A PREMIUM USED BUY?

Fendt launched the Vario 720 SCR, Vario 722 SCR and Vario 724 SCR in 2011. With nominal power outputs of 200hp, 220hp and 240hp, the range was subsequently expanded to include the 145hp Vario 714 SCR, 165hp Vario 716 SCR and 180hp Vario 718 SCR, these lower powered tractors started to sell from 2012. All models meet Stage 3b (Tier 4 interim) emission standards, the SCR tag referring to the use of Selective Catalytic Reduction and the need for AdBlue. With pre-owned examples now proving easier to find, what should you look for when thinking of a used buy?

Making their debut at the Cereals Event June 2011, the 700 Series inherited key design elements from the Vario 800 SCR and Vario 900 SCR tractors and in effect stepped into the shoes vacated by the previous generation Fendt Vario 820. A common factor between the three launch models was that they all offered higher than average power to weight ratios, with the lower powered 145hp Vario 714 SCR, 165hp Vario 716 SCR and 180hp Vario 718 SCR further broadening what was on offer.

A bit of spec shorthand is that the 'mid-range' 180hp Vario 718 and 200hp Vario 720 have the same heavier-duty backend as fitted to its more powerful siblings. As is so often the case, a tractor series has divisions within it, with there being more to consider than just engine output. The lower powered 145hp to 160hp models launched at Agritechnica 2011, incidentally, also meet the same Stage 3b (Tier 4 interim) emission standards.

At launch, a key talking point was the new 700 models four-pillar VisioPlus cab. Featuring the now familiar curved front windscreen that extends up and into the front of the roof, the cab was a big step up from the accommodation offered on the outgoing models. With a total of 5.2 square metres of glass, VisioPlus all-round visibility is still highly rated nearly a decade on.

Fendt attempted to make choosing a new 700 tractor easier by offering four levels of specifications; Power, PowerPlus, Profi and ProfiPlus, with the guidance 'Plus' models proving pretty much the default choice in the UK. Originally just Profi and ProfiPlus were offered, the Power and PowerPlus models introduced in 2017 meeting a demand for a lower specification. The key sellers in the UK, however, remained the Profi models, these having a tilt and reach adjustable steering column, three-point cab suspension and climate control as standard; ProfiPlus offers a larger 10.4-inch VarioTerminal screen with hardware for VarioGuide and VarioActive steering. >>

A front linkage is a standard fit to the 700 series but do not assume it will also come with a front pto (right) The position of the latter was raised in 2015 to allow full power to be directed to driven attachments; this saw rated output upped to the same as the rear pto. When attaching heavy rear mounted equipment, you will need a linkage weight.

<< Power across the 700 series is provided by variants of the now familiar six-cylinder Deutz TCD6.1L engine. Although there were those who worried SCR and the need for AdBlue would bump up operating costs at launch, Fendt claim that overall efficiency was actually enhanced. Tests showed fuel consumption was reduced by up to 7%, in some applications, when compared to previous generation models without SCR.

Since launch, the 700 series have seen detail development, the SCR tag being dropped from 2014/5 with the introduction of the still current 'S4' Stage IV / Tier 4 Final power units. As a used buyer, however, we suggest you focus upon the tractor's condition and overall history rather than its model year. Hours are obviously important, but a well maintained 700 series, that continues to have money spent on its care, can prove a better buy than a younger tractor that has been poorly looked after.

What follows are a few pointers and details, but the real leg work will be down to you. Know what you want, check prices to get an idea of what you can expect to pay and be patient. The 700 series is a strong seller in the UK, but that is not the same as suggesting every used buy will have the specification you are after.

TRANSMISSION

The 714 Vario and 716 Vario both use the same ML 140 transmission, the 718 Vario and above with the ML 180. Both types offer stepless speeds from 0.02km/h through to 50km/h (55km/h) via two

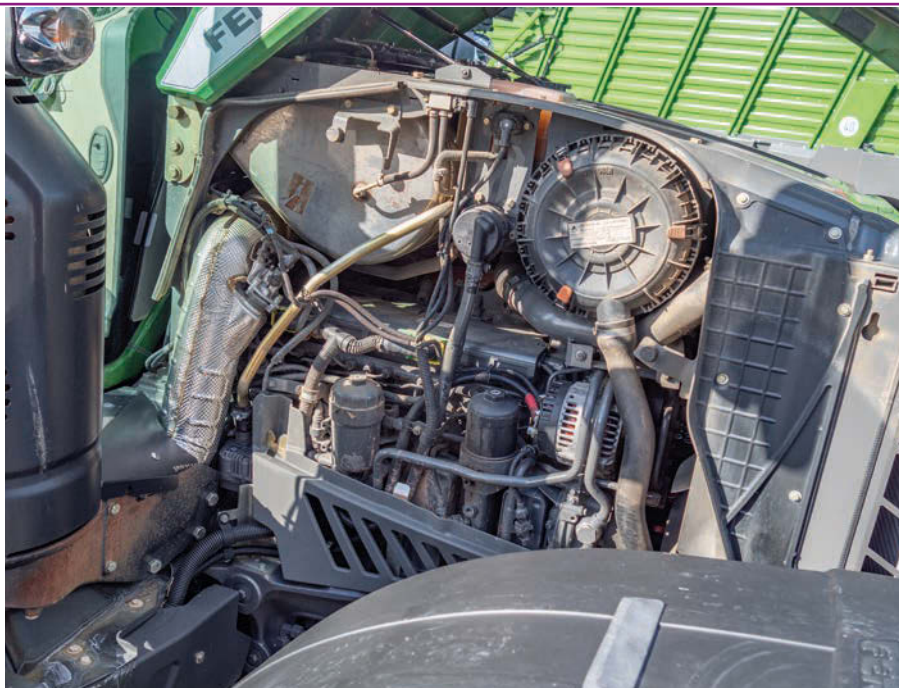

When looking over the front axle, check the track rod ends for play. The brake on the front drive cardan shaft can give problems. Check the front brakes are working; failure in the engagement system blocking the hydraulic filter. Have this area periodically inspected by a dealer.

Check the exhaust manifold for cracks and corrosion and also look for signs of leaks from the AdBlue injection system as pictured. This example only needed a good clean and a forced regeneration to sort it out. The AdBlue tank filler must be spotless before opening, and the additive clean and of good quality.

Space between the bonnet and cab allows the fitting of a 300° single wiper. This was initially an option on SCR models but fitted as standard to 'S4' models from 2014. Although the wiper cleans well when the rubber is in good nick, the blade misses the corners of the screen.

Deutz power units demand regular servicing, ideally through a Fendt dealer. A service history is important with any used buy, so do not be afraid to ask questions if there are gaps in the records. Also ask if and when any repairs have been carried out on the tractor.

ranges, field and road. A key element of these tractors is the now familiar Fendt TMS Tractor Management System that provides the electronic link between the engine and transmission. In work, TMS will automatically adjust both engine and forward speed to optimise fuel economy, with the claim that the system can improve efficiency by up to 10%. >>

Check the radiators for signs of leaks and carefully inspect the air boost and intercooler pipes for signs of perishing and /or compression. This is quite common and needs to be sorted out as soon as anything amiss is spotted. The air conditioning condenser does not enjoy living with damp muck, so ensure this area is kept clean. The air conditioning system should not be left unused for long periods and will also need periodic servicing. You will need it to work in hot weather as the cab can get uncomfortably warm without it.

Give the cooling fan a really good waggle, the visco coupling proving a little weak mainly on models made up to 2014.

FENDT VARIO TIMELINE

- 1996 First Vario transmission tractor, the 260hp Fendt Vario 926
- 1998 Fendt Vario 714 and Vario 716. First Vario transmission models in nominal 150hp sector
- 1999 'Vario 2000' campaign. Fendt announce Vario will be offered on all models from 86hp to 286hp.
- 1999 Fendt Vario 711 and Vario 712
- 2004 Fendt Vario 718
- 2005 360 hp Fendt Vario 936 with 60 km/h potential. At lower end, new Fendt Vario 312
- 2006 Fendt Vario offered across five ranges and 21 models spanning 95hp to 360hp
- 2011 Fendt 700 Vario SCR with VisioPlus cab
- 2014 Fendt 700 Vario S4. Tier IV engines, a 1,000rpm economy pto option. Improved suspension package. Upgraded lighting and 300 degree wiper. Improved 10.4" touch screen
- 2017 Fendt 700 now offered in lower specification 'Power' and 'PowerPlus' with more competitive pricing
- 2020 New cab and controls.

<< The Vario transmission has two core operating modes: Pedal and Joystick. In outline, Pedal is used mainly for transport, with the transmission operating pretty much like an automotive automatic with the maximum speed of 50km/hr delivered at 1,700rpm (subject to load and terrain). Joystick mode targets a constant engine rpm and will be the default choice for field work.

Sounds simple enough but in practice those less familiar with a Vario transmission will need time to get the best from the tractor.

When it first appeared in 1996, the Vario transmission was seen as 'complex', but in practice the system is mechanically pretty 'simple'. That being said, if a Vario transmission does develop a fault, it is still more likely to be exchanged as a complete unit rather than be taken apart and repaired by a dealer. This is to avoid any chances of contamination of the hydrostatic element as opposed to the system being difficult to work on. Should a used buyer worry about the Vario transmission? Simple answer is no, with the caveat that a great deal will depend upon the tractors past care.

Pedal mode should always be used in transport. Using Joystick mode to slow a heavy load down from speed can possibly cause damage to the hydrostatic motors. Although those who are familiar with a Vario transmission will know this, it only takes someone new to the tractor to make this simple error a few times and then wonder why the transmission develops a fault.

When trying the tractor, ensure the transmission is thoroughly warmed through. Operate the tractor in both ranges, working through from slow to high speeds in both forwards and reverse. If something does not 'feel' right, such as any jerking or noticeable noises, something may not be as it should. This may be down to the Vario transmission itself but also could relate to other elements within the driveline. If something does not feel right, ask questions.

Fendt transmission oil service intervals are set at 2,000 hours and this needs to have been observed from new. Unless abused, Vario transmissions tend not to have any typical problems, and certainly not before 8,000 to 9,000 hours. A cast iron dealer service history can provide some reassurance, but this will not tell you everything, of course. Ask if any major work has been carried out on the tractor, at what hours and for what reason, pressure testing the transmission, either through a service technician or by using the Vario terminal readings, can be used to indicate a problem. >>

A nice big sunroof comes as standard, but check the lining, mainly on earlier models, as it can part company from the frame as the latter wasn't screwed in. A sagging or missing liner can really spoil the cab interior. If you are looking at a 'Plus' model, drop the cover and plate to see if a GSM Controller is in place for auto guidance.

The majority of tractors will be fitted with this 7" VarioTerminal, but the optional touchscreen 10.4" variant is arguably easier to use and less liable to problems over the long term. The button panel, top right, is a known wear item on the smaller screen and there have been problems with the touch screen too. Look for damaged keys on well-used tractors, as this may hinder the control. They are costly to replace plus they have to be reprogrammed if the unit has been repaired.

The main Vario control joystick design will be familiar to Fendt users and most will soon get used to its operation.

The dash moves with the steering column, a steering knob coming as an option.

Mini-joystick for the spools is standard and the Comfort front linkage dial is a great option to look for if using front attachments. The spool joystick can also be used to work a loader.

LIFT AND HYDRAULICS

As mentioned at the outset, the more powerful models in the 700 series have good power to weight ratios, a Vario 720 weighing in at 7,910kg. Although this can allow greater loads to be carried on the road, ballast is required for heavy draft work. Also consider the rear lift of up to 10 tonnes will need a hefty block on the front linkage to keep the nose down, the 1,250kg lump sometimes offered with a used buy not always being enough.

The back end of the smaller models is of a lower duty than that fitted on the 718 and above, but all models have hefty drop arms, substantial lower links and stabilisers. Obviously, all pivot points are subject to wear, but of equal importance look for any stiff points when making linkage adjustments. There are lube points on the adjusters, and these often get overlooked and wear accelerates.

A 109 litre/min hydraulic pump is standard, with the option of 152 or, from 2014, 193 litre alternatives. Clearly you need to know what is fitted to a pre-owned buy, with 109 litre pumps typically suiting most applications. Up to seven spools may be specified, so ensure you check as it varies a great deal. It can pay to have a bit of a play with the VarioTerminal to set the flow rates and other functions. The in-cab controls will vary between model packs and also saw changes in design from 2014 (more change due in latter part of 2020).

As with the engine and transmission, ensuring the hydraulics have been serviced is critical, oil and filters needing to be changed at 1,000 hours. A dealer will have access to past service history, so check and check again. The slightest bit of dirt in the hydraulic system can lead to failure and errors, a point to bear in mind when swapping between attachments. Poor hydraulic hygiene is something users suggest can have a real impact upon dependability.

Moving to the rear hydraulic couplers, the quick-release type used up until 2014 were prone to problems. Although later tractors are less likely to give trouble, still check for leaks. It is, incidentally, worth checking the couplings on the hoses of attachments. If these

The fat lower section of the exhaust stack gets hot, a heat shimmer from the gills showing the SCR system is working as it should. Look for damage and missing bolts from the guard. If the front fenders don't look straight and wobble around it is likely the swivel bearings have gone. A repair is fairly straightforward and worth doing before something breaks.

are damaged and difficult to connect, they can damage the tractor's outlets, leading to leaks and expense.

POWER TAKE OFF, BRAKES AND FRONT SUSPENSION

From 2014, all models will come with 540, 540E, 1000 and 1000E pto speeds; it will be unlikely that earlier UK spec tractors will not have 1,000E speed but make no assumptions. Swapping pto speeds in the cab is via a simple push-button, but the pto shafts are secured by a ring of six nuts. Although a shaft swap is a 'dry' change, undoing these nuts makes the job a bit of a faff. Check the nuts are not rounded off, a new set as ready spares hardly breaking the bank.

The pto stubs are stowed in the small toolbox under the cab steps. This box is ideally placed to fill with water, so make sure the contents, which should include a transmission disconnect tool to allow the tractor to be towed, are in good nick.

Multi-disc wet brakes follow established Fendt design, but early 700 models could have a somewhat 'wooden' pedal feel, this seeing steady improvement to the point where tractors from 2014 and on are much better. An air operated handbrake and both pneumatic and oil trailer brakes are standard. A point to remember is that the hydraulic braking circuit needs to be de-pressurised via a button prior to connecting the hydraulic pipes.

If you can, take the tractor for a fast road run, and apply the brakes hard a few times. The anchors are pretty good but they do need servicing at higher hours and wear is clearly related to how much use they will have seen. The brakes can, incidentally, seem a bit 'weak' compared to the competition and the can also be noisy, squeaking not being unusual.

The twin-ram front axle suspension system displaces oil in three separate nitrogen spheres, with good damping as a result. If the 'front end' feels on the bouncy side, the spheres may need to be renewed. Again, ask questions if you have any concerns. >>

The rusty void where the toolbox (left) is housed tells you all you need to know about its exposure to muck thrown up from the front wheels. A T bar tool should come with a used buy, enabling the transmission to be set, allowing the tractor to be towed.

Located around the edge of the pto shaft flange are solenoids used to control the hydraulics. Like the couplers, these units could give trouble on pre-2017 tractors, a shiny new replacement showing a replacement has been fitted here.

A ring of six nuts secure the swappable pto stub in place, fresh paint as shown suggesting this one has never been changed. Give the shaft a good tug and look for oil leaks.

A lift up clip allows the lower links to be raised and held up by a couple of inches to ease hitching up. Check this area as it is all too easy to forget to release the arms, subsequently lifting the linkage with the arm in its raised position breaking the latch.

CAB

Used buyers moving from a previous generation 700 or 800 series tractor will find the VisioPlus cab vastly improved. Easy to get in and out of, the cab is more spacious and the large glazed area makes it 'feel' bang up to date. Fendt invested large sums in getting the cab right, with the doors sealing tightly. They need a firm shut. If the doors do not seal well, new frame rubbers may be needed although this is not a common problem.

When it comes to seats, Fendt offered several options that have also altered over time. On a used buy you will get what is fitted, the most 'basic' Grammer air set typically suiting most operators. Make sure the seat 'pumps up' when starting the tractor as both wiring and compressor problems are not uncommon. The dynamic 'Evolution' seat option is worth seeking out if you have a choice. It provides noticeably enhanced comfort and adjusts to suit operators of different size and weight more easily. Later models feature a 'Super Comfort' unit that has a lot more padding.

The cab comes with four-post pneumatic suspension as standard, a Comfort option seeing this upgraded to a three-mount system with a central pivot arm. Will you notice a difference between the two? Back to back, yes. The Comfort pack is better, but it was a cost option that is more likely to be found on the more powerful models. Listen out for groans from the cab over rough ground, although problems are not typical.

A foot pedal releases the height and tilt-adjustable steering column, making the task of getting the set up right pretty easy. The system, however, is mechanically complex and is subject to wear. On a used buy, check the desired adjustment holds and work through a range of settings. A repair can cost more than you think.

Automatic climate control, as opposed to the entry-level air conditioning system, is the system to have if possible as it works well. There are no side windows, but the 'sunroof' can be opened to help improve ventilation. Check the sunroof lining as it could become detached on earlier models, with some pretty poor bodge repairs to stop it falling down. Take a look as the liner may be missing.

There are two main types of VarioTerminal fitted, with displays of 18 or 26cm (7 or 10.4in). The terminal is the heart to the in-cab control system and is used for all tractor and implement settings, plus any ISOBUS-compatible implements. The larger unit offers a resolution of 800 x 600 pixels and 16 million colours.

The multifunction armrest has logical layout, the controls varying dependant upon the tractor's specification. Spend a long time in the cab, working every switch and function to check everything works. Look for wear in the Grammer seat pans, the cover most dealers would have fitted from new sometimes masking deteriorating foam underneath. If the seat fails to raise at start up, a wiring problem or blown fuse could be the cause; a point to consider when inspecting a used buy ahead of its trip through a dealer workshop. A spec point to note is the 'Comfort' front linkage package. This makes it a lot easier to set the front linkage precisely as you want.

Although they are quite narrow, the cab steps provide a decent foothold. The fuel and AdBlue tanks are well positioned for filling, the flat top providing a secure foothold for screen cleaning. Lower steps usually get bent but are easily replaced.

The larger screen is the one to go for, but the smaller display still does its job just fine. Check the touch screen and all the buttons on the smaller display as they can start to wear on well-used tractors. Display repairs are not cheap, so spend time looking over everything, not once but repeatedly.

SUMMARY

Fendt residual values were once in the same ballpark as an entry-level new buy from some competitive designs. Those days are over, but this is not the same as saying a Vario 700 tractor will not carry a bit of a premium. This has less to do with the Fendt name and more to do with the high spec you get as 'standard', with the now well-proven Vario transmission proving a key plus. Compare used Fendt prices with as near a like for like competitor model and you could well find used Vario 700 prices are less likely to be as daunting as you may expect.

With regard to problem areas, these models have a pretty decent dependability record, but so much depends upon how the tractors have been used and cared for. As we keep saying, much will depend upon the tractor's future care too. When doing costings, try to ensure future maintenance demands will reflect the tractor's projected annual workload. Look after your used Vario 700 and it will pay you back with a better residual a few years down the line.

The rear light lens seals are liable to fail, with moisture getting in and, if left, corroding the reflectors. LED lights were fitted to tractors from 2016.

Work lighting is good as standard, with a degree of swivel to allow some adjustment. The heated rear view mirrors are well-sized and can be set out on the arm to allow good visibility around a long trailer. The downside is the cost of replacing them if damaged.

The rear hitch is rated at up to 10 tonnes capacity, all models benefitting from a well thought out and tough linkage design. Hydraulic and pneumatic trailer brakes are standard, with up to five rear and two front spool valves available. The latter could prove problematic on tractors made up to 2014, the later design proving more dependable.

The Bill Bennett hydraulic pick-up hitch is substantial, with no drop arms used to raise and lower. Hitch play will be likely on tractors that have done a lot of road work, so check. The drawbar (right) generally has no on tractor stowage as the bracket was rarely fitted on the rear trumpet, so check it is supplied with a used buy. Carrying it in the cab is a bad idea. Brake hard, and this big chunk of metal is liable to slide forward hard enough to smash the cab glass.

THE LATEST VERSION OF THE CLASSIC

Following the launch of the new Boss 3000 Master loader wagons with the innovative Evomatic loader unit, Pöttinger is now also launching the Boss 3000 series featuring the classic Supermatic tine conveyor unit. This move will see the popular and widely used Euroboss series being completely replaced in 2023. The new Boss 3000 is available in three sizes with load capacities of 18.7m³, 21.3m³ and 23.5m³ as both high profile and LowProfile (LP) versions.

SUPERMATIC – THE CLASSIC LOADING UNIT

The tine conveyor system originating from the Euroboss is known for very high forage conservation combined with the lowest power requirement. The loading system can be ordered with three or four arms, which can also be used to load heavy silage. The loader wagons are driven as standard at 540rpm at the pto and can be operated by tractors as small as 60hp. Above that, up to 110hp is also possible. As an option, the driveline is also available for a PTO speed of 1,000 rpm. As standard, the Boss is equipped without knives. Six knives can be slotted in as an option. The knife bank with 16 or 31 knives can be folded out by an optional hydraulic system and then swung out alongside using Easymove. All the knives are individually protected against foreign objects.

PICK-UP PÖTTINGER STYLE

The pick-up with an effective width of 1800 mm (DIN) has a freedom of movement of 120mm at the outermost tine. In especially demanding terrain, a trailing jockey wheel chassis further improves ground tracking. Ground tracking can also be optimised with the Autotast active parallel lift drawbar. The five pick-up tine carriers, which are guided by a cam track, are driven by a maintenance-free V-belt.

SIMPLY INGENIOUS

The hydraulically dry forage extension can now be equipped with an automatic folding system. Optional nets prevent the crop from snagging or falling out between the struts. For longer working days, an LED lighting package is also available.

ISOBUS FOR ALL

In addition to ISOBUS compatibility as standard, the loader wagon can be equipped with three different types of control system: from simple pre-selects operated by the tractor spool valve, to entry-level automation with power-beyond hydraulics for the scraper floor, and load-sensing hydraulics operated directly from the control terminal. If the tractor is not yet fitted with an ISOBUS terminal, a wide variety of control terminals are available.

MAINTENANCE IS STRAIGHTFORWARD AND SIMPLE

The greasing points on the four-arm conveyor system and the maintenance-free V-belt drive on the pick-up make maintenance a breeze on the Boss 3000. The chain drive on the loading unit is greased by a lubrication system as standard. If any maintenance is needed, the wagon indicates the job in the service counter, which is also standard.

NEW FUNCTIONS

The 2023 model year will see the Jaguar 900 and Jaguar 900 Terra Trac forage harvesters from Claas benefit from an optimised Pick Up drive while the Jaguar 800 series is expanded with new and more powerful models. In addition, the Cemis 1200 terminal with the new GPS Pilot becomes available for all models.

It was in 2021 that Claas introduced a third, customer-specifiable drive variant for the front attachment on the Jaguar 900 and Jaguar 900 Terra Trac models in the form of an additional hydraulic drive for the reel of the Pick Up. This drives the reel independently of the intake auger with automatic, variable speed adjustment relative to the ground speed. The result is an efficient raking action at any speed with minimal intake losses and very low wear.

With effect from the 2023 model year, this drive system is enhanced with additional functionality that automatically adjusts the Pick Up speed to the ground speed above 5km/h. If the ground speed or the set chop length is changed, the speeds of the pick-up reel and intake auger are automatically matched to the prevailing conditions. This results in an even more consistent crop flow, especially where there are frequent and significant changes in swath thickness. If necessary, both speeds can also be adjusted manually from the cab by the operator in accordance with the requirements of the harvest. This has the benefit that crop feed is even more precise, resulting in a more consistent crop flow through the forager, especially when operating under varying conditions.

Also new is the automatic chain lubrication for the left-side drive of the intake auger and pick-up reel.

With effect from the 2023 model year, the Jaguar 840 receives the larger Mercedes-Benz OM 471 LA Stage V six-cylinder engine already used in the Jaguar 850. Its ample displacement of 12.8 litres means that engine output for the smallest forage harvester in the current Claas product range is increased by 27hp, taking the maximum output to 435hp at 1,600rpm and making significantly greater torque reserves available. The excellent Jaguar efficiency is maintained as the increased displacement has no effect on the diesel consumption per tonne of throughput.

The Jaguar 840 has a 730mm wide feeder unit with four precompression rollers as well as a 750mm wide chopping cylinder with a diameter of 630mm. As an option, it can be equipped with the MCC roller corncracker with a sawtooth profile, the MCC Max with the particularly durable BusaCLAD coating or the MCC Shredlage cracker. It is therefore possible to select the right technology for intensive crop processing across the entire length-of-cut spectrum.

Following the Trion and Lexion, the Jaguar 900 and 800 can now also be equipped with the new Cemis 1200 terminal with the newly developed GPS Pilot. As well as representing an alternative to the row sensor when harvesting maize with the ORBIS and the CAM Pilot when harvesting grass, this automated steering system can also be used when harvesting whole crop silage or other types of forage crops. The Cemis 1200 has a 12-inch screen that provides a 2D and 3D display, as well as online task management and documentation with data export by means of Telematics or USB stick.

Another new development is the two-stage activation of Auto Pilot/GPS Pilot and CEMOS Auto Performance or Cruise Pilot. After turning and entering the next track, the operator first activates the steering system at the touch of a button and accelerates up to the speed at which the machine is able to make optimal use of the available power; with a second push of the button on the Cmotion lever, CEMOS Auto Performance or Cruise Pilot - depending on the system fitted - takes automatic control of the ground speed. This enables faster adjustment to the set engine speed, the most efficient power level and a suitable ground speed. If the pushbutton is pressed down somewhat longer; both functions are activated simultaneously as usual.

PRIORITISE ENGINE OIL PERFORMANCE

Morris Lubricants is advising farmers to put oil, lubricant and grease performance ahead of price as they prepare their tractors for the new season.

With rising prices hitting the agricultural community hard, such as the steep increase in fertiliser costs having a significant impact on the sector, it can be tempting to look for short term savings elsewhere. Choosing a cheap, alternative oil to the manufacturer's specification, at a lower price, may seem like a sound investment.

However, says Adrian Hill, Morris Lubricants' Technology Manager, selecting the wrong, and usually, an inferior quality oil may result in significant, long-term consequences to equipment performance and in the end, an overall increase in running cost.

The company, which manufactures the specialist Agrimax range of agricultural lubricants for a wide range of tractors, vehicles and farming equipment, has just launched a new video series with tractor enthusiast and mechanic Guy Martin. The short videos demonstrate that no matter the agricultural vehicle, equipment type, brand or model, choosing the correct oil, lubricant and grease can have a positive impact on uptime and profitability.

Adrian outlines the company's top tips for farmers as they prepare their vehicles for the new season.

QUALITY FIRST

Modern tractor engines are now designed to Stage V emissions compliance for off-highway vehicles, to meet the latest emissions legislation. These modern engines will include after treatment devices, such as AdBlue systems, diesel oxidation catalysts and diesel particulate filters, to limit harmful particulate matter and NOx emissions.

Oil choice is important. Selecting the correct, high-quality oil will more than pay for the slightly higher purchase price in the long run. For example, an incorrectly specified engine oil can block catalysts or filters, potentially leading to significant remedial costs in the region of £3,000 or more for the replacement part, plus the additional cost of the repair and downtime itself.

SERVICE INTERVALS

Investing in a new or modern tractor is a significant capital expense, and farmers and farming contractors need the assurance that the investment will perform reliably over many years. After the initial three-year manufacturer's service schedule, some owners may choose to delay future servicing, but this can prove false economy.

Engine oil over time may start to degrade, causing damage to vital engine components, so it is always advisable to meet the manufacturer's recommended service intervals.

RIGHT OIL FOR THE RIGHT JOB

Some older machinery may have always operated reliably using a universal tractor oil, but modern diesel particulate filters can be sensitive to these universal oils. Instead, farmers should ensure they are using the correct oils for both the engine and the transmission (back end) systems.

SEEK TECHNICAL ADVICE

Machinery downtime is not only costly but can damage reputation if stock or deliveries are affected. Seeking professional advice regarding the correct engine oil specification, or service intervals will always pay dividends.

Morris Lubricants has a dedicated team of experts on hand to provide the latest oil, lubricant and grease recommendations for a wide variety of agricultural vehicles and equipment. Whether it's a tractor, combine harvester, mini digger, or an all-terrain vehicle (ATV), the Morris Lubricants Technical team has the appropriate solution to keep tractors and other equipment working in the field rather than stuck in the workshop.

Choose performance rather than price

Adrian concludes, "Choosing the right engine oil for the right tractor is a key part of equipment maintenance. It should be seen as a cost-effective and proactive means of protecting engine performance and ensuring equipment longevity.

"The fifth and probably the most important tip is to be guided by performance and not purchase price. This will ensure that farmers do not need to spend additional budget, at a time when costs are already at a premium, on unnecessary repair work.

"This is one of the key areas we discuss with Guy Martin in our new video series, which concludes with why engine oil quality matters."

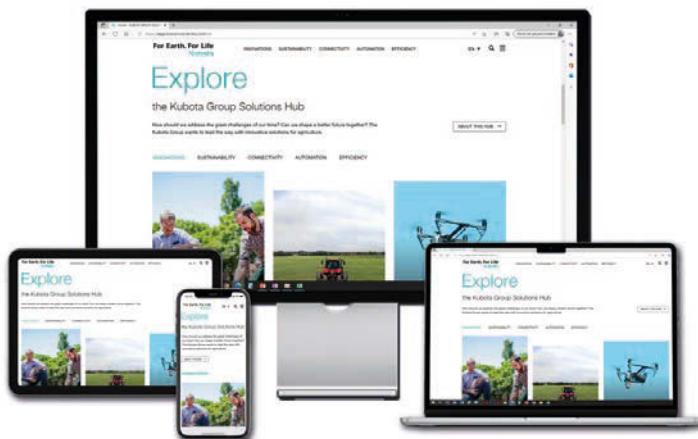

ONLINE COMMUNICATION WEBSITE

Kubota has launched an online communication website called Kubota Group Solutions Hub. This new platform, freely accessed via www.kubota-group.eu is an initiative from Kubota Holdings Europe (KHE) to bring together innovative customer solutions from multiple brands under the Kubota Group umbrella. These include Kubota, Great Plains, Kverneland, Vicor, Fede and ROC.

The Kubota Group Solutions Hub brings together various stories about customer solutions with technologies that enable users to successfully overcome industry challenges, under the themes of innovation, sustainability, connectivity, automation and efficiency.

Each story describes the challenge faced and the solution provided from each brand, along with videos and customer testimonials. At the conclusion of each story, there is a description of how these solutions specifically contribute towards the achievement of the United Nations' sustainable development goals.

Visitors to the site can discover various stories shared by Kubota's tractor, construction and engine divisions, as well as from Kverneland Group (Kverneland, Vicor and ROC), Great Plains Manufacturing and Fede. This new platform also enables the various Kubota Group companies to progressively ramp-up communications towards key industry events, for example the forthcoming AgriTechnica event that will take place from 12-18 November 2023 in Hannover, Germany.

Peter Love, the joint creator of Tractor & Machinery and Classic Tractor, gives Farm Machinery his views on this month's events.

If you have a story, or an event, please do get in touch:
peterlove@madasafish.com, TEL: 01323 833125

It's February already and a number of sales have taken place which we will catch up with next month, but the prices have been on the rise all the time.

We look back at a couple of sales we missed just before the holiday period and also view some of the events over the festive season which raised lots of money for worthy charities.

BOXING DAY BONANZA

It was good to be back in Norfolk for the biggest tractor road run over the festive season when on Boxing Day at The Angel, Larling not far from Attleborough and Thetford some 191 tractors took to the local roads.

The premises was heaving as it served breakfasts and more as many of the entrants were here early this year for this 20 mile plus road run. But like so many of the winter charity road runs today they are all changing, whereas when this event started in 2003 (according to the two founders) it was basically exclusively the domain of vintage and classic tractors which amounted to an average 123 machines.

But life changes and things move on and since covid not so many older machines are coming out in the numbers before 2020. Here were approximately 58 preservation machines and amazingly just on 133 modern working farm tractors. Nevertheless it was great to see and congratulations to the organisers efforts perhaps helped by all the publicity on daytime TV following the amazing Liverpool Christmas tractor event.

This year's chosen charity was YANA (You Are Not Alone) which does much for mental health in the East Anglian countryside and is wonderful to see this event supporting such a good cause. The cost of entry on the day was £20 and included a plaque for attending. John Deere was number one, followed by Fendt, JCB, Massey Ferguson, New Holland, McCormack, Claas, Valtra, Deutz and Unimog.

As for the classics the magnificent selection of MB Tracs gets better each time I come here with perhaps the 1100 model I liked best, but the restored 1000 that was all dressed for the occasion looked a treat as well.

The organisers made sure there was a good gap between each batch of tractors as they left.

It was certainly a wonderful Boxing Day treat to be here and the event went on to raise over £4,600 for YANA.

FESTIVE THRESHING

The Fordson E27N Perkins P6 is such a reliable tractor

The very venerable 1918 Fordson F works well with the Fisher Humphries baler both working properly in many decades

Great to see these pieces of agricultural history back in action

The High Weald Steam Working Weekend volunteers celebrated the end of 2022 with a threshing day after its successful first show held in mid June last year.

Unfortunately, with persistent rain on the 28 December the working was postponed until 29 December when the weather had greatly improved with sunny spells and a light wind.

The yard being very tight presented challenges with setting the threshing machine and baler up, offset against the advantages of a concrete yard given the amount of rain in the area during the preceding weeks. The threshing set was made up of a Foster threshing drum no. 8802 belonging to Roger Wheatland, a Carter Brothers elevator belonging to Wayne Elphick and a Fisher Humphries baler belonging to William and David Mansi. Half the motive power was provided by the Mansi's' 2022 purchased 1918 Fordson F with the elevator powered by Bryn Kemp's 1937 Lister A type.

Tuesday 27 December 2022 saw vintage and classic tractors take to the roads and byways of the Isle of Wight says David Lemonius.

Following last year's record turn-out they managed to exceed this in 2022 with 72 tractors leaving the start site at Hale Manor. The weather was kind to us with even a bit of sunshine although there was a fairly brisk breeze blowing but that's not unusual for the Island. As there was such a varied range of tractors from the little grey Fergies with their 25hp engine up to the 300hp + John Deere's. We started off with the smaller classic tractors first and followed on with the bigger ones. As usual it was a route of a mixture of off-road and on-road and we are very grateful to the land owners over whose land we crossed.

From Hale Common we went cross country to Merstone Lane and crossed over to the Chequers Inn Lane joining into the Newport-Niton

The baler no. 1947, believed to be built during the late 1940's was acquired in October and extracted from a shed near Pevensey, East Sussex where it had stood since it was last used in the 1950s. The majority of the original wooden trough was still present and provided a pattern for the boards requiring replacement. The baler was tested on 18 December 2022 when it was driven by the Mansi's Fordson E27N P6 which made light work of baling a round bale of hay was successfully fed through the baler.

During the working day the baler was driven by the venerable Model F which was well suited for the job with the tractor running off its trembler coil box throughout the day, with limited space a short drive belt was required.

The elevator was acquired by Wayne in the early part of December, from Cross in Hand, it had been dry stored but unfortunately the front was exposed to the weather and the hopper and some of the elevator linkage had suffered. The damaged parts of the hopper were replaced and some linkage found to replace the rotten section. The elevator was powered for the first time on 27 December and following some minor adjustments worked well feeding the straw from the threshing machine to the baler.

As with any working activity there is a considerable amount of clearing up which was soon completed with the help of modern leaf blowers and some traditional hard work with brooms and shovels. The drum sheeted up ready for its journey home, with the other equipment safely stored away. The team are looking forward to bringing some of this magic to the High Weald Steam Working Weekend to be staged over the weekend of the 17-18 June 2023, Haven Farm, Danehill, Sussex. The team are looking forward to welcoming a party of 30 people from France and their tractors at the event. More information on the event can be found on the events website www.highwealdsteam.co.uk

TURN-OUT EXCEEDED

Road, through to Cridmore Farm and Chillerton, through Gatcombe to Bowcombe and along the road through Shorwell, Brighstone and Brook to the Military Road and into Compton Farm where we were refreshed by Anna Smith and her band of helpers.

David said: We are grateful to all the people who helped us make this possible as a result of which we raised £1,700 for charity. The Hampshire and Isle of Wight Air Ambulance and The Friends of St Mary's Hospital, Newport, will each receive £850 each.

We also acknowledge with thanks Needles Pleasure Cruises Ltd. who covered our insurance costs.

The Fendt 260V had been looked after and sold for £6,400

Looking a treat is the David Brown 885 vineyard that sold for only £2,200 as it last worked

Wow what a lovely Massey Ferguson 135 with Duncan cab an unusual combination that sold for £7,600 with money left in it that's for sure

NICE CLASSIC TRACTORS

Brown and Co were called in for the 1 December Manning Fruit Farm, Willingham, Cambridge sale.

It was made up of approximately 200 lots and a good number of nice classic tractors included. The highlight being the 1989 Fendt 260V vineyard it went on to sell for just £6,400 in grade 10 condition. The 1976 Massey Ferguson 174C crawler, original style and in lovely condition although the tracks did need work by the looks of it, selling at £9,900. However the 1975 Massey Ferguson 168 Multi-Power that had the frame for the Flexi cab but no canvas went on to sell at a world record price for its rather tatty condition (grade 2) at £11,200. Please add VAT on all these prices.

RESULTS (*RECORD)

- 1958 Massey-Harris-Ferguson Pony 1.8 £880
- David Brown 885 vineyard 2/3 £2,500
- 1989 Fendt 260V vineyard 10 £6,400
- 1976 Massey Ferguson 174C crawler very original 2/3 £9,900
- 1970 Massey Ferguson 1080 2WD open centre with wheel weights 2/3 £8,000*
- 1975 Massey Ferguson 135 Multi-Power Duncan cab nice 2/3 £7,600
- 1975 Massey Ferguson 168 Multi-Power 2 £11,200*

Some £11,200 was remarkably paid for this not very exciting 168

The one they all wanted was the Massey Ferguson 174 at £9,900

Making record money was the French 1080 at £8,000 most of this model are rather unloved, but have a good turn of road speed

GOOD STOCK AT HOME FARM

Cheffins were called in on Wednesday 23 November for the Home Farm, Great Wilbraham, Cambridgeshire sale. It featured 208 lots with some 14 tractors coming under the hammer of Oliver Godfrey.

Massey Ferguson stock sold well with the 2016 Massey Ferguson 7726 Dyna VT with 50kph transmission, AY66DCE with 6,780 hours raising £43,500 in grade 10 average working condition. The low flotation tyred 2012 Massey Ferguson 7490 Dyna VT, AU12CKF with 7,406 hours made a very good £36,000 as well. Next on was the 1994 Ford 7840 Powerstar SLE four-wheel drive with Farm Force front linkage and 6,944 hours on the clock selling for a thumping £17,500. The paint was missing on the nose and bonnet, but still in grade 10 condition.

As for the 1978 Ford 6710 two-wheel drive with Cameron Gardner 1620 loader and 4,870 hours, but carrying a replacement engine all the same it changed hands at £10,200, another grade 10 tractor.

We moved on to the 2008 Fendt 936 Profi with 50kpm transmission EU58BKJ and 6,047 hours carrying full front linkage with two spool valves on the front and six on the back raising £68,500 considering the tractor is 14 years old this is an amazing price.

In the extra lots was the 1990 Ford 4630 two-wheel drive that looked worse than it actually was and featured a new nose cone not painted the correct shade of blue. However it carried 1,680 hours and had a very clean cab and sold for £8,500. Also in the extra lots was a one owner 2003 John Deere 8420 4WD AG03 WAA with 8,403 hours and was got away at a remarkable £53,000.

The Massey Ferguson 158 Series III (French)

standard with continental cab changed hands at £4,600 in excellent original order. We finished up with the very clean indeed grade 10 1996 Massey Ferguson 6150 P114 EEW four-wheel drive at £10,200. All told a very good sale in rather wet conditions underfoot. Please add VAT to all prices.

Something different was the Massey Ferguson 158 standard made at Beauvais

Looking very clean was the 1990 Massey Ferguson 6150 that sold for a good £10,200

2012 MF 7490 Dyna VT with 7,406 hours made a very good £36,000

The mighty 2008 Fendt 936 Profi with 6,047 hours was yours for £68,500

The Ford 7840 sold very well indeed at £17,500

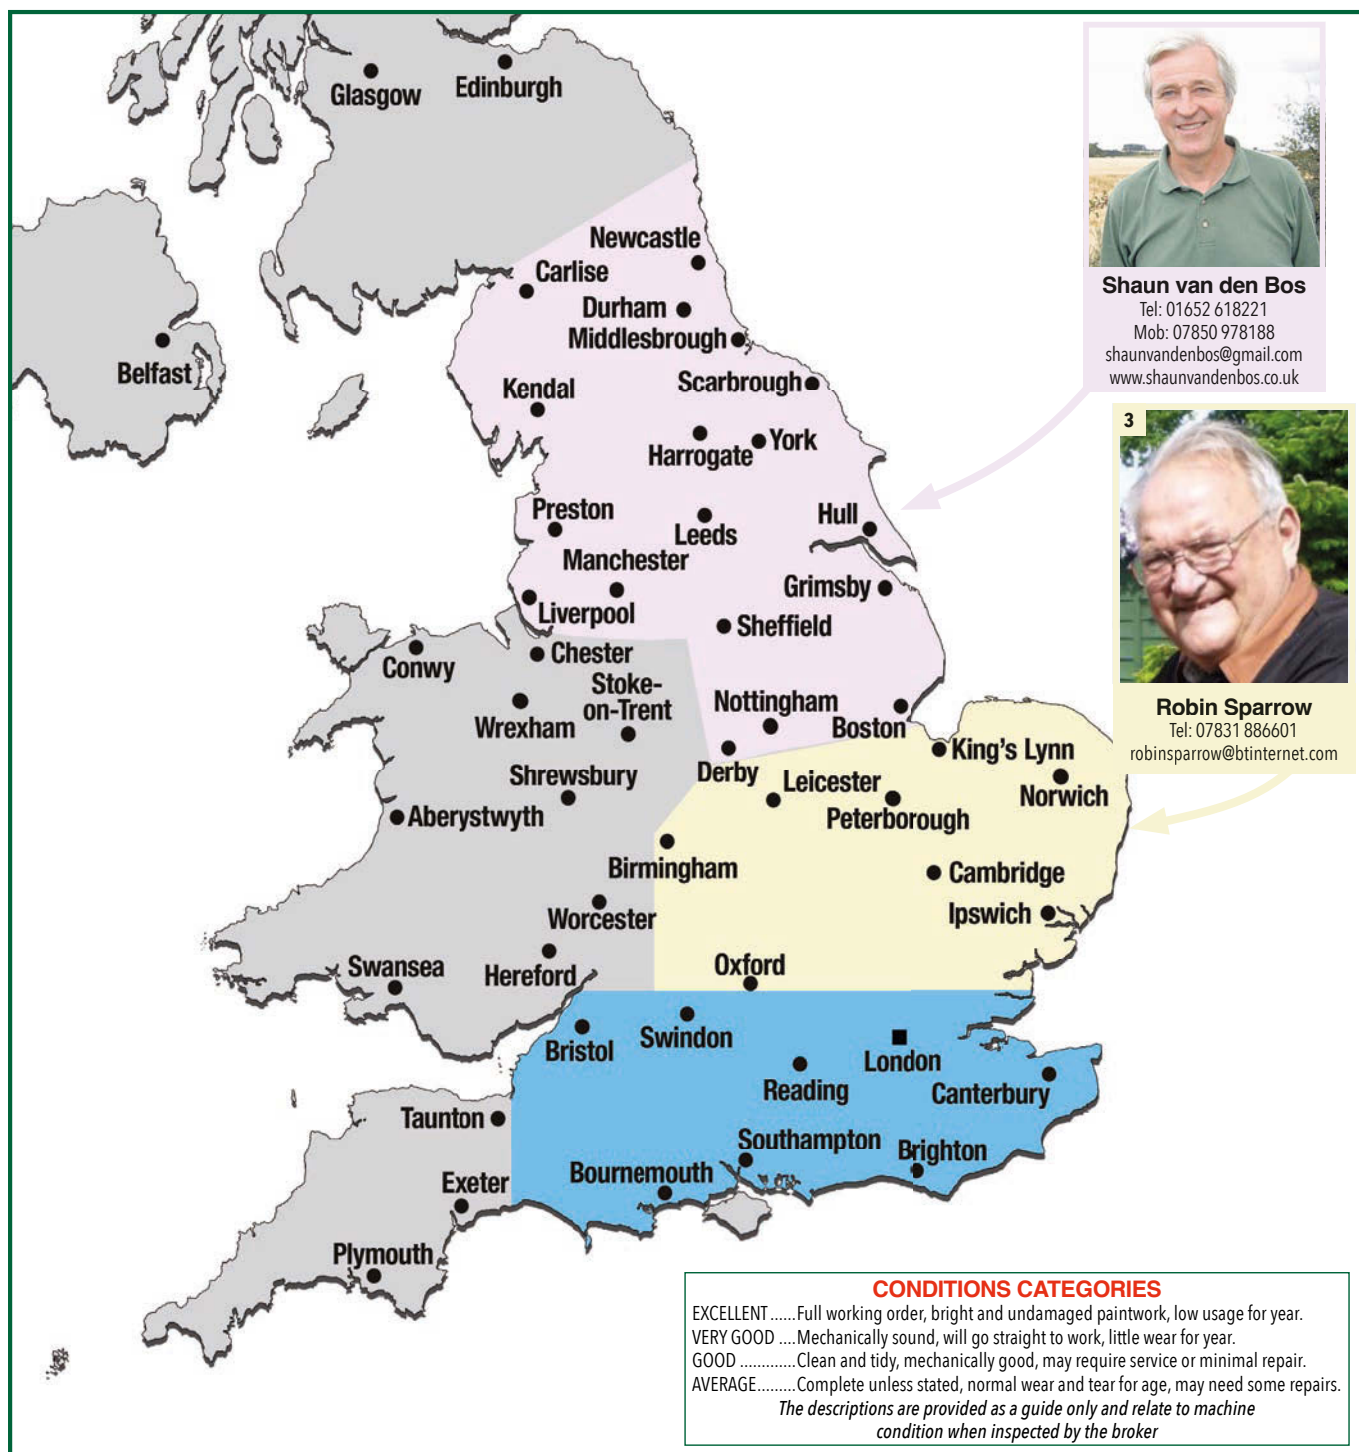

All there the 2003 John Deere 8420 with 8,408 was got away at a stomping £53,000

Looking good underneath the loader was the hard to find 6700 at £10,200

The safe and reliable way to buy and sell machinery and equipment

Wrights Farming Register offers farmers and contractors a unique service through its team of brokers. They are the 'men in the middle' who give an impartial opinion on the items of machinery they handle on behalf of their clients. The brokers, who currently cover an area stretching from the Scottish borders to the South Coast, can save farmers time and money when it comes to buying or selling anything from a combine harvester to a cattle trough. In these security-conscious days, they also provide a discreet alternative to a public farm dispersal sale and can help farmers avoid the tax pitfalls these can cause.

STIHL MH585 PETROL TILLER ORANGE AND BLACK

2022, £600. The STIHL tiller MH 585 is a versatile multi-purpose machine ideal for medium-sized plots of land and larger garden patches. I bought the item for my field, but in retrospect it is far too small for the space involved. I literally ran it for five minutes so is new and this is evident. It is assembled already, which is actually a bonus as I found it quite difficult to assemble. I have discarded to box so ideally needs to be collected in person. Please note that it is currently retailing at over £800!

The Radial Range

Designed to ensure you get the Power of C-T-R, i.e. Low compaction, High Traction and High Roadability. Aimed to give you an all-round performance and peace of mind. Due to their flexible sidewalls, superior construction, higher tread arc width & higher inner tyre volume, our radial tyres help reduce soil compaction. Their dual lug angle design with more lug overlap gives it superior traction and better roadability.

The Bias range

The high traction farm & agriculture vehicle front and rear bias tyres are developed for mighty performance over hard and black soil for sturdy crop that leaves behind strong stubbles. Properties of self-cleaning, improved puncture resistance and longer tyre life assures farmers of a tension free usage. Working on fields across the world, our Bias tyres come in 4 ranges to suit different terrains.

HOW TO SPOT A SCAM ADVERT

We are currently aware of a number of fraudulent advertisers attempting to sell items within this section.

While we aim to protect our readers by removing these adverts, sometimes they may unfortunately appear.

Please be mindful before entering into any deals and PROCEED WITH CAUTION.

1. SPEAK TO THE FARMER

Always look into whether an advertiser appears legitimate.

2. VIEW THE ITEM

If you can, view the item on the farm first.

3. AVOID ERRORS

Avoid anything with errors. If an ad has odd formatting, strange or poor-quality images, or spelling/grammar mistakes.

5. NEVER PAY IN ADVANCE

Avoid sellers who claim to be unavailable (e.g. they are travelling or have moved overseas) and insist on payment prior to arranging delivery.

6. PAYMENT

Avoid any arrangement that asks for payment via money order, wire transfer, international funds transfer, pre-loaded card or electronic currency, like Bitcoin. It is rare to recover money sent this way.

Farm Machinery is NOT responsible for any part of the transaction that takes place with the seller and the buyer.
