailed treatment report to support farm inspections.

FlockFinder is available to download now across iOS and Android, with an interactive demo version enabling farmers to try the app for free before purchasing a subscription.

The company is offering 3 tiers of membership depending on the farm size. All memberships offer unlimited users and treatment records.

Users can also access multiple holdings from their account as many people in the industry work on more than one holding/farm.

The UK-based startup was co-founded in 2020 by James Stretton, a financial services project manager who comes from six generations of sheep farmers on Romney Marsh, Kent, and Tommy Neeld, a senior data scientist with a PhD in Machine Learning who has previously worked for companies including consulting firm EY and the London Stock Exchange.

The company was founded on a mission to unlock the unrealised potential that technology can deliver to the livestock farming sector, increase the competitiveness of the industry and support the sustainability of farmers' livelihoods.

The company's founders say they want to deliver a "digital revolution in livestock farming", with the goal of "building technology that is easy to implement, simple to use and accessible to everyone."

The launch of FlockFinder comes as the sheep farming industry faces pressure to adopt more technological ways of working as DEFRA is rolling out its Livestock Information Service (LIS). In order to fully utilise the LIS, farmers will need access to tools that capture digital records quickly and easily.

It is estimated that technology adoption could deliver a productivity improvement of 7-9% across the UK sheep farming sector.

However, 80% of UK farms have yet to adopt technology for recording flock information with only 10% using a smartphone to collect livestock data, making the race to digitize even more of a competitive advantage for farmers.

Looking to the future, the company is committed to working hand-in-hand with the sheep farming community to build new features into the FlockFinder platform that use data and automation to increase efficiencies and profitability.

The FlockFinder team is currently working on a feature which tracks breeding and lineage to refine flock performance by linking rams to ewes during tupping and ewes to lambs at birth.

With minimal input from the user, the system will use machine learning to automatically identify bottom performing animals for removal from the breeding flock, for example persistent single bearers or bloodlines where the lambs are slow to reach their finished weight.

James Stretton, founder of FlockFinder, said: "I'm really excited to be launching FlockFinder into the industry. Built around a farmer-first mindset we are leveraging the very best in modern technology to deliver tools that really work for farmers, helping them to make digital records of flock and medical treatment data.

"We spent months speaking with farmers up and down the country asking them what they needed, and a platform that can help them keep on top of their medical records was by far the most popular response. In order to meet their needs, this platform needed to be easy-to-use, accessible on any device, and enable data to be shared across the farm – so that is exactly what we built!"

He added: "Keeping accurate medical records is just the start, we continue to be guided by the industry on how to develop the platform. Online movement reporting, lineage tracking (to refine the flock) and direct livestock selling are all being requested, and we're excited to see how these developments will help to evolve, and in some cases disrupt, the industry."

Matt Brown at M.B Farms, one of the test farms for the FlockFinder platform said: "It's great to be able to record treatments on the spot, it has saved me a lot of time and is one less job I need to do in the evenings. It's very reassuring to know that my records are always up-to-date and I don't need to worry about them anymore."

CASE STUDY:

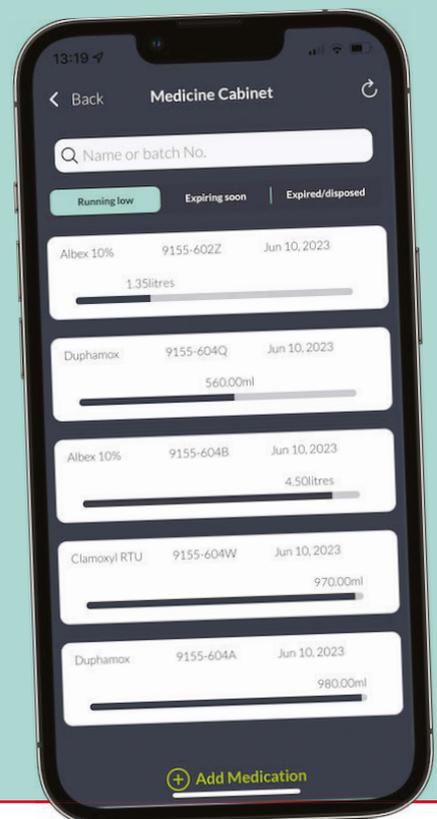

Edward Stretton, a sheep farmer and brother of founder James, was one of the test farms for FlockFinder and is the company's Farming Industry Expert.

"Keeping accurate and up-to-date medical records has always been a challenge. When you see an animal needing treatment, you treat it, whether you have the medical book with you or not.

Typically, my medical book is kept in the office, so I would need to remember which animal I had treated, and with what medication, as well as putting aside time to update the medical book at the end of the day. This was always an additional burden on my mind.

With FlockFinder I can record a treatment in the field with just a few taps and I know that when I need to, I can pull off a detailed report of the treatments and medication that I have used on the farm. I now know that my medical records are always up-to-date and it's a huge weight off my mind.

I also like the fact that anyone on the farm can access the data on their phone and record or view treatments, it saves us having to constantly check which animals have been treated."

LOWERING THE COST OF OWNERSHIP

Kubota (UK) Ltd's five-model M6-001 Utility series tractor range made its first appearance at the Royal Welsh show. As the successor to the MGX range, the M6-001 Utility models span 104hp-143hp, and meet EU Stage V emissions thanks to an improved exhaust after-treatment package that contributes to lowering the cost of ownership.

Short wheelbase models include the M6-101U and M6-111U. Both use a 3.8-litre Kubota V3800 four cylinder engine, producing maximum power of 104hp and 111hp respectively, with maximum torque figures of 346Nm and 379Nm. These models weigh 4.3t and have a 2.54m wheelbase.

M6-121U, M6-131U and M6-141U sit on a 2.68m wheelbase, and use Kubota's 6.1 litre V6108 four cylinder engine. Power outputs are 123hp, 133hp and 143hp, with maximum torque figures of 503Nm, 544Nm and 586Nm respectively. These three models weigh 4.8t.

Engine technology on all models has seen an improvement in exhaust after-treatment, with DOC and DPF performance increased to deliver greater operational flexibility and lower cost of ownership. DPF regeneration can now be achieved at a much lower engine speed – typically 1,200rpm down from 2,000rpm – and using a much lower working temperature of just 50°C. The latter makes regeneration much easier to achieve with light engine loads, lower noise levels and a reduced fuel burn.

DPF cleaning intervals are 8,000 hours for the 6.1 litre engine, and up to 6,000 hours for the smaller 3.8 litre engine, again contributing to reduced operating costs. The engine oil change requirement is every 500 hours, on all M6-001 Utility models.

Across the series, a 40kph semi-powershift transmission is used, which provides eight powershifts in three mechanical ranges to create a 24x24 gearbox. The option of a creeper range increases the choice of ratios to 32x32. Transmission functionality includes auto-shifting in each range, and a sensitivity dial – the latter allows operators to adjust the responsiveness of gear changes to suit load on the tractor.

Operator comfort is provided by an air suspension seat in the same cab frame shared with M6-002 and M7-003 models, while front axle suspension is available as an option. A wide sunroof offers generous visibility for those looking to equip M6-001 Utility models with a loader, of which there are two variants – 3.7m or 4m lift height to the pin, and maximum lift capacities of 1.95t or 2.2t respectively.

A fixed displacement open centre hydraulic system provides 71 litres/min and 77 litres/min of oil flow respectively for short and long wheelbase models, while two mechanically operated spool valves are fitted as standard. Two additional spools are optional.

Cat III rear linkage includes electronic linkage control with a 5t lift capacity on short wheelbase models and 6.1t for long wheelbase tractors. PTO equipment includes 540/1000 speeds as standard, with a 540 Eco option available.

All models can be equipped with an optional front linkage with 2.6t lift capacity, along with the capability to run pto powered equipment while stationary.

M6-001 Utility models also benefit from Kubota's portal front axle with bevel gear drive, offering generous ground clearance and a 55° steering angle.

BEAT THE HEAT THIS HARVEST

With harvest 2022 looming on the horizon, reports of a barrage of hot weather to sweep across the UK over the next few weeks could mean an early start for some.

With expected hot grain temperatures, ensuring optimal ventilation of the stored crop with a powerful airflow will help drive temperatures down as fast as possible. A suitable automatic fan control system is equally as important in taking advantage of the rare occurrences during the summer months of low ambient temperatures to cool grain and will significantly reduce the energy needed to do so.

Crop storage specialists Martin Lishman Ltd have reported their customers are already gearing up ready for an early harvest this year and opting to increase the cooling power in their stores.

UNRIVALLED VENTILATION

Martin Lishman Pile-Dry Pedestals continue to be the fastest most efficient vertical crop cooling system on the market, operating at 20% above the required rate. Pile-Dry Pedestals will cool grain straight off the combine and chill the grain to avoid insects and harmful moulds.

Fans suck cool air through the stored crop and extract the warm air out of the heap to achieve safe storage conditions. The Pile-Dry Pedestal design is modular, meaning they can be placed in almost any existing grain store, even in grain at depths greater than 17 metres.

POWERFUL COOLING

With highly efficient IE3 motors and an updated design to ensure long lasting reliability, when used in conjunction with Pile-Dry Pedestals farmers can cool crops faster with greater energy efficiency while preserving crop quality in all sizes of store and all bulk stored crops.

To get the best cooling results from Pile-Dry Pedestals and Fans, Martin Lishman offers four key tips for success:

- Use at least one fan per four Pedestals
- Increase this quantity for faster cooling
- Move the fans between Pedestals as the crop cools
- Use Automatic Fan Control to save energy and achieve the fastest cooling

REGULAR GRAIN TEMPERATURE MONITORING

With higher-than-normal temperatures expected, frequently monitoring the grain to ensure the temperature is consistent throughout the store is crucial to prevent any form of deterioration. Martin Lishman offers systems to monitor stored grain that cater for a range of budgets, including the well trusted MiniTemp hand-held temperature monitor, its new Bluetooth brother, MiniTemp Blue, and Barn Owl Wireless, the fully automatic wireless monitoring and automatic fan control system.

AUTOMATIC FAN CONTROL

An automatic fan controller can bring with it many benefits. Automatically turning cooling fans on and off to make the best use of ambient air conditions ensures the fastest cooling possible but can also save at least 40% of energy costs. Plus, there is the bonus of reducing trips to the store to manually operate fans, or simply avoiding the possibility of forgetting to do so.

HOT SPOT SPEARS

With spikes in ambient temperatures, hot-spots in grain can take you by surprise and can wreak havoc in the store if not dealt with quickly. Martin Lishman screw-in Trouble-Dry aeration spears tackle hot spots by simply screwing the spear into the heap and using one of their high output green fans to suck cool air out of the affected area. They are ideal for cooling small quantities of grain, urgent spot drying and controlling unexpected insect infestations.

PREMIER FRUIT EVENT

Warm weather, a packed programme, product launches, topical debates and the chance to catch up with friends, suppliers and customers ensured that 2022 Fruit Focus more than matched the show's claim to be the industry's "premier fruit event".

There was a purposeful feel about the show, with visitors fully engaged with the standholders, keen to learn about new and better technology and sharing ideas and information both in formal sessions and while pausing for a chat with friends and colleagues.

Held at NIAB East Malling in Kent, Fruit Focus again combined research tours, NFU-sponsored fruit forums and demonstrations with a broad range of stands manned by suppliers from across the whole of the fruit industry.

From agronomists to machinery manufacturers, packing specialists to robotics companies and substrate suppliers to plant nutrition experts, the show had plenty to offer and aroused considerable interest from potential buyers, suppliers and partners.

Support That Lasts a Lifetime

IMPRESSIVE NEW RVSHIFT TRANSMISSION

Same Deutz Fahr's impressive new RVShift transmission was unveiled to the UK when Romney Marsh, Kent-based Bell Agricultural hosted the first of a series of events aimed at highlighting the new technology to farmers, writes Malcolm Triggs, South East Farmer editor.

SDF product specialist David Jefferson confirmed that the event at the Kent Showground was the first time the all-new transmission housed within the Deutz-Fahr 6135 had been road tested by anyone outside the company.

He praised the support provided by Bell Agricultural's Robin Back, who hired the venue, provided a barbecue, invited his farming customers and brought along more machinery to complement the four demonstration tractors provided by SDF.

"Robin has always been very supportive of joint marketing efforts like this one, and he embraced the opportunity to be the first main dealer in the country to be able to show his customers the new technology. With his support it has been a successful and well attended event," said David.

Those farmers who took advantage of the opportunity could try out for themselves the remarkably flexible yet simple to operate RVShift-equipped 6135.

The new transmission offers a highly efficient full powershift experience with 20 forward and 16 reverse gears, all controlled by a simple and intuitive control interface that rarely involves pressing more than one button. The flexibility is impressive and allows smooth gear changing under load without any loss of momentum.

"The new RVShift technology offers the benefits of a continuous variable transmission gearbox but at a more accessible price point," said David. "It combines flexibility with simplicity and puts the driver in complete control of how the tractor behaves. Many of the parameters can be quickly and easily changed by the operator to suit the task in hand."

He cited potato harvesting as one task where increasing the speed of the engine by a very small amount could make a big difference to productivity over a full day. "It is much easier to fine-tune the engine speed with the RVShift than it would be with a three-step semi-powershift transmission," he said. "You don't have to settle for 'close enough' any more."

A single button next to the RVShift controller on the armrest switches the 6135 from field work to fast transport mode, taking the tractor to maximum 'take me home' speed without the need to work through a dozen or more gears.

With a steady stream of interested visitors attending the event, which also featured Deutz Fahr's 6125 PS with a loader, a 6185 RCSHIFT six-step model and the impressive 7250 TTV in full Warrior spec, Robin Back and Bell Agricultural's sales manager Simon Austin were delighted with the response.

The demo day, which pre-dated even the formal press launch by 24 hours, was an opportunity to show that Bell Agricultural was once again leading the way, Robin commented.

Peter Love, the joint creator of Tractor & Machinery and Classic Tractor, gives Farm Machinery his views on this month's events.

If you have a story, or an event, please do get in touch: peterlove@madasafish.com, TEL: 01323 833125

Well here we are and it is August already, life has been nothing but hectic on the sale and social agricultural scene since my article last month; all helped by good weather.

I had great pleasure talking with readers and answering questions at the Cheffins Stanford Bridge Farm, Pluckley collective trade sale on 16 June. The weather was 'hot' as were many of the prices.

If you want to get away from it all why not take a break and attend the Great Dorset Steam Fair, the National Heritage Show at Tarrent Hinton, Dorset 25-29 August. I have attended this event since the 1970s and it gets better each year. There is so much to see and do it takes two days to walk around the show and the night life is something special. Kelsey Media will be having a stand (by the heavy haulage hill) with products on sale. Do go along to our Old Glory stand and see what we have available my new bookazine on Steam Wagons P2 will also be available. I will be on site during some of the show so do come and say hello.

Lots of tractors were out at many Platinum Jubilee parties over 3-5 June weekend including at Rushlake Green, East Sussex on Sunday 5 June.

CANDY PINK CHARITY JCB220LC

The latest 5000 lots from Euro Auctions came under the hammer at their base near Leeds on 15-17 June.

The machine that arguably got most attention was the candy pink 2014 JCB JS220LC 22-tonne excavator that was a charity sale. It was being sold in collaboration with Waitings Ltd of Penrith, the leading civil engineering and plant hire company, to raise money for five charities - Dementia UK, Eden Valley Hospice, Hospice at Home, Brain Tumour Research and McMillan Cancer Support - all worthy causes.

Proceeds were collected from the buyer's and seller's commission, as well as a percentage of the hammer price, with the monies collected being divided between the five charities. As well as that, five tool trolleys were also sold with 100% of the proceeds going to charity, a great effort by all involved. When it came to the sale of the JCB itself, bidding was pretty brisk throughout, with the eventual selling price of £34,500. Additionally, the five tool boxes made a further £6,400 and further donations were made both on-site as well as online.

BRIAN WHITLOCK

It's with sadness we announce the passing of renowned Somerset Ferguson tractor and implement restorer, Brian Whitlock.

Brian was a popular and kind figure often appearing with a newly restored Ferguson implement at his first rally of the year, Abbey Hill, Yeovil Showground. He always enjoyed being with Ferguson Club members on the club stand, notably at the January Somerset Vintage and Classic Tractor Show and the Royal Bath & West Show.

Brian learnt his trade at the renowned Yeovil Ferguson agent, Percy Windsor Ltd, starting in September 1950. Brian came from Tintinhull and following a five-year apprenticeship began with a blacksmith who carried out tractor repairs. Brian went onto become a respected combine/baler service staff member, developing a specialism for combine and baler pre-delivery inspections and servicing.

Brian recalled that there were two workshops. The upstairs was large enough to house 15 Ferguson tractors at one time. The 17cwt Fergusons were craned up through the floor using a two-ton electric winch.

Later on Brian went driving buses which he greatly enjoyed. He acquired his first Ferguson tractors in the early 1970s and went on to restore eight Ferguson tractors starting in 1980 with a 1948 TE-A petrol. The most recent a 1951 TE-A Lenfield Hop conversion was completed in 2016. Writer Joseph Lewis and friend Brian Hook called him "The best fitter in the business who was top of the tree."

Brian's funeral service was held at the Church of St. Margaret, Tintinhull on 30 June 2022.

THOMAS ANDREWS

It's very sad news that Thomas Andrews (84) died on 30 May 2022. He farmed at Trelasick Farm, Ladock, Cornwall until the late 1980s. He created a tractor re-registration business working for clients all over the UK and for organisations like the Ford and Fordson Association in its early years.

He liked to make sure classic tractors carried safety cabs when they should, but if removed a roll bar was fitted to comply with the required legal regulations. He also had a great passion to see tractors preserved authentically, including having age-related registration numbers. He could accurately quote the history of many different tractors just from the registration number.

Thomas made many friends and was the man to go to in his area for tractor workshop manuals and on occasions he would commentate at various shows including the Royal Cornwall Show which has just taken place. Through his efforts he brought the National Vintage Tractor Road Run to Cornwall, which was a very successful event.

He will be very much missed by everyone in the preservation movement. We send our condolences to his lifetime supporter Liz his wife and their family.

Entry cost of £18 enabled you to visit Newby Hall as well as Tractor Fest, which saw over 900 tractors attend.

JUBILEE WEEKEND DELIVERS

Bumper crowds of visitors and enthusiasts helped make the original Tractor Fest at Newby Hall, Ripon, the 'best ever.'

The UK's largest tractor festival took place over the Bank Holiday Jubilee weekend in celebration of the Queen's 70th anniversary as monarch.

Tractor Fest attracted 1000s of visitors who were treated to an extravaganza of over 900 vintage tractors displayed across the grounds of Newby Hall.

The festival also showcased vintage cars, stationary engines, commercial vehicles and motorcycles from across the UK and abroad.

To the delight of the crowds, the event was made extra special by the Royal Air Force Battle of Britain Memorial Flight (BBMF) flying a Hawker Hurricane over the show.

Yorkshire Vintage Association chairman Kevin Watson said: "We are delighted with the turnout and support for this year's Tractor Fest which was all the more special for being held over three days of the Jubilee weekend.

"Visitor numbers and the range of exhibitors made it our best ever Tractor Fest and we're so pleased to have brought it back after a two-year break with the continued support of our sponsors who cannot be thanked enough."

Other highlights of the show were displays of 70-year-old Jubilee and Coronation vintage tractors including a gold 1953 International.

Tractor Fest was sponsored by Cheffins, The National Vintage Tractor & Engine Club (NVTEC) and Econ Engineering. The show was also supported by Ripon Farm Services.

JCB MACHINES JOIN PAGEANT FIT FOR A QUEEN

The parade of JCB machines down The Mall at the Platinum Jubilee Pageant.

JCB machines from landmark years of Her Majesty the Queen's 70-year reign took centre stage on 5 June at the spectacular Platinum Jubilee Pageant in London.

The five diggers paraded down The Mall towards Buckingham Palace past members of the Royal family and tens of thousands of cheering spectators who were lining the route.

The team of operators driving the JCB machines spoke of their pride and emotion at being involved in the tribute to The Queen as they drove machines manufactured in The Queen's Jubilee years of 1977, 2002, 2012 and 2022 alongside one made in her Coronation year of 1953.

JCB Backhoe Loader product marketing manager Julian Carder, was driving a 1977 JCB backhoe from the year of the Queen's Silver Jubilee a machine he restored to its former glory in 2012.

He said: "It is hard to find the words to describe what an amazing occasion this was. The response the JCB machines received from the crowds, who were at least 10 deep along most of the route, was simply incredible. They were waving and cheering us as we drove the machines down The Mall, and it was a very emotional experience. We are all very proud to have taken part in such a fantastic tribute to The Queen."

BIDDENDEN TRACTORFEST

Biddenden Tractorfest is back for 2022, returning to the fields of Holden Farm, Biddenden, Kent over the weekend of 20-21 August. A fun day out for all the family, this will be the 8th year that the event has been held, run entirely by volunteers and now with the support of registered charity, the Kent County Agricultural Society.

While tractors remain the central attraction, with over 200 expected to exhibit over the weekend, there are plenty of stalls, vehicles, demonstrations, children's entertainment, animals and arena displays to entertain both young and old! Pair this with enticing food & drink, live music and so much more to see and do, and that is all that is needed for a fun, family day out in the Kent countryside.

Arena demonstrations will include falconry, the dog and duck show and working horses, with craft exhibits such as wood turning and trug making, plus chainsaw carving and many others throughout the weekend.

Alongside a vast display of vintage tractors, there will be steam, horticultural machinery, stationary engines, classic cars and emergency vehicles. And if that's not enough, there will be the chance to meet and buy direct from a specially curated selection of local businesses, producers, charities, organisations, makers and crafters with their stands set up for the whole weekend.

Tractorfest was last held in the fields of Holden Farm in 2017, and this year returns with all your favourite stands, exhibits and demonstrations. Holden Farm, Sissinghurst Road, Biddenden, Kent TN27 8EZ. what3words // sizes.mopped.dabbling

Tickets are on sale now, at a discounted advance rate, including single day, weekend and family ticket options. Find out more information and buy online at www.tractorfest.co.uk

Cheffins were acting on instructions of FGS Agri Ltd on Thursday 16 June at Stanford Bridge Farm, Station Road, Pluckley, Kent. Here they staged a clear-out sale for a number of customers with about 500 lots. The crowd was not over large but this was a trade sale with many of the lots going online including plant machines to all parts of the UK and mainland Europe, (please add VAT on prices here).

WRIGHTS BROKER SERVICE

The safe and reliable way to buy and sell machinery and equipment

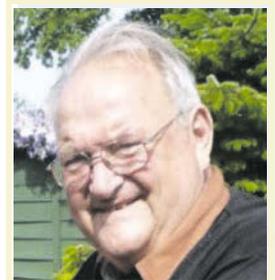

Wrights Farming Register offers farmers and contractors a unique service through its team of brokers. They are the 'men in the middle' who give an impartial opinion on the items of machinery they handle on behalf of their clients. The brokers, who currently cover an area stretching from the Scottish borders to the South Coast, can save farmers time and money when it comes to buying or selling anything from a combine harvester to a cattle trough. In these security-conscious days, they also provide a discreet alternative to a public farm dispersal sale and can help farmers avoid the tax pitfalls these can cause.

The Radial Range

Designed to ensure you get the Power of C-T-R, i.e. Low compaction, High Traction and High Roadability. Aimed to give you an all-round performance and peace of mind. Due to their flexible sidewalls, superior construction, higher tread arc width & higher inner tyre volume, our radial tyres help reduce soil compaction. Their dual lug angle design with more lug overlap gives it superior traction and better roadability.

The Bias range

The high traction farm & agriculture vehicle front and rear bias tyres are developed for mighty performance over hard and black soil for sturdy crop that leaves behind strong stubbles. Properties of self-cleaning, improved puncture resistance and longer tyre life assures farmers of a tension free usage. Working on fields across the world, our Bias tyres come in 4 ranges to suit different terrains.

HOW TO SPOT A SCAM ADVERT

We are currently aware of a number of fraudulent advertisers attempting to sell items within this section.

While we aim to protect our readers by removing these adverts, sometimes they may unfortunately appear.

Please be mindful before entering into any deals and

PROCEED WITH CAUTION.

1. SPEAK TO THE FARMER

Always look into whether an advertiser appears legitimate.

2. VIEW THE ITEM

If you can, view the item on the farm first.

3. AVOID ERRORS

Avoid anything with errors. If an ad has odd formatting, strange or poor-quality images, or spelling/grammar mistakes.

5. NEVER PAY IN ADVANCE

Avoid sellers who claim to be unavailable (e.g. they are travelling or have moved overseas) and insist on payment prior to arranging delivery.

6. PAYMENT

Avoid any arrangement that asks for payment via money order, wire transfer, international funds transfer, pre-loaded card or electronic currency, like Bitcoin. It is rare to recover money sent this way.

Farm Machinery is NOT responsible for any part of the transaction that takes place with the seller and the buyer.
