SCOUTING OUT A LOWLANDER

Back in 1991, G T Bunning and Sons launched the first of its Lowlander vertical rear shredding auger muck spreaders. Some 30 years on, the Lowlander series has evolved to encompass four 'ranges'; Farmstar, HD mk2, Widebody and the 'small to medium' size Mk4 models. It is the latter we take a look at here.

BUNNING

LOWLANDER MK 4 150

Year: 2018

Condition: Good. Ready for work

Comment: Ex-contractor spreader that will have had several thousand tonnes pass through its beaters. Well maintained and ready for work examples make good choice for farm work. Smaller 120 more popular so similar money.

Price point: £31,350

Lowlander vertical shredding auger muck spreaders follow a design format that employs a moving floor that feeds material to the rear augers that shred and spread it. Simple. The 'problem' of course is that there is no such thing as 'typical' muck, those that use these machines on a contract basis typically spreading everything from hugely variable FYM, semi-solid slurries right through to industrial by-products to include sticky powdery materials such as gypsum. Each of these presents a different spreading challenge, but most expect one machine to spread the lot.

A further demand is consistent spreading accuracy over a wider spread width to help reduce in-field trafficking. Add the ever-growing demand for high rates of productivity and it should come as no surprise that these muck spreaders have evolved. Add the subtle tweaks and developments, to include the option of fitting of load cells, and it follows there is more to securing a pre-owned spreader than just checking it is mechanically sound.

The development of Lowlander muck spreaders reflects the evolution in the approach to dealing with what we generically call muck in terms of both throughput and accuracy. A spreader will obviously need to spread muck as economically as possible and do so within a relatively short time frame but also do this with recordable accuracy.

For many, the best way will still be to get muck spread by a trusted contractor. The right outfit will be able to get the job done quickly, spread accurately and do the job cost effectively. The snag is contractors are increasingly tied up with other work when the spreading window opens up. This is when being able to do the job yourself has its attractions.

BUNNING

Condition: Above average

Comment: Ex-contractor spreader with load cells and full in-cab controls. Dealer prepared and serviced examples are rare used finds but expect to pay a premium for high spec, ex-demo and late model examples.

Price point: £38,350

BUNNING

LOWLANDER MK 4 150

Year: 2016

Condition: Excellent

Comment: Air brake model with wide angle pto, rear hitch and rear strobe lights. Solid drawbar with bolt-on hitch.

Price point: £16,000 - £20,000

When considering buying a pre-owned muck spreader, do not assume a private or auction buy will be the cheapest option. Check dealer and re-furbished prices first and, as always, look at the cost of a new model built to your specification. Bunning Lowlander models may carry the same name but improved performance and spreading accuracy has come as part of the machine's evolution. As the true >>

BUNNING

LOWLANDER MK 4 150

Year: 2011

Condition: Good. Ready for work

Comment: Fitted with spinning deck attachment to spread materials such as chicken muck, biomass etc. Decade old machines like this will retail for between £13,000 and £18,000.

Price point: £17,850

BUNNING

LOWLANDER MK 4 150

Year: 2014

Condition: Refurbished

Comment: Refurbished spreaders make a good choice for farm users as key wearing parts will have been renewed. Good choice if new model cannot be justified. Expect to pay between £29,000 for decent a used model to £35,000 for one that has been given specialist TLC.

Price point: £32,500

<< value of what is generically called muck looks to set to increase, in line with the greater emphasis placed upon soil health, it follows that optimising its application will become an increasing priority.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

What follows is a broad outline. A point to note is that replacement parts remain available for all Bunning Lowlander models, regardless of age. Further, the factory supports specialists, to include SAS Agri in Norfolk and Wardmans of Matlock, who can offer used buyers

Pick-up hitch ring and pto can tell you a great deal about the spreader and its past care, although worn items are of course to be expected on a well-used machine. Take time to really take a close look at the pto and see if it can be refurbished or will need replacing. Bolt-on hitch makes replacement easy but a new one will cost £250 plus.

It can be difficult to spot areas that may need attention on a used buy, the more so on a machine that has not been really well cleaned. An initial look over the machine will typically provide enough of a clue to see if the spreader is worth a closer look but be wary of a private or auction buy that looks as if it has just finished work and not had the benefit of a bit of pre-sale TLC.

DRAWBAR, PTO AND DRIVELINE

Bunning switched from a weld on hitch tongue to a bolt-on design in around 2014. On older models, factor in the cost of welding on a replacement tongue if the ring is worn. This work must be done properly. Alternative hitch designs may be fitted, but most models are sold to allow attachment via a tractor pick-up hitch. All models are designed to be towed at transport speeds that do not exceed of 30kph/20mph.

A sprung drawbar was offered as an option and will considerably improve working with the machine both in the field and in transport and are the models to go for if your budget allows. These drawbars are robust but look for play in both the front and rear pivot bushes, the grease point at the spring end sometimes getting overlooked.

The clamps that secure the spring leaves at the pivot end must be tight and also look for fractured or broken leaf springs, the latter proving more liable to break if these clamps have worn loose. Ensure the U-bolts that attach the spring leaves to the drawbar are tight with no evidence of them having loosened; worn paint is a tell-tale sign that further investigation is needed.

A further option is a Walterscheid wide angle pto to these models, with a choice of 21 or less common six splines for 1,000 and

A row of fresh shear bolts and floor chain spanner will be a rare find on a used buy. When replacing shear bolts, make sure the correct M10x60 size and 6.8 mild steel grade are used. It pays to periodically replace these bolts in service.

Front pivot point of the sprung drawbar option needs regular greasing, so check for signs of wear and the need for attention. Note 'black' load cell above the pivot. A used buy that is 'load cell' ready can have the system retrofitted but check before making assumptions.

540rpm. As an option, a torque limiting shaft can be specified, this incorporating a slip clutch at the spreader end that will need periodic servicing and setting so it will 'slip' at the correct torque.

If possible, couple the shaft to a tractor as this can make it easier to check for play in the CV joints. Wide angle journal kits on a 1,000rpm pto cost around £74. If the pto does not slide freely, budget to replace the entire unit at around £835. Similarly ensure the pto is of the correct length for your tractor.

It follows that the pto guards will need to be in good condition, any missing elements needing to be replaced before the spreader is put to work. Again, it is easy to overlook the cost of putting this right. The guard safety chains also need to be in place and fitted when hitched up. Details of how to achieve this are outlined in the spreader operator manual. A pto stowage hook is fitted as standard.

Drive from the pto to the rear gearbox is via a split telescopic shaft with UJs at both ends. Support bearings are fitted at the front and middle. It follows that there can be wear in all these points, so check to include the overrun clutch at the rear gearbox end.

There is just one shear bolt fitted on a Bunning spreader driveline and this is located at the spreader end of the pto shaft. From new, a few spare bolts would have been attached to the holder near the floor speed control, and these should be a M10x60 size and 6.8 mild steel grade. These items are cheap and can save expensive damage to the auger driveline.

FLOOR CHAIN AND GEARBOX

Bunning use a twin chain and slat moving floor, with a pair of front mounted bolts to adjust the chain tension. The chain gap to the body should be even on both sides. Chain wear can be in part worked out by taking a look to see how much adjustment remains, removing a single link, and renewing the joiner link, enabling some slack to be taken out.

The moving door has changed in various detail ways over the years. Larger profile S355 High Tensile 80mm x 40mm x 4mm box slats fitted from 2010 improve wear and strength plus helping to ensure the feed of more difficult materials, such as gypsum, is improved. The chain and related drive are robust, but check the chain driving Gypsy sprocket wheels for wear and that their related groove scrapers are in good order. The latter needs to be adjusted to prevent material building up in the central wheel channel. These are easily renewed. >>

Sprung drawbars make a big difference to how the spreaders tow in both transport and work and will improve ride comfort for operators. Inspect this area carefully, checking for loose clamps, broken springs and worn pivots. Rear pivot grease point is sometimes overlooked.

Load cells will either work or not, problems usually relating to the wiring as opposed to the actual cells themselves. Although not over common a few years ago, weighing systems are a great management aid and can help promote spreading accuracy. Well worth having on a used buy. Note the floor speed control is set in the cab when the weighing system is fitted and is offered as an option on other models.

The floor and floor chain and slats should be inspected from above and below, for pretty obvious reasons. From 2010, the floor slats were upgraded from basic channel to S355 High Tensile 80mm x 40mm x 4mm steel box that is much tougher and does a better job in tricky materials. From 2014 the slat tabs linking the slats to the chain were increased in strength.

<< With floor chains, you need to check every slat and link, simply pulling the chain up from the floor telling you little more than its tension. You need to look at the entire chain and slat run. It should be easy enough to spot the difference between worn and really worn items. Before assuming worn chains and sprockets will resolve all your floor worries, check all the related bearings and look also for wear channel where the chains run.

The floor bed ACM bushes are designed to be greased and again their life expectancy is pretty much aligned to how much attention they have received. On a non-prepared used buy, just assume they need to be renewed. If you can 'see' wear in the bushes it is worth checking the bush carrier and shaft as well.

BED AND BODY

If the chain floor is worn it follows that the body and particularly the floor will be worn too. As these elements of the spreader are made from flat steel, welding in replacement sheet is possible but seek some advice as the job needs to be done correctly and 'tub' repairs do need good welding skills to prevent warping. The slats obviously need to run flush with the bed so ensure any repairs you spot on a used model have been done properly.

A point to note is that an ex-contractor machine may well show pretty high levels of wear, but this is not the same as suggesting the spreader is worn out. A contractor will typically put more work through a spreader in a season than many farms will do over many years. It is balancing the work to wear ratio that is the key to securing the best used buy, a well-specified ex-contractor spreader that is worn but sound potentially making a better buy than a machine in good condition but not with the spec you want.

SHREDDING AUGERS, GEARBOX AND FLOOR DRIVE

The vertical shredding augers clearly work hard and pretty obviously will need a good looking over for damage. The key checks include a look for bent tooth carriers and worn rotor flights; the latter are heat treated boron steel from 2015 and are more resilient to wear and becoming deformed. The cutter points were upgraded to boron steel from 2013, as are all new replacements. Bolt on wearing parts are sold complete with new fasteners. The only way to really work out how worn the cutters are is to compare old with new, a point to consider if you are not over familiar with these models.

The blade paddles at the bottom of the shredding augers fix to the auger body via bolts. As with the cutter tips these wear items are integral to determining the spread width. Again, the easiest way to determine wear is to compare old with new. The auger flights will also wear but damage is the main concern. If the auger flights are worn thin, it may be worth seeking advice; problems here are rare.

The bed floor adjusters are easy to get at and the shaft bushes can be looked over at the same time. It is worth having a look at the threads and nuts on the adjuster, gnarled and damaged items suggesting ham fisted servicing. Look for grease around the bushes.

Mk 4 Lowlander models benefit from a single piece gearbox that is bolted together. This design is tougher than the three-box system employed on earlier models. Check this area for oil leaks and damage and also take a good look along the entire drive line. The drive support bearings do wear and should be renewed as soon as any play is detected.

The upper shredding augers bearings are pretty easy to get at and not over costly to renew. They must be in good order for pretty obvious reasons. The bottom of the augers run on the gearbox driveshaft via a drive flange and rubber drive block. Budget to replace the latter as they help cushion the drive from shock loads and may have hardened with age. This is not a difficult job, but it can take time so budget for both parts and labour.

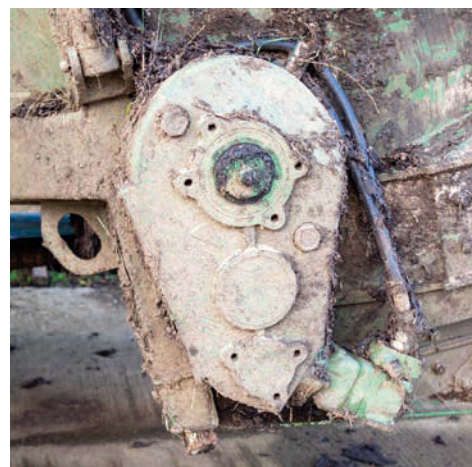

The shredding augers gearbox again needs to run with clean oil. A sight glass in the rear centre of the drive will show the oil level and give an idea of its cleanliness. If this part of the spreader has been cared for, the gears and related bearings are long lived. If the various seals, such as in the top of the gearbox, have become damaged or worn they will clearly let dirt, muck and water get in. This will contaminate the complete assembly if left unchecked.

Ideally, it pays to drop the gearbox oil to look at its condition, regular oil changes and good seals preventing expensive wear but sometimes getting overlooked when the previous owner knows they will be getting rid of the spreader. The gearbox casing can also suffer accident damage so look for cracks and dings. If the paint on the gearbox sump plug still has factory paint on it, you need to ask a few questions!

The floor drive gearbox is well-sealed from muck but again needs to have had its oil changed regularly. It is hard to assess its condition on a used buy. If there is no oil showing in the sight gauge and the top breather in the casing is black and grimy it suggests something is amiss on the maintenance front. Also look for signs of weeping seals or leaks.

The hydraulic floor drive motor speed can be controlled via either a manual lever control mounted at the front of the spreader or electronically. The hydraulics on these spreaders are not known to give trouble, so the key check on a pre-owned buy is to run the floor and ensure the speed can be varied. A look for leaks is typically enough to spot problems but it is only when load is applied to the floor that you will find out if there >>

A grease nipple at the drive side of the floor chain gearbox should show signs of frequent grease gun attention. The hydraulic drive motor tends to be pretty bomb proof but look for signs of oil leaks. The gearbox itself is not a problem area but look for weeping seals and make sure the oil inside is clean.

G T BUNNING AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERS LOWLANDER - KEY DEVELOPMENTS

1991: Original Lowlander launched

1996: Lowlander Mk2. Bottom was increased from 92 to 112" and deck lowered.

2003: Lowlander Mk3. Improved access to the 3 individual auger gearboxes

2005: Lowlander Mk 4 launched. New wider body of 1500mm, previous marks all 1435mm. One- piece oil-immersed auger drive gearbox with larger heat-treated gears and shafts in place of three individual gearboxes. A key development in boosting both reliability and longevity. Single drawbar in place of earlier 'A' frame to improve turn radius and ease access to awkward gateways.

2010: Floor slats upgraded from channel to S355 High Tensile 80 x 40 x 4 mm Box

2013: Heat treated boron steel used for cutter points and bottom paddles.

2014: New design slat tab. Increased strength between slat and chain with improved longevity

2015: Heat treated boron steel vertical auger flights. Twice the strength of mild steel to resist deformation and wear.

<< is a problem. A dealer will do a pressure check to ensure all is well so consider this when buying a machine privately or at auction.

GUILLOTINE SLURRY DOOR

As simple as this element of the spreaders is, it is also critical to the machine's overall running so check carefully. The door itself needs to be able to seal the spreader to prevent material falling out in transit, and it should move up and down the runners smoothly. Physical damage is possible, so look for repairs. There are two lift rams fitted. On spreaders stored outside with the ram door raised, check the chrome of the rams is not rusted.

BRAKES AND RUNNING GEAR

Lowlander spreaders are not built for high transport speeds and are fitted with hydraulically activated wheel brakes. How the brakes perform, and their condition, will relate to how the spreader has been worked. Crawl under the spreader and take a look, a smear of grease around the lube point suggesting someone has taken a bit of care to ensure the system has not seized up. The brakes are designed to help pin a fully laden spreader down in the field as well as the road, a point to consider if the machine is to be used on steep, challenging ground.

Wheel bearings can be checked by giving a wheel a good wobble, but it is best to assume the axle hubs will benefit from fettling to check the brake linings and bearings on a non-prepared buy.

SUMMARY

Buying a pre-owned muck spreader can be a frustrating job, with private and auction buys sometimes attracting prices that may not be in line with the machines intended future use. A dealer or specialist supplier will typically offer a spreader that is presented in good order. The trick is to buy a spreader that is up to the work you will put it way. A well-worn ex-contractor machine, serviced and prepared for work, can make a good buy to spread a farm load of muck a season. Expect the same spreader to deliver front line performance in all-out contracting work and you will probably discover why it was sold on.

Prices for older Lowlander Mk4 spreaders – earlier models are now getting a bit long in the tooth so are harder to price – will perhaps hover around £10,000 to £11,000 for sound, dealer prepared Lowlander 75, 85, 90, 105 models. These have nominal capacities of 9.5, 10, 11.6 and 12.6 tonnes, regional

It is obviously easier to check a machine that is spotless. Where possible, comparing new and worn teeth and blades will help establish if they will need renewing. It is a false economy to run the boron steel blades and teeth right down as this will impact on the quality of the spread and also lead to more wear on the auger flights. The latter are also made from heat treated boron steel (from 2015), this development further enhancing the life of these already robust spreaders.

Early Lowlander Mk 4. Offering an even spread, these spreaders enable pre-cultivated stubbles to be treated to substantial amounts of manure without compromising following cultivation. Spreaders used on farm may not work as hard as examples employed by contractors, the latter typically selling their machines on when they will have plenty of farm usage life remaining.

popularity suggesting similar prices for each. Larger Lowlander Mk 4 120 and 150 models with nominal 14t and 16.6 tonne capacities are typically ex-contractor models but do not let this put you off as these machines will typically have been well-cared for, with greater attention paid to routine care. Just look for excessive wear. Sound examples will be priced from around £15,000 but expect to pay near £25,000 for a spreader that is worn but ready for work.

You will pay more in stages for later models, with sound 2010 spreaders in really decent order seldom selling for less than £20,000, 2015 models commanding prices near £30,000 but again for machines that are in really good shape. A really worn spreader is just that, so be wary if a younger machine is offered at a tempting price.

In-cab floor speed controls will add perhaps £500 to the sticker price of a dealer buy, with load cell machines currently proving a rarer used buy but commanding a premium of perhaps £2,000. If a used buy is 'load cell ready' check the cost of fitting it. Well worth having where accuracy, work rate and tonnage spread is a requirement.

With thanks to Chris Duce, Bunning Agricultural Engineers and Northamptonshire Agricultural Contractors, Pete and Rich Burbage.

Mounted on the offside front frame, the spreaders serial number plate lists date of manufacture, drawbar weight and other details. It is worth wiping it clean to check the details match what you expect. GT Bunning will be able to identify the spreader from its serial number and supply any parts needed, even on machines made over three decades ago.

Designed to spread material to the sides of the spreader, the bottom blades need to protrude to deliver the expected spread pattern. Note the floor sits above the bottom of the augers, this design tweak helping to prevent blockages and improve the feed of difficult materials such as paper waste and gypsum.

Hydraulic brakes do need a little TLC to include routine, but moderate, greasing of the cam drive. Whilst looking under the machine, check for damage to the inner wheel rims and look for cracks in the tyre wall. These spreaders are not designed for fast road work, the more so when fully loaded.

It is hard to check a well-worn spreader, but a look at a new or refurbished example will illustrate how the augers are designed to shred material, the adjustment of the slurry gate impacting upon how it is fed and shredded. To get the best spread, subtle adjustments will need to be made in the field and checked to ensure spread consistency.

NEW TWIN-AUGER 4-CYLINDER SELF-PROPELLED VARIANT

BvL has extended its series of self-propelled mixer wagons to include a compact four-cylinder version, the V-MIX Drive Maximus Plus 2S, with a larger container volume.

The development of self-propelled mixer wagons at Bernard van Lengerich Maschinenfabrik GmbH & Co. KG (BvL) in Emsbüren goes all the way back to the 1990s. Since then, the appearance and features of the machines have changed substantially. Currently, the V-MIX Drive Maximus Plus, is available in single and double auger variants with 4-cylinder and 6-cylinder engines, respectively.

The new V-MIX Drive Maximus Plus 2S combines the base of the single auger self-propelled machine but with the container of the double auger machine. The result is a robust machine with a large container volume of 19m³ or 21m³, but with a smaller engine compared to the standard double auger self-propelled machine. The 174hp four-cylinder machine is therefore in the middle price range between the two previous BvL self-propelled machines.

The new V-MIX Drive series is ideal for use as a farmyard machine, but can be registered for road use and is suitable for short distances to remote barns or other areas of the farm. Since the machine is equipped with a separate transmission, the mixing process with both augers is no problem despite the smaller engine, and cleaning is also facilitated by very high rpm.

The time proven and long lasting structure roller in this mixer wagon also ensures removal of feed without damage to the physical structure of the mix. Other BvL features, such as automatic remixing or manoeuvring with the crawler gear function, are also standard equipment.

The machine is also available with new extra options, such as additional storage capacities and loading functions, an additional LED light unit over the cab, or virtually panoramic visibility due to the new Bird View camera system.

This high-performance handler eclipses rivals with its 173hp JCB DieselMAX engine output, 50kph DualTech VT transmission, 22% greater dynamic tractive effort and 14% greater hydraulic flow at 160-litre/min.

All of which adds up to a significant increase in productivity potential for large farming enterprises and contracting businesses.

KUBOTA LAUNCHES ENTRY-LEVEL COMPACT TRACTOR

Kubota (UK) Ltd has introduced the EK1 series compact tractor to its line-up. The 24hp, four-wheel drive EK1-261 model sits at the foot of its compact tractor portfolio, representing a cost-effective choice for smallholders.

Manufactured by Escorts-Kubota, the EK1 uses a three-cylinder diesel engine that meets EU Stage V emissions without the need for a diesel particulate filter (DPF). Drive is transmitted via dry plate clutch through a nine-forward three-reverse, constant mesh transmission.

The tractor's rear-mounted three-point linkage offers a 750kg lift capacity, while a rear PTO provides 540 and 540E speeds for powered implements such as a flail mower, pasture topper and finishing mower. One double-acting hydraulic spool valve is fitted, and operates with an open centre hydraulic system.

Despite the straightforward approach, the small details have not been over-looked, and the EK1 offers a charging socket and mobile phone holder, in addition to a weight-adjustable, mechanical suspension seat and foldable ROPS frame. The ability to temporarily fold the ROPS frame complements the tractor's physical dimensions, helping access into low-height buildings for the 2670mm long, 1035mm wide, EK1 tractor.

The EK1-261 includes a five-year Kubota Care warranty as standard, and its retail price starts from £11,036+VAT. Those seeking additional versatility can add an optional front-end loader, or choose turf tyres or industrial tyres.

WORKING WITH A COMPACT SIZE

The new Terrain GX4s from Corvus Off-Road Vehicles is the perfect example of UTVs working with a more compact size while maintaining comfort, power and the best equipment. Its powerful 570 EFI petrol engine and its 4x4 differential lock system, provide the Terrain GX4s with unmatched power.

The compact dimensions of the Terrain GX4s greatly increase this UTV's versatility. With a width of 144.9cm, it's perfect for service tasks, but it can also be used in woodland areas. A perfect size that goes hand in hand with a maximum total load capacity of 440 kg – a leader in its class.

The Terrain GX4s is a perfect example of a vehicle with unadulterated Off-Road DNA. Its powerful 570 EFI petrol engine and its 4x4 differential lock system, provide the Terrain GX4s with unmatched power. An authentic and ideally sized all-terrain vehicle, the new Terrain GX4s it is an agile and easy-to-drive UTV. With a ground clearance of 242mm, and a turning radius of 2.99m, the GX4s is more than able to negotiate all types of terrain.

One of the strengths of this UTV is the ratio of dimensions of the cabin. In short, its cabin is wide and spacious. In addition, its ergonomic and intuitive driving position offers the worker surprising comfort and a good driving experience that translate into comfort throughout the working day.

As is the case with all the vehicles in the Corvus Off-Road Vehicles family, maintaining the Terrain GX4s is an extremely simple task. To gain access to the engine assembly, the oil filters, air filters, and the CVT belt, all you need to do is remove the cargo box.

Corvus Off-Road Vehicles' s new gasoline UTV joins the other models in the Terrain family to make a perfect trio of off-road market-leading work vehicles.

With the new Terrain EX4, an all-electric UTV, Corvus Off-Road Vehicles take UTV efficiency and performance to the next level. Its silent operation allows pleasant driving very useful for the working day, since the vehicle allows you to work at any time of the day without noise.

This UTV is a powerful and robust 4x4 diesel vehicle, with great storage and cargo capacity, which is fully capable of giving its best in all types of terrain and work. The Terrain DX4 model has a naturally aspirated diesel engine YANMAR of 993 cc and three cylinders in line, with which ensures it reaches a power of 24hp.

NEW HIGH CAPACITY COMPACT TANKER

Hi-Spec Engineering will be back at LAMMA in January exhibiting a range of products, including a new addition to their popular and well proven vacuum tanker range.

The new Hi-Spec TS-R tanker is available in a range of capacities from 2,000 up to 4,000 gallons. The tanker body is fully supported and is carried on a commercial tandem-axle, fitted with 710/50-R26.5 tyres with semi-recessed mudguards.

The combination of narrower width but lower rolling resistance tyres to keep soil compaction to a minimum and the semi-recessed mudguard design has the benefit that overall width and height are reduced, making the TS-R a more nimble tanker and ideal for use where operating space is restricted.

As standard, the Hi-Spec TS-R is fitted with a sprung drawbar with swivel hitch and the barrel is made from 6mm British steel and incorporates internal baffles and anti-implosion rings. Also standard is a powerful Jurop pump and the TS-R can be specified with a wide range of filling options.

Spreading options for the TS-R include the Hi-Spec Trailing Shoe applicator, which is available in working widths of 7.5, 9.0 and 10.5 metres. Alternatively there is the 7.5 metre wide Hi-Spec Dribble Bar, which folds down to just 2.55 metres for transport.

In addition, also on display will be a Hi-Spec SA-R (single axle recessed) tanker. Capacities on the 6-model SA-R models are from 1,350 gallons up to 3,000 gallons. All SA-R models are fitted with commercial brakes and the show model is on 750/60 R30.5 Alliance 181D tyres. The tanker body is built from 6mm thick British steel, is fitted with a Jurop vacuum pump and incorporates internal implosion rings. The show model will also be fitted with a Vogelsang Blackbird trailing shoe applicator.

SEE & SPRAY™ COMES TO EUROPE

At this year's SIMA, John Deere presented See & Spray™ for the first time on its European sprayers built in Horst (Netherlands). Following the introduction of See & Spray™ Select and Ultimate in the USA, John Deere is taking the next important step towards precise crop protection.

The See & Spray™ system for Europe is based on the See & Spray™ Select technology already introduced in the USA. It uses camera technology to detect colour differences in the field. The cameras and other hardware components are integrated directly into the boom or chassis of the machine. One camera is mounted per metre of working width, which captures green plants at lightning speed. Processors handle the images and the nozzles are triggered individually for spot treatment. The green detection on the field soil enables a targeted application of pre-emergence herbicides. All weeds that are also visible to the naked eye are detected by the cameras.

See & Spray™ is not only suitable for pre-emergence treatment – it can also be used in row crops after emergence. The crop rows can be extracted by the sprayer and thus the weeds between the rows can be targeted and treated. This application is possible at all stages and for all row crops before the canopy closes, allowing the customer an additional treatment for See & Spray™ in the growing crop.

TESTED UNDER DIFFERENT CONDITIONS

See & Spray™ has already been tested on about 120,000 hectares worldwide. The success in application is comparable to broadcast spray, but with a saving of up to two thirds of consumption. First tests in Europe showed the same results. In addition, the system could be optimised to adapt See & Spray™ to European conditions.

SEE & SPRAY™ SUPPORTS AGRONOMIC DECISIONS

The See & Spray™ system can document the application of herbicides using the in-cab Gen 4 display. In this context the display creates a coverage map with information on where the herbicide was applied. The documentation can be transferred via JDLink™ to the John Deere Operations Center. Among other things, this would allow sub-areas with increased weed pressure to be identified and future measures to be optimised.

AVAILABILITY AND MACHINE

See & Spray™ Select is already sold with the self-propelled sprayers in the USA. These machines will be the first on the market in Central Europe this year. From spring 2023 See & Spray™ will be available on a limited basis for the European R900i series trailed sprayers with 36m and 39m booms and will then be offered as an option for various John Deere sprayers from Horst in the future.

The following components are required for use on the R900i trailed sprayers:

- The PowrSpray System
- Pressure Recirculation Booms
- TerrainCommand™ Pro
- Individual Nozzle Control
- The agricultural management system solution JDLink™
- The Gen 4 Display
- StarFire™ 7000 Receiver

LAUNCH OF THE NEW TELEHANDLER MLT 850 NEWAG XL

Manitou Group is launching its new NewAg XL telehandler model. The MLT 850-145 V+ telehandler is the fourth model in the NewAg XL range, following the launch of the MLT 841, 1041 and 961.

With a load capacity of five tons and a working height of 7.6 meters, this new model completes the existing range to meet the needs of large farms and cooperatives, but also the food industry and the recycling sector. Designed for very intensive use, in particular the loading of bulk cargo, cereals, wood chips and silage, the MLT 850 is also perfect for handling straw bales and big bags.

With a five ton capacity, high-capacity attachments and a high hydraulic working speed, the MLT 850 offers the best work rate in its class. This model offers more than 600 Nm of torque, with a pull force of more than 9,160 daN (+20% compared to the competition). The high movement speed provided by the 200 l/min LSU pump is complemented by a bucket breakout force of over 8,670 daN. Combined with a high-capacity tank, the user can work with the best flow rate all day long without interruption. To optimise efficiency, the HighView camera installed on the boom head makes it possible to monitor the trailer fill level directly from the cab (+10% productivity). The M-Vario Plus continuous variable transmission allows the machine's behaviour to be adjusted to suit every need, thanks to the comfort and dynamic modes.

Available now, the MLT 850 (Stage V) and MLT-X 850 (Stage IIIA) telehandlers will be delivered to Manitou dealerships from the second quarter of 2023 in Europe and worldwide.

Peter Love, the joint creator of Tractor & Machinery and Classic Tractor, gives Farm Machinery his views on this month's events.

If you have a story, or an event, please do get in touch:
peterlove@madasafish.com, TEL: 01323 833125

Well the season has finally come to a close after a very, very successful sales year for all auctioneering companies throughout the UK and certainly in North America. Prices in mainland Europe have not seen many significant increases.

We have, however, still seen many new records created for classic tractors in the UK, however post Brexit new import and export regulations are affecting our larger tractor sale houses and this is making life difficult for them. It's stopping many mainland traders wanting to sell their wares to the UK now even if we need more trade not less. One has to remember before Brexit the UK was the largest trader in secondhand tractors and agricultural machinery in Europe. This is something that the Governments trade and industry secretary needs to be looking at right now as it is not helping our economy whatsoever.

It is with great sadness, that we announce the passing of Arthur Battelle. Known to many through various stages of his life particularly in the 1960s from his time as a Ford tractor demonstrator. He came to the Kent County Show in 1966 and demonstrated the radio control Ford 2000 and was the 'everyman' on the front of the Fordson Super Dexta sales leaflet.

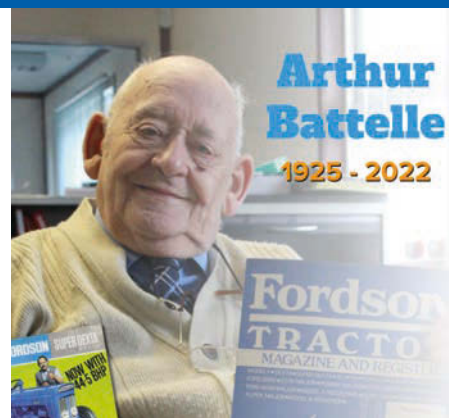

Later he distributed Schindler axles for four-wheel drive conversions and created the little known Clydesdale tractor based on a Ford skid unit and there are one or two survivors of these tractors still about. Later he created the pioneering The Fordson Magazine.

He then went on to write a raft of books and memoirs which have been very successful and make good reading today, he even tried his hand at a novel. Arthur was also part of the creation of Old 20 Parts Co which today is run by his son Nick and grandson. He always lived his life the way he wished and passed peacefully in his sleep at the age of 97.

His legacy is carried on by Nick who provides excellent Ford tractor film shows thanks to the unique archive Arthur kept together so well.

STOCKING FILLER?

Just released by Steve White's Primetime Video is this 70 minute DVD called Plant, Grow & Harvest priced at £15.95.

The programme features farming in the Fens around the fields of Lincolnshire, Cambridgeshire and Norfolk. As they grow peas, broccoli, brussel sprouts and root vegetables ready to be sold to customers around the UK.

The programme features a range of tractors in actions from John Deere: 6430, 6820, 6830, 6930, 6140, 7530, 7930 and 8430. New Holland:

T6020 and T7.270. Fendt: 720 and 724. JCB Fastrac 2140 and 2155.

They are using a range of equipment from ground preparation, planting, drilling and harvesting. The video also features four PMC 979-CT pea viners and a Tumboba self-propelled four-row sprout harvester and the excellent narration is done by Alan Stennett of course. Our correspondent says it will make an ideal Christmas present.

CATERPILLAR COLLECTION ON THE MOVE

Sussex Finest the Drury's Scania is ready to leave the Caterpillar 235X is something else and magnificent machinery never used as such.
Photos: Tom Drury

The Caterpillar D6D features the 3306 140hp engine and is like new!

The Caterpillar 235X excavator features the Cat 3306 195hp engine and can cut to a depth of 15ft.

The mighty Caterpillar D8K which carries all the later modifications which made these excellent tracklayers and known as the last of the conventional D8 line that goes back to the 30s.

A 'secret' collection of eight classic Caterpillars with less than 70 hours on any of them has recently changed hands in the south east (in the latter-half of October 2022) having been purchased by the ever affable Kentish Mark Hellier a dealer/collector of some repute world-wide.

These eight 1980s classics were bought to be used in a groundwork pipe laying business but only two of the machines were ever used and they were all eventually mothballed until now!

They all run and look magnificent as they were when new in 1983. They include a brand new not used Caterpillar D8K which carries the later modifications to the engine, turbo, oil coolers etc and is an amazing sight highlighting what this tracklayer was like when new.

The 'baby' D6D is a treat to behold as is the 977L crawler loader with its 190hp Cat 2236 turbocharged engine which is an eye opener. The 950 loader carries the 3304 157hp engine and can load 2m of material at a time and the bucket has not been used at all! Another gem is the Caterpillar 955L loader which features the D330 130hp turbocharged engine.

The 235X excavator features the Cat 3306 195hp engine and has a boom height of 31ft and a vertical cutting depth of 15.5ft and needed a heavy lowloader to take it all away.

The loading of the equipment ready to move to its new home was undertaken by Mark Hellier's metallic blue Scania outfit and another immaculate operator was brought in with K Drury & Sons, Etchingam, East Sussex (established in 1985). Their red machines are kept in totally immaculate order and were called on to take the heavier loads to their new destination. We thank Tom Drury for taking the pictures for Farm Machinery and Mark for allowing us to tell some of the story here.

NORTHROP 5004

Following our report on the Biddenden Tractorfest in the November issue of Farm Machinery, the owner of the ultra rare Northrop 5004 four-wheel drive I mentioned Ross Douglas has been in touch. The tractor was lurking beside the Ford and Fordson Association tent at the time of the show.

They bought the tractor second hand from Gleasons from possibly Oxfordshire who ran the tractor in a maroon livery hence the paint has faded over time and is now showing through the original blue these days. While working for the Douglas family in Kent on groundwork with a front blade and such like, it was fitted with a rear winch to hoist anything out that got stuck, but they still have all the three-point linkage with the tractor today.

The Northrop came about through the merger of British Northrop and Chaseside in the early 1960s which led to the company diversifying into agricultural products. The under powered Northrop 5004 which was designed by Frank Thornton and Gilbert McIntosh uses the just introduced Ford Pre Force 5000 skid unit. It was offered with that horrible Ford Select-O-Speed (10-speed) transmission or the standard eight-speed unit which was really a seven-speed unit. The axles were similar to what was used in the Chaseside loader range at the time.

It was found that the 5004 was a hard slog with the 75hp four-cylinder engine and so many were fitted with turbochargers offered by Northrop as an update. In 1966 the company introduced the 5004/6 that carried the 112hp six-cylinder Ford 2704E engine mostly. Northrop's had a habit of breaking axles and was rather underdeveloped but Ross said their example has been reliable over the years. In fact Ross said he would sell the tractor to a good home of course – call 07860 486444, but no time wasters please.

SCIENCE MUSEUM SELLS TRACTORS!

What are your thoughts on the Science Museum selling off another batch of their heritage tractors, particularly as Frank Smith from Lincolnshire gave the majority of the 58 tractors to the Museum in 1982 for nothing?

The collection is kept at the Science Museum's reserve Wroughton Airfield site near Swindon, which could be such a wonderful museum for the nation, but the Science Museum has not exactly made much effort to resolve the situation there at all.

There have been so many plans for the site that have come and gone that it has become rather a joke when you get down to it. It is worrying that the museum has decided to sell off yet another batch of tractors, which were all significant types used in the UK in their day - none are preservation imports.

Four of their tractors were consigned here to the recent Cheffins Vintage Collective on Saturday 22 October, they were: 1929 Massey-Harris 12-20 No.105800, a very nice example carrying a PTO and would not take much to get running which sold for £4,800 grade 2/4. The 1942 Lend-Lease Farmall A No. 84748 with PTO and optional belt pulley raised £1,100 in grade 2/4 condition and the big British used 1941

Nuffield M3 that started out as a three-wheeler changed hands at £1,800 + VAT

Minneapolis Moline GTS No. 1612365, typical of a Lend-Lease threshing tractor of its time, in very complete order sold for £3,100 in grade 2/4. Nuffield M3 petrol/paraffin that started life as a three-wheeler fitted with the excellent fuel mixing carburettor system which was the best in the world at the time. The tractor went on to sell for £1,800 + VAT.

IMACULATE 25,000 HOUR RENAULT

On Saturday 1 October Bleatsoes held the John North retirement sale at Stratford upon Avon and the much respected farmer saw a huge crowd attend in the glorious sunshine of the day.

The major feature here was a 25,000 hour (yes you did read that correctly) 1990 Renault 65-32 two-wheel drive tractor with Quicke 340 loader. The exceptional condition outfit was of course a one owner machine and had been well looked after – it changed hands for £9,600 + VAT.

The excellent condition and very clean 1983 Renault 651S again looking nearly new sold for £4,400 and the New Holland TX32 combine was yours for £11,000 on the day, again very clean indeed.

Other significant prices were: New Holland TD 5 with loader £31,000, New Holland TS110 £12,600, New Holland T6.145 £46,000

The star of the sale was the 25,000 hour 1990 Renault 65-32 which was a perfect tractor to add to your collection and sold for £9,600

The huge crowd here saw the New Holland TX32 combine sell for £11,000 in immaculate condition and Valtra T111 £26,500 all four-wheel drive and immaculate grade 10.5. The farm sale certainly showed that if you look after your tackle it pays great dividends in the end.

New Holland T6.145 was the top lot at £46,000 on the day in exceptional condition

This New Holland TD5 sold for £31,000 in stunning condition

The New Holland TS110 was used for hedge cutting and sold for £12,600

Looking immaculate is the £26,500 Valtra T111, prices for Valtra's are holding up very well these days

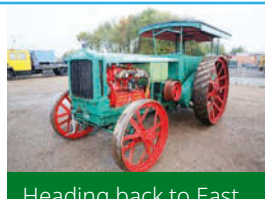

Selling at £32,000 + VAT is the 1992 MF 3690 four-wheel drive with 5,593 hours

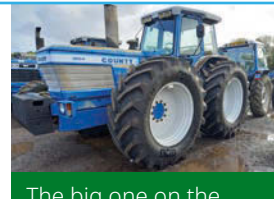

The bargain of the sale had to be the Mercedes MB-Trac 1000 at £9,500

The 1956 Ferguson TE-F in 2/3 condition raised £3,750 on the day

Heading back to East Anglia is the 1918 Alldays & Onions GP with Thornycroft period engine at £44,000

The big one on the day was the County 1884 replica sold after the sale for well over £100,000

COUNTY REPLICA MAKES IT BIG

Despite the current economic climate the Cheffins Vintage Collective on 23-24 October hit the ground running and it was that way right to the end of the two day sale which was a great success all round.

The highlight came after the sale. The bidding on the County 1884 Dutch replica (that had been created some years ago using a Ford TW-35 donor tractor and County 1454 axle) stopped at £95,000 but the deal was done after the sale for well over £100,000. The Super Q cabbed monster looked good with brand new BKT tyres all round and carried much patina about it, particularly the bonnet.

There were some lovely original classic Massey Ferguson here and the 1992 Massey Ferguson 3690 datatronic four-wheel drive with just 5,593 hours was got away for £31,000. The 1996 Massey Ferguson 372 four-wheel drive with Trima loader and 1,933 hours was yours at £30,000 again in stunning condition. The 1981 Massey Ferguson 550 two-wheel drive two-door red cab, radio, PAS and PUH with 5,026 hours that had been featured in Tractor & Machinery earlier in the year was got away at £18,000. Lastly the 1983 Massey Ferguson 290 four-wheel drive GEL699Y looking very clean was yours for £12,000. All these MF lots carried VAT attached to them. The semi-matt paintwise, but very clean 1963 Roadless Super Major SSU337 changed hands for £16,500 over £6,000 more than the vendor paid for it a few years ago.

The immaculate and well known 1964 Fordson Super Dexta with half-track Bombardier track conversion that had featured at many a Ford and Fordson Association event over the years (It had genuinely carried these tracks while working for the Forestry Commission in south Wales) changed hands at £9,000. As for the 1961

Fordson Dexta with road style rear tyres in grade 4.7 condition that needed a bit of a paint tidy up on the nose cone this was yours for £5,500. A later 1963 New Performance Dexta AFW542A in good restored condition was to sell for £6,200.

There were one or two shocks in the 'blue' department when a 1964 Fordson New Performance tractor with a Mil Master loader, PAS, Lambourn cab, roll bar, side belt pulley and an older repaint went on to sell for a record £11,500 + VAT, yes you did read that correctly.

Perhaps the bargain of the sale was the 1987 Mercedes-Benz MB-Trac 1000 in very original condition, with only surface rust which went for £9,500.

However the main interest for many was the first six tractors that came up from the Bainbridge family collection which was started by the late Edwin Bainbridge in the 1960s who was one of the pioneers of the movement and a great character in the veteran tractor preservation movement.

First on was the 1918 Alldays GP Mk1 no. 388 which in preservation times had been fitted with a period RAF WW1 Thornycroft of Basingstoke J-type 3 ton M4 lorry engine which came from a Republic of Ireland scrapyards. In full running order and one of only six said to have survived there was much speculation that it would sell for approximately £80,000. In the end it sold for 44,000 to a Suffolk buyer which is possibly more like the correct price remembering that it's a period hybrid really.

There was also the amazing centre track American made c1916 Bates Steel Mule C type which spent its working life in County Wexford, Ireland before ending up in a Dublin scrapyards in quite a state. Thanks to the influential Robert Kennedy who saved not only tractors, but steam traction engines, lorries and other things the Bates came to Edwin Bainbridge in Yorkshire who set about restoring it. The original Erd engines were known to be fragile and a Meadows of Wolverhampton four-cylinder ohv engine went in that's said to have come out of a Moline combine with a replacement transmission. It looked very presentable and was seen at a number of high profile events in the 1980s, but needs re-restoring now and sold online for £32,000.

It was to be followed by the 1919 Overtime Model N no. 17954. This example had the original dark green livery underneath the later 'Johnny Popper' green who took the Waterloo Boy Gasoline Engine Co over on January 1 1918. This one carried a non-original Serck radiator which was replaced presumably when restoration was carried out it went on to sell for a good £42,500.

It was followed by a record breaking (price wise) machine for the 1918 Illinois Super-Drive 16-32 no. KU1630, which is unique in Europe today and was sold new to Ireland where it worked in County Tipperary for its working life. The tractor came from the late John Mann Collection in Cambridgeshire in a very rough state and was given an excellent restoration in Yorkshire. It carries a Climax KU engine, but unfortunately its engine blocks are cracked and had metal paste on them which was holding the water in relatively well although some drips were seen. Even so this type of tractor hasn't made tons of money in the USA before and a new world record was created here when £35,000 was paid online for it.

The safe and reliable way to buy and sell machinery and equipment

Wrights Farming Register offers farmers and contractors a unique service through its team of brokers. They are the 'men in the middle' who give an impartial opinion on the items of machinery they handle on behalf of their clients. The brokers, who currently cover an area stretching from the Scottish borders to the South Coast, can save farmers time and money when it comes to buying or selling anything from a combine harvester to a cattle trough. In these security-conscious days, they also provide a discreet alternative to a public farm dispersal sale and can help farmers avoid the tax pitfalls these can cause.

MASCHIO PINOCCHIO SUBSOILER WITH DOUBLE SPIKED ROLLERS

2019, £3,000. 3 leg subsoiler with double spiked rollers at the back. This is a superb sub soiler with curved legs as opposed to the traditional straight legs of your common subsoiler. The curved legs more effectively crack and shatter the soil and get rid of hard pans whilst also lifting the profile. The double spiked rollers at the back do a beautiful job of cultivating the surface soil and pressing the soil lightly down. If used correctly with the spiked rollers pressuring down into the soil then they will also incorporate trash in with a couple of passes. This can be done by adjusting both the rollers themselves and the 3 point hitch on your tractor. If your interested in the implement I also have a video of it in action which I can send you. Implement is currently at Cambridge Machinery Sales in Sutton - this is where collection would have to be arranged from.

The Radial Range

Designed to ensure you get the Power of C-T-R, i.e. Low compaction, High Traction and High Roadability. Aimed to give you an all-round performance and peace of mind. Due to their flexible sidewalls, superior construction, higher tread arc width & higher inner tyre volume, our radial tyres help reduce soil compaction. Their dual lug angle design with more lug overlap gives it superior traction and better roadability.

The Bias range

The high traction farm & agriculture vehicle front and rear bias tyres are developed for mighty performance over hard and black soil for sturdy crop that leaves behind strong stubbles. Properties of self-cleaning, improved puncture resistance and longer tyre life assures farmers of a tension free usage. Working on fields across the world, our Bias tyres come in 4 ranges to suit different terrains.

HOW TO SPOT A SCAM ADVERT

We are currently aware of a number of fraudulent advertisers attempting to sell items within this section.

While we aim to protect our readers by removing these adverts, sometimes they may unfortunately appear.

Please be mindful before entering into any deals and

PROCEED WITH CAUTION.

1. SPEAK TO THE FARMER

Always look into whether an advertiser appears legitimate.

2. VIEW THE ITEM

If you can, view the item on the farm first.

3. AVOID ERRORS

Avoid anything with errors. If an ad has odd formatting, strange or poor-quality images, or spelling/grammar mistakes.

5. NEVER PAY IN ADVANCE

Avoid sellers who claim to be unavailable (e.g. they are travelling or have moved overseas) and insist on payment prior to arranging delivery.

6. PAYMENT

Avoid any arrangement that asks for payment via money order, wire transfer, international funds transfer, pre-loaded card or electronic currency, like Bitcoin. It is rare to recover money sent this way.

Farm Machinery is NOT responsible for any part of the transaction that takes place with the seller and the buyer.
