With over twenty five years' experience E W McTrab provides readers with reviews and tips on the purchase of various pieces of machinery.

SAME IN OUTLINE, DIFFERENT IN DETAIL

A 3m Zirkon 8 and Solitair 8 combination was once the most popular in the UK, but as tractors have become more powerful it is the larger folding Zirkon 12 and Solitair 9, offered in working widths of 4m, 4.5m, 5m and 6m, that have become more popular. There are significant differences between these models to include a different development history.

Power harrow drill combinations continue to sell strongly into the UK with wider folding units, such as Lemken 4.0 to 6.0m Zirkon 12 and Solitair 9 units, now outselling its rigid 3.0m models. This also means demand for used wider units has increased, but you need to tread carefully to secure a sound example.

LEMKEN

ZIRKON 10 SOLITAIR 9 4.0M

Year: 2007

Acreage: 3,250ha

Condition: Good

Comment: Sound example with good tines and half worn coulter discs. Pre-emergence markers and heavy-duty track eradicators. New harrow side boards.

Price point: £12,000

LEMKEN

ZIRKON 12 SOLITAIR 9 4.0M

Year: 2018

Acreage: 2,350ha

Condition: Good

Comment: Sound example with good tines and lightly worn coulter discs. Pre-emergence markers and light-duty track eradicators. Sound harrow side boards.

Price point: £40,000. A 6.0m equivalent from £55,000

At a glance, you will be hard pressed to tell the difference between a 2004 Zirkon 10 and Solitair 9 power harrow combination drill and a current Zirkon 12 and Solitair 9. In terms of their ability to establish a crop, both older and more recent models will do pretty much the same job too. Which will possibly suggest an older combination in good condition will be equally as good a buy as a more recent model that has done more work.

As you would expect, the answer is not quite as simple as a 'yes' or 'no'. Reason one relates to tractor power. In a thin-skinned nutshell, a Zirkon 12 power harrow is designed to cope with more powerful tractors than a Zirkon 10. Trough, bearings, gears and rotor wise there is little to choose between either design but the gearbox on the '12' can take more power. There are other differences as outlined in the picture captions, all of which can make a Zirkon 12 based combination a better choice for front line service.

Reason two relates to the drill. Lemken have not strayed far from the original Solitair 9 design, with detail changes also listed in the captions. An initial point concerns row spacing. Most pre-2010 Zirkon 10 and Solitair 9 combinations will have 125mm coulter spacing, Zirkon 12 based combinations having 150mm spacing as standard (although 125mm remains an increasingly rarely specified option).

WHY DOES ROW SPACING MATTER?

The agronomy arguments surrounding row spacing go back to the first Jethro Tull drill, so no point going over what is now very old ground. From a purely mechanical standpoint, matters are easier. The closer the coulters, the less room for material to pass between them. In 'sticky' soils, the 125mm coulter spacing of Zirkon 10 era Solitaire 9 drill combination could see the coulters block.

Not all users had problems, but for those that did this was a real headache. To alleviate this, the company started to offer a 300mm extension kit to increase the length of alternate coulter arms for extra clearance. This could solve the blocking problem but introduced the possible compromise of uneven depth control between the extended and non-lengthened coulter arms.

After a fair bit of head scratching both in the UK and back at the factory, the solution was to simply adopt wider 150mm coulter spacing. This extra clearance typically solved blocking. It should be made clear that 125mm spacing will not lead to problems on all soils, with many users only experiencing blockages in normally 'well behaved' soils when trying to work into ground with a lot of trash or in less-than-ideal conditions.

SPECIFICATION

The broad specifications of Zirkon 12 and Solitair 9 4m, 4.50m, 5m and 6m models is listed in the table; 5m models are not over common. Lemken offer several choices with both the drill and harrow but the most relevant are as follows:

ZIRKON 10 AND 12 POWER HARROW

- Levelling board. Pretty much a default fit and mounted behind the rotors but check
- Track eradicators. Various types offered to suit different tyre widths and working depth. Can retrofit

ZIRKON 12 SOLITAIR 9 6.0M

Year: 2020

Acreage: 2,750ha

Condition: Good

Comment: Sound example, Good tines and coulter discs. Pre-emergence markers, track eradicators and full ISObus with section control.

Price point: £70,000. Equivalent 4.0m from £55,000

- Tines. Four types offered, with the 340mm ZS34 P with hard facing a popular UK choice. 300mm and 380mm tines are also available
- Side feed discs. 450mm diameter discs mounted ahead of the harrow to reduce inter-pass ridging in certain soils. Can retrofit

- Gearbox. Two-speed only on Zirkon 10, with higher power rated single-speed and two-speed options on Zirkon 12. See table.

Zirkon 12 power harrows have an all-steel Trapeze TPW 500 packer. This still has a 500mm diameter, but the Nocking pattern steel discs have a wider gap between them and run on a larger 406mm diameter tube. The metal scrapers (inset) are also wider than the plastic type used on earlier packers, a point to note when ordering spares. The packer weighs around 204kg/metre.

Zirkon 10 power harrows made between 2004 to 2010 are fitted with a plastic disc Trapeze TSW500 packer roller with a 500mm diameter and 323mm central core. The inter disc clearance is scraped by plastic scrapers, the latter adjusting for wear. These packers weigh around 170kg/metre. Note the Zirkon 10 has hole and pin adjuster for the levelling bar.

SOLITAIR 9 DRILL

- Pre-emergence markers. Two types are offered, one attaching via a bracket to the drill's coulter frame with double acting hydraulic ram, the other to a separate frame that bolts onto the drill frame and has single acting hydraulic ram. The latter is tougher. Can retrofit
- Metering wheel. Metal star or coulter depth wheel
- Following harrows. Single or 'S' types. Can retrofit
- Hydraulic coulter lift. Commonly fitted from 2010 with ISOBUS control. Allows coulter pressure to be altered from the cab
- Controls. See text/captions.

KEY CHECKS

Job one is a simple looking over. It will be clear if a combination is in a condition that makes further investigation worthwhile. If the unit is parked up folded this makes inspection easier but these harrows should be stored opened out. If this is not possible, folded harrows should be unfolded for at least an hour before use to help ensure the semi-fluid trough lubricant can flow to the outer rotor gears. The rotor bearings are sealed so will not suffer lubricant loss.

Dealer prepared examples will be offered for sale in a clean and ready to work condition but talk through the machines intended use and predicted workload. A worn but working combination that will be used as a back-up may not be up to economical front-line operation. As with all used equipment you must balance purchase price with future maintenance demands. These combinations are typically worked hard and are sold on for a reason. Be extra cautious if considering a private and auction buy. >>

Zirkon 10 power harrows, made from 2004-2015, have quick-change tines. The tine holder is a wear item, typically lasting around 1,000ha before the outer shoulder rounds off (arrowed). The worn outer can be cut off and a new shoulder section welded on, so there is no need to replace the entire rotor assembly, but the work is still costly.

Zirkon 12 power harrows, produced from 2015, have the quick-change tine carrier assembly bolted on with four Torx head fasteners per side but these are not designed to unscrew; they need to be cut free and a new plate and fasteners fitted. This is less labour intensive than welding on a new section, but the job still takes time. Zirkon 9 power harrows, made from 1996-2003/4 have bolt-on tines.

The levelling bar on the Zirkon 12 harrows has a central adjuster per folding section, ensuring it retains a fixed level across the harrow. The levelling bar is an option, but most Solitaire-Zirkon drill combinations will have one fitted behind the rotors; it is possible to fit ahead of the rotors, so check. There are numerous options on offer.

Cross section through the Zirkon 12 trough shows the outline of the rigid, fully welded trough, and the top and lower sealed rotor bearings. The Zirkon 12 is designed for high-powered tractors and is more robustly made than the Zirkon 8. Check the rotor for play, new bearings not being over difficult to fit but not cheap. Note the bar metal straps into which the Torx head screws secure the tine carrier. These, and new bolts, will be supplied if a replacement tine holder is needed.

<< Most checks are obvious but do not overlook the following:

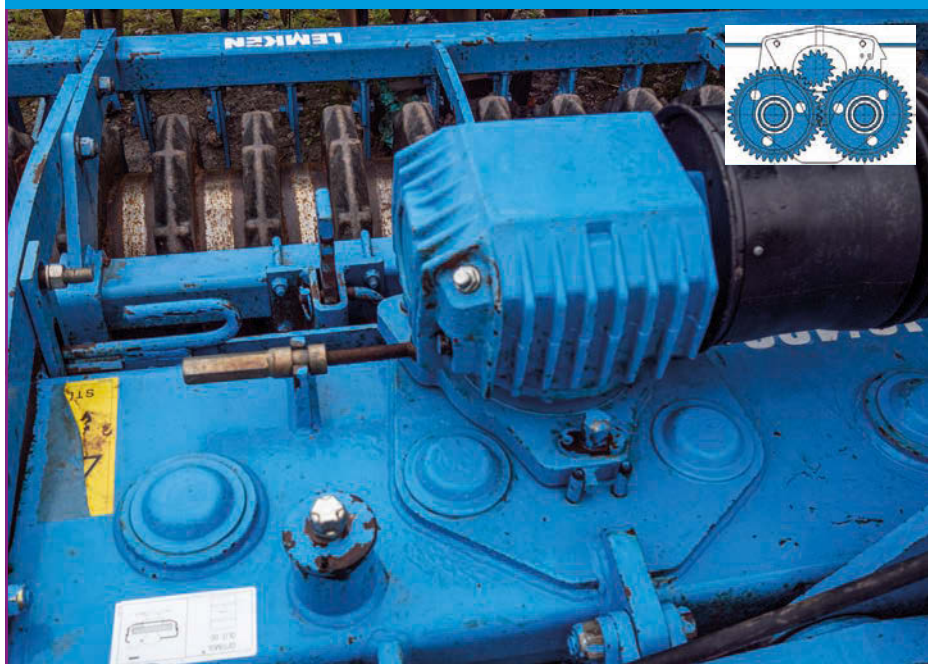

ZIRKON HARROWS

- Quick-change tine holder. On the Zirkon 10, the cost of slicing off the outer worn shoulder and welding a new one into place must be balanced against the condition of the rest of the combination. As labour rates vary, cost the job before buying.

Later Zirkon 12 'bolt on' tine holders need to be cut off, which will add to labour costs

- Tines. Lemken OEM tines are not cheap. Third party alternatives fitted to a used harrow may not last as long as the originals
- Rotor bearings. Sealed and well-braced, the rotor bearings can last the life of the machine but still check for play in the rotors

Zirkon 10 gearbox is a two-speed unit and is rated as suitable for tractors of up to 320hp. From 2010, the gearbox can slide to allow the rotation of the tines to be reversed (see inset pic). Zirkon 12 harrows, made from 2015, have a choice of two gearboxes, a single speed suitable for tractors of up to 340hp or a two-speed for tractors of up to 405hp.

- Packer ring wear and rear bearings. Excess ring wear suggest the unit has done a lot of work. Obvious but a good indicator of the machine's past. The packer bearings last well, so ask questions if the roll does not turn freely etc.
- Packer scrapers. Buy a new set and fit once the fitted set are past half worn. It is false economy to leave worn units in-situ
- Gearboxes and shafts. Check the oil in the gearbox is clean, an annual change typically being enough. The pto is a wear item, so check for play and ensure the guards are in good order
- Side plate wear. Look for weld on repairs
- On 6m models, check the frame where it folds for fractures. Rare but not unheard of on hard worked units

SOLITAIR DRILL

- Hopper. All have 1,850 litre capacity. Check for damage and corrosion. Loading accidents from big bags can cause hard to fix damage. Ensure the hood opens and closes easily
- Fan and fan housing. The design of the pneumatic system is well-proven. Damage and corrosion from outside storage may be a concern but typically not a problem area
- Hoses. Check each hose for damage, paying particular attention to the connectors. The distribution head design was changed in around 2010
- Coulter discs. See caption. If a used buy has worn but serviceable discs, budget to renew. Could save time and money later

- Coulter arm pivot points. Check for lateral play and check the tension springs are not damaged and all are set to the same tension. Double springs may be fitted
- Plastic depth wheels. These are light and help reduce the drills overall weight, but they can last the life of the drill. Look for damage.
- Inter-disc scrapers. These rubber items can last the life of the drill, wear arising when the discs are run worn. Check all the same. New ones are inexpensive but it can be a fiddle to fit a lot of them
- Coulter feed and disc cover. The plastic 'beak' covers prevent soil falling between the discs and drop seed into the correct position. Like the wheels, these items are not likely to wear but can get damaged. If a used buy has many broken beaks, it suggests hard use.
- Controller. The Lemken control boxes have become more sophisticated >>

When checking over the harrow element, look over the bout marker arm as these get damaged. The pictured type is the standard duty design, a heavier alternative also being available. The side plates get left until really worn, this compromising the finish across the harrow. A new side plate, as pictured, will be a considerable expense.

Zirkon 10 and Solitaire 9 drill combinations will have 125mm row spacing. This works well in most soils but, in sticky conditions, the interrow clearance can see soil built up between the depth wheels, leading to frustrating blockages. A 300mm extension (inset) can be used to increase the clearance by pushing alternate rows back but this solution can compromise sowing depths. Coulter arm pivots require a shot of grease once a year.

Following harrows are not an over common fit, but they are popular for certain soils. Two types, 'S' (left) and single (right) are offered. Either is an easy retrofit.

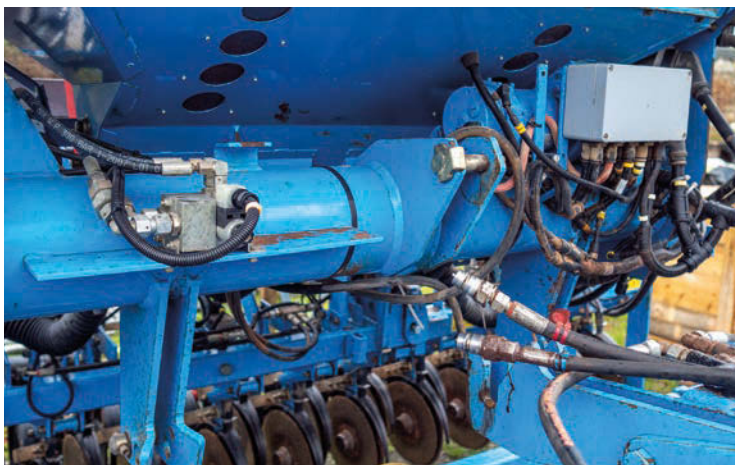

Zirkon 12 and Solitaire 9 combos are more likely to be specified with 150mm row spacing, this solving blockage problems. A narrower 125mm spacing is available but is a rare choice in the UK. Most users suggest a swap from 125mm to 150mm row spacing has no compromise on yields, with some suggesting the wider spacing leads to all-round improved crop performance. NOTE: Pictured drill has pre-emergence markers. Two types are offered and either can be retrofitted.

It is easy to see if a drill has ISOBUS fitted, the gateway box and electronic drive control mounting on the drill hopper behind the headstock. Pictured example has a valve block to control pre-emergence markers and sections, the latter working rams to open and close simple shutters on the hopper (inset).

Disc coulters spring pressure is controlled by either single or twin springs, the latter tending to be fitted to combinations worked at field speeds of up to 15km/hr. A change to the latter requires the fitting of twin spring brackets. A holed metal strip was fitted to adjust the spring tension up until around 2010, a simple chain doing the same job from then on (right). The Lemken embossed alloy link is designed to bend if a coulters is forced up beyond the stops, protecting the coulters arm from damage.

Hydraulic oil flows through the pneumatic fan drive and into a valve block that can then use the pressurised flow to operate other functions to include raising and lowering pre-emergence markers and activate section controls. Where fitted, solenoid activated shut-off in the related coulters distribution hoses work the tramline controls.

<< and ISOBUS controlled models will have more features. All Solotronic controlled machines can be adapted for third-party variable seed rate. Know what you want and seek out a used buy with features you need fitted. Retrofitting section control etc. is possible but will be more expensive than sourcing a unit with what you need

SUMMARY

Used power harrow drill combinations typically come up for sale in three states: Worn and beyond economic refurbishment but still purchased at auction and then parked up as a regret buy, well-used but serviceable if you know what to look for and great as a back-up through to fully prepared and ready for front line use. Tread carefully.

As with all items of used equipment, you need to start looking early. Machines that have been traded at the end of a finance deal can make a good buy, so talk to a Lemken dealer and find out what is coming in and when as used buys often have a buyer lined up before they get into the yard.

As always, a spreadsheet and calculator can help when choosing between new and used. A good used combination will save money up front but a low interest finance package could make opting for new more cost effective over the life of the machine.

With thanks to: Morris Corfield, Broseley, Shropshire, Contractors John Lea and Sons and Andrew Craig both near Broseley and Richard Relph, Lemken UK

A front packer works well with a power harrow combo, providing 'working' ballast. Two ring diameters, 700mm and 900 mm, are available as well as a choice of 30 and 45 degree angles. Used 4m Lemken packers are priced from around £8,750.

The twin disc coulters obviously wear, with the gap between the two opening as metal wears away. This gap can be closed by removing spacer shims on the bearing shaft, the factory fitting either one for each disc or a pair (one slim, the other thicker) dependent upon the clearance achieved when the discs were assembled in the factory. If removing a shim does not close the gap to around a couple of mm, the disc need renewing...

... the other disc wear check being to see if two fingers can fit between the disc and the plastic 'beak'. New discs can be purchased in pairs. The coulters beaks can get damaged, new ones are available to purchase. If you routinely break these, or the plastic coulters depth wheels, seek setting advice as they are not prone to damage. Numerous broken coulters beaks will suggest the drill has done a lot of work.

Lemken control boxes have evolved, the original unit fitted to Solitair drills without CANbus using an LH Agro controller offering fewer options than the subsequent Solotronic CANBUS shown on the left and more advanced ISOBUS controller to the right. These days it is common to find operators hooking up to the tractor's ISOBUS system, so ensure you get a control box with a used buy if you need one. Lemken unlock codes for GPS systems are available. More recent combinations can have Headland Command, Tramline Control and DGPS compatibility. Variable of between 1.5kg to 500kg/ha can also be set.

NEW

NEW FEATURES BOOST PRECISION

Accuracy and precision continue to evolve for Kverneland's extensive range of mounted and trailed sprayers following the development of several new features, all focused on harnessing technology.

There are three new optional features, which comprise SpotSpray; the introduction of a 25cm nozzle spacing option; and the next generation of Boom Guide ProActive boom height control.

SpotSpray technology is an extension of variable rate application maps. While such maps have been applicable to seed drills and fertiliser spreaders with task control, the same principle can be applied to Kverneland sprayers that are equipped with iXspray software, when combined with iXflow Air/iXflow E individual nozzle control.

SpotSpray uses treatment maps that can be populated with a zero application rate in addition to a prescribed application rate. By loading a treatment map into the control terminal, the sprayer automatically controls individual nozzles through the SpotSpray software and GPS, following only the indicated areas on the treatment map.

These maps could be used to define weed spots, wet areas, non-germination areas and parts of a field with known soil problems. As a result, liquid application costs can be reduced, further protecting healthy crops from unnecessary blanket applications.

With the introduction of a 25cm nozzle spacing option, lower boom heights can be achieved to further reduce spray drift to a minimum. And working at a reduced boom height of 30cm instead of 50cm, has been made possible with the latest generation of Boom Guide ProActive ultrasonic boom control. Advanced sensor technology is able to deliver greater precision and consistent boom control at higher forward speeds.

Kverneland sprayers include tractor-mounted iXter A and iXter B models, plus the ability to add capacity from a 1,100 litre iXtra front tank. An extensive line up of iXtrack trailed models includes T3, T4 and T6 versions spanning 2,600 litres to 7,400 litres.

NFU Mutual is urging farmers to fortify their farmyards to stop thieves from draining their diesel tanks and disrupting food production.

Diesel thefts reported to the UK's leading rural insurer more than doubled in 2022 as the price of diesel rocketed, with latest NFU Mutual claims figures showing the cost of diesel theft rose to a record £886,197 during the year.

As the cost-of-living crisis continues to bite and diesel prices remain close to record levels, the insurer is concerned that diesel raids could continue to increase in coming months.

September was the costliest month last year, with claims amounting to £229,537 compared to £36,237 in 2021.

NFU Mutual Rural Affairs Specialist Hannah Binns says: "With diesel costing around £1.75 at the pumps, farmers' fuel tanks are now like liquid gold to thieves.

"Farmers need fuel to keep the nation fed, so these thefts are a major concern for agriculture at a time when fast-rising input costs are adding further pressures on rural businesses.

"As well as the loss of vital fuel, thieves often damage tanks leaving fuel running into the ground where it can cause horrendous pollution as well as an increased fire risk.

"We are urging farmers and other rural businesses to review and upgrade their security systems to protect diesel stocks from thieves."

DIESEL THEFTS MORE THAN DOUBLE

Ensuring the farmyard has effective security in place is the first step to deterring fuel thieves, says Andy Manson, Managing Director of NFU Mutual Risk Management Services Limited.

"Where possible, locate fuel tanks where they can be seen from the farmhouse, ideally within an enclosed compound with secured access. It is worth considering fitting a fuel tank alarm to notify you of an attack on fuel tanks."

NFU MUTUAL FARM DIESEL SECURITY TIPS: FUEL TANKS

- Where possible locate the tank where it can be viewed from the farmhouse.
- Ideally tanks should be within an enclosed compound with secured access.
- Fit a fuel tank alarm to notify you of an attack on fuel tanks. Remote electronic fuel level gauges will set off an audible or monitored alarm if the fuel level in the tank suddenly drops or falls below a defined level.
- Make sure that the tank is suitably bunded to prevent release into the ground, causing pollution.

- Record the number, location, tank storage capacity and the date/times when tanks are filled and regularly check levels.

VEHICLES AND MACHINERY

- Use locking fuel filler caps.
- Keep tractors and powered machinery locked up and out of sight from public roads and footpaths when not in use, to prevent thieves draining their fuel tanks.
- Only fill fuel bowsers with the amount needed for the day and return fuel bowsers to locked buildings when not in use.
- Check your fuel gauge is not showing irregularities in fuel levels.

SITE SECURITY

- Keep field and farmyard gates closed and locked, and block exit points that aren't used.
- Activate intruder alarm systems, which may have a local sounder or remotely monitored signalling.
- Install security lighting to illuminate any suspicious activity.
- Consider fitting motion detectors or CCTV.

JOHN DEERE LAUNCHES ELECTRIC GREENS MOWERS

John Deere has launched two battery-powered, walk-behind greens mowers and announced further hybrid innovations to its existing product range.

The two specialist machines are packed with the same quality components and technology that existing John Deere customers have become familiar with, but are powered by a 58-volt, 3.2kwh lithium battery.

The 185 E-Cut has an 18-inch (457mm) cutting width while the larger 225 E-Cut takes a 22-inch (559mm) cut.

With near-silent operation, the walk-behind machines can cut approximately 50,000 square feet of grass on a single charge, making them 30% more productive than similar models in their class.

Greenkeepers in the UK and Ireland will be able to order the machines later this year.

John Deere is also launching its industry-exclusive three-wheeled fairway mower with brushless electric reel motors.

This is the first time customers can choose a three-wheeled fairway mower fitted with five, brushless electric reel motors. The same hybrid technology has also been applied to the four-wheeled 7700A E-Cut.

This hybrid solution minimises 90% of the risk of hydraulic leaks by eliminating over 150 leak points. Users can experience fuel savings of up to 30% by operating at reduced throttle.

EQUIPPED FOR ON-LAND PLOUGHING

Agricultural machinery manufacturer Pöttinger adds an important feature to the equipment options on the SERVO T 6000. With the On-Land package, the semi-mounted reversible plough for tractors with an output of up to 500hp gets additional application flexibility. Switching from ploughing in the furrow to ploughing outside the furrow takes just a few simple steps. Soil conservation is enhanced by using tractors with wide tyres, dual wheels or crawler tracks for efficient power transmission. However, if this is not possible due to the site conditions, the plough turnover mechanism can also be set for in-furrow if required.

When conditions change, the switch between in-furrow ploughing and on-land ploughing is done very quickly in a few steps. The hydraulic swing-out On-Land beam link pushes the frame of the SERVO T 6000 outwards so that the plough follows the tractor centrally. This means that it can be used with tractors with an outer width of up to 4 metres, providing plenty of space for dual wheels and crawler tracks. To ensure consistent depth guidance when ploughing outside the furrow, an optional depth wheel provides support in front of the first plough share so it is guided at the precise working depth. This is designed as a space-saving pivot depth wheel within the plough beam.

Due to intelligent use of the spool valves, no additional connection is necessary on the tractor for the hydraulic adjustment mechanism.

CONSERVES THE SOIL

Large tractors are often fitted with wide tyres or dual wheels, this results in not enough space in the plough furrow and driving over ploughed ground is sometimes unavoidable. This is where the SERVO T 6000 with the On-Land equipment option comes in, because the tractor drives outside the furrow on the ground that has not been ploughed. This not only improves the tractor's power transmission to the ground, but also conserves the soil due to the large contact area of the tractor and minimises harmful compaction in deeper soil layers. Likewise, it eliminates the risk of smearing the bottom of the furrow due to wheel slip from tractors driving in the furrow. Preventing compaction promotes crop root growth, soil life, and ensures access to water and nutrients. This is the basis for a healthy crop and a successful harvest.

EFFICIENT AND CONVENIENT OPERATION

Driving outside the furrow while ploughing ensures a straight pull line, this results in more efficient power transfer from the tractor to the plough and less side pull, reducing wear on the landside. Guidance systems can be used for increased convenience, which ensures precise work and reduces driver fatigue. In addition, the tractor is level with the ground due to no wheels driving in the furrow, ensuring a straight and more ergonomic sitting position for the driver, which is especially important on long working days.

A STRONG PARTNER

The Pöttinger SERVO T 6000 is designed for use with powerful tractors up to 500hp. The ability to plough with the On-Land option makes even better use of the available tractor power. This ensures efficient ploughing and reliable power transmission even in difficult conditions. This system is designed for years of professional operation.

SPEARHEAD ADDS ROBERINE SELF-PROPELLED MOWERS TO ITS AMENITY RANGE

Continually growing its collection of robust vegetation management machinery, Spearhead has introduced four Roberine amenity mowers with the promise of further development in this space.

Hailing from The Netherlands, Roberine mowers have been manufactured since 1951. Now, they take on a new lease of life as part of the Spearhead family.

Serving the UK and Irish market, Spearhead will provide enhanced UK-based customer support, including help with road registration, rapid parts distribution, and general aftercare. Existing and future customers can feel reassured they have complete support for the life of their mower.

The Spearhead Roberine range includes four ride-on commercial mowers. The machines are ideal for large area mowing such as park and general amenity land (including golf courses).

- The F3 (3 gang) machine is available as a flail or cylinder mower.
- The F5 (5 gang) machine is also available as a flail or cylinder mower.

Spearhead will already be familiar to UK dealer partners that have previously stocked Roberine. Plus, the company already supplies commercial amenity mowing attachments – such as Rollicut and Trident. These self-propelled machines therefore complement the existing Spearhead range perfectly, providing dealers with further opportunities from a trusted UK manufacturer.

Antony Prince, Director of Sales and Marketing at Spearhead said: "Adding high-end, commercial ride-on machines to our line-up fits perfectly with our growth plans. And this is only the start. Using our product development strength, here in the UK, we're working to expand the range soon. We want those managing amenity space to have the best possible equipment supporting them."

BEST DOE SHOW FOR YEARS

Staged in glorious weather over 7-9 February the 63rd Doe Show was a huge success held at Ernest Doe headquarters at Ulting, Essex. Positive comments were made about the way the show was laid out and its presentation over the three-days said Peter Love.

In fact the car part was the fullest it had ever been for a first day and people had to park over a mile away just to get in and stayed much later than normal all helped by the great sunshine.

This year there were a raft of exhibitors back not only from Ernest Doe's many departments but various tool stands including Seeley and Draper who had various show offers that helped things along the way.

It's the 125th anniversary year of the Ernest Doe company now run by Angus Doe, having been started by his great grandfather in 1898. New Holland and Case-IH were of course to the fore with the just released New Holland T7.300LWB flagship tractor looking spectacular which gives more power and fuel economy from under the bonnet and has the new Horizon Ultra cab. In the red corner was the Case-IH Optum AFS Connect 300 and Puma 260CVX. There was a mighty Case-IH Quad Trac looking shiny and bright and ready for its new owner having just been sold as was the case on one of the sparkling New Holland combines.

If you are thinking about an apprenticeship career in agricultural machinery then this could be the place for you as Ernest Doe are looking for suitable male and female candidates www.ernestdoe.com/careers/apprenticeships/ and the company also have vacancies in various other departments as well.

Ernest Doe have just taken on two new implement agencies in Horizon Drills and FarmDroid, nothing was small from what I could see in the kit line being offered and it was most interesting to catch up with modern technology for a while.

The viticulture range was also being promoted and with temperatures rising each year fruit and vine growers are becoming an important part of the British economy. In the fruit/vineyard tractor line was the new Case-IH Quantum V and F series tractors and the New Holland T4 F/N/V series besides the New Holland Braud grape harvester made in France of course from this well proven manufacturer who have a long history of their own.

There was plenty of second hand equipment to buy in blue, yellow and red liveries; even tennis court and cricket pitch machinery.

Construction has become an ever important part of the Ernest Doe business now with their successful Hyundai, Thwaites and Bomag dealerships, besides Atlas Copco, Epiroc, Winget, Strickland and Engcon agencies.

There was plenty to see in all corners of the site and with free tea and coffee everyone was happy as they walked to the demonstration fields. Here there were top ploughman from Essex, Bedfordshire and Yorkshire with Max Cherry's 1925 Fordson F with Ransomes two-furrow RSLD No. 15 kicking things off. Going like a train was the 1937 Fordson N waterwasher of Phil Vidler with his IH Little Genius two-furrow plough behind.

It was great to see Paul Wyle here who has done so much for his former employer over the years and is recovering well from his autumn 2022 knee operation. He had not used his immaculate Case C for some eight years now but with the hand clutch it made it an ideal tractor to operate on the day with the Ransomes 2-furrow Motrac behind.

Case were very much part of Doe's in the 1930's and the Flambeau styled 1939 Case R of David Hunt was under the control of Robert Lowe on the first day of the show with the Ransomes Motrac behind.

Former National Crawler Ploughing Champion Colin Fenner was in charge of Doe's own 1961 Doe Triple D. He is getting deeply involved in ploughing again which is so good to see as he does good work. Not far away was Terry Stinson with his Demonstrating the Doe in its early years of the 1960s was something very special.

Doe's stock as seen in the 1980s are now all preservation items!

Just sold the Case-IH 580 Quad trac range has been very successful in the UK over the years.

All the latest gear was on show and being demonstrated.

Colin Fenner was going well with the 1961 Doe Triple D and TS59 five-furrow.

Robert Lowe was out with the Hunt's Flambeau styled Case R and Ransomes Motrac plough.

Fordson F of Max Cherry was going like a train when we watched it work on Tuesday afternoon.

lovely 1974 Ford 3000 with Ransomes TS59Y plough watched by his wife Janet.

In the neighbouring plot was Martin Shelley with the company's 1975 Ford 4000 and Ransomes TS90 plough. He was joined by former World Ploughing Champion and president of the European Ploughing Federation John Hill from Yorkshire. In his competition ploughing days I remember him as a Case-IH man but here he was toggged up in blue on his own 1970 Ford 5000 and Fiskers two-furrow plough going extremely well to his usual high standard. Over on the other side was Angus Montgomerie with Doe's own 1965 Doe 130

Triple D outfit.

He was joined by Ricki Carr with his Doe 150 model, which had not been fired up for some years, but hydraulic hose problems were discovered. The parts got lost by the delivery company but eventually arrived and after lots of late work the outfit arrived at 8am on the Tuesday.

By the entrance was Colin Ashby's 1958 Doe no. 154 that was discovered by its owner when on a shoot at Brazenhead Farm. He made an offer to Mr Hunt which he accepted. The tractor has been under restoration at Doe's with Karl Whitehead who has worked on it over the last three winters. On Monday 30 January the tractor fired up and with its wheels on drove straight out of the workshop as it would have done 60 years ago.

In fact Ernest Doe have printed a number of old black and white pictures of years gone by and these are being offered for sale at approximately £15 each.

It was sad to leave this show where one was nothing but impressed with what was happening here, but from what I can see there are major difficulties for the small time farmer with the prices of big kit as it is today, but things might eventually come full circle you never know.

Time is marching on. It's March already with the spectacular Spring Tractor World and Classic Commercial Show, at Malvern's Three Counties Showground on 11-12 March is already to go as is the Saturday sale.

The biggest and longest-established indoor/outside show now in its 21st year, sees the show packed with veteran, vintage, classic and post classic tractors, agricultural implements, commercial vehicles, Land Rovers, club displays, stationary engines, miniature steam, tractor diorama models, and vintage horticultural and garden equipment. On the Sunday the popular Classic Commercial 'Drive-In Day' will be here.

There's shopping for every enthusiast, with the UK's largest gathering of specialist, vintage, spares, models, work wear and gift traders.

Saturday's famous H.J Pugh & Co auction, will see over 100 tractors of all sizes entered along with implements, parts, bygone literature and so much more in this 2,000 + lot expected sale. The sale is well known for excellent prices and there is still time to enter your tractor or implement and parts. For auction entries: www.hjpugh.co.uk or tel: 01531 631122.

I look forward to seeing you there; do come and have a chat!

SOUTH WEST COLLECTION TO BE SOLD

Who can forget the Hiscock John Deere 20 series tractors that were the stars wherever they were shown, all restored so well by the late Dave Hiscock (a former motor-cycle man) over 20 years ago now.

With the help of the late Don Macmillan, Dave sourced a raft of excellent examples which he and his friends took part in the National Vintage Tractor Road Run with and went on to win awards including at Tractor World with his magnificent fleet.

Since Dave's passing his daughters Peggy and Kay have looked after them so well and in the last few years they have been seen at rallies in Hampshire.

They have decided to sell them at the Cheffins Vintage Collective which takes place on 21-22 April with tractors being sold on Saturday 22 April. The John Deeres include: 3020, 4020, 5020 and 4620. The 3020 came back from France and had to have a major engine refit including a new crankshaft. All are well restored and go as well as they look and were out as previously mentioned in 2021/2022 when I spotted them.

Carrying all the goodies is the 4020 that's very well weighted down for the job in hand

This 1966 4020 Powershift was bought from Barry Clithroe, Norfolk in 1995 who had restored her to perfect condition which the Hiscock's have continued on with ever since

The 1971 4620 which is very rare in the UK and was bought from Austin, Texas in 1996 and is suggested to be the only example in the UK, but you might know differently

Bought from Cheffins, October 1994 at their Linton October sale. The 1967 5020 was imported new to the UK via Ireland by Don Macmillan and went to Watergate Park estate, Lockash Farm, West Sussex

DOE SELLS FOR £49,000

With all its badges back on the Doe it was a star at so many shows in the South West over 25 + years with Mike Brockway

The older style condition Doe Triple-D of the late Mike Brockway was yours at £49,000

Despite two big classic and vintage sales taking place in the South West on the same day the bidders and crowd were at the traditional charity Somerset Vintage Tractor Show which at one stage was so popular it required a 30 minute wait to get in on Saturday 28 January.

The highlight in the H J Pugh sale was the late Mike Brockway Doe Triple D270 which was stolen in June 2000, but Mike got it back after all the publicity less its badges just a few days later. He went on to use it extensively at many Somerset and Dorset events over the years. It went on to sell in very working style condition for £49,000 to a bidder from Buckinghamshire.

The other highlight in the sale was the 1953 Ferguson TE-F in original but rusty condition selling for an amazing £5,400 a record for an example in this condition.

WINTER THRESHING

Looking so original the Diesel Forty ran well all day and was very economical in the process

Near Biggin Hill, Kent the Lewis brothers Ray and Brian who grow long wheat and barley so it can be used in thatching and at working demonstrations throughout the UK were out at the beginning of February with their Marshall drum and so original Caterpillar Diesel Forty.

During the day they put 300 bushels through the drum so successfully. The two-cylinder petrol start donkey engine Diesel Forty was made from 1934-36 at Peoria in two sizes (56in-74in), some 1,971 were to be made and only a few came to the UK. The Diesel Forty features a longer track compared to the gas Forty model and produced 44hp-49dbhp, plenty to handle the Marshall threshing drums crop.

Some £52,200 was paid for the 2014 John Deere 6125R 2,250 hours

Dating from 2011 the John Deere 6430 Premium with 2,800 hours and many accessories sold for £47,000

The 2007 Claas Medion 310 combine with 1,141 hours sold for £53,000 on the day

RECORD MONEY AT LUDLOW

It's rare to see a one owner 1974 John Deere 3130 with 7,486 hours on it, come up these days, but that's what happened on Wednesday 1 February at the H J Pugh, J E Morgan retirement sale at Bank Farm, Greete, Ludlow, Shropshire.

This wonderful Manheim built tractor carried a Duncan cab. It went on to sell for a stunning £18,500 + VAT.

However that will not be the only story as all the clean modern machinery made high prices for their age, all with low hours. The 2017 JCB 536-60 Agri Loadall selling for £53,500 with 2,400 hours (all machinery was in grade 11 condition).

Looking so clean is the 1974 John Deere 3130, what a rare gem to see

SUPER CAVALIER CHANGES HANDS

Geoff Townshend has been in touch to tell us an associate has recently purchased a rare Ransomes Super Cavalier from East Sussex the last in the line of Ransomes combines. The 12ft header is under repair at this very moment. They have not been able to plant a crop this year but it is hoped it will be put to use at a good quality working event in the South East later in the year.

The 1974 introduced Super Cavalier with Perkins 6354 engine and its famous twin threshing system was ahead of its time really, but was going out of fashion when Ransomes introduced this model, however manufactures went back to the threshing system on their combines later on. It was offered with a choice of three quick release headers between 10-14ft and cost from £6,780 new. The model was the last to leave the Nacton Road, Ipswich factory in 1976 finishing the 130 year tenure of manufacturing threshing machines.

Many people get confused with this model and the earlier Cavalier which replaced the 1001 in late 1966/7 with Ford six-cylinder and the smaller 10-12ft cut Crusader introduced in 1967 to replace the 801.

However what Geoff and the owner would like to know is how many Super Cavalier were made in their two year production run? One thing you can say is that Ransomes combines were well built; rather heavy but were certainly underrated in my book anyway.

As can be seen the rear body work needs straightening but is in excellent condition

EURO AUCTIONS GET INTO ACTION

At the late January Euro Auctions sale at their flagship site near Leeds, a few absolute gems went over the ramp as part of the biggest sale of construction and agricultural machinery in January. George Goodwin, UK Agri sales manager for Euro Auctions looks at the prices.

"We always get a good variety of consignments of tractors and general agricultural machinery through the Leeds auction site and each sale has its gems. It never ceases to amaze what each sale turns up. We are starting to see signs that OEMs are beginning to fulfil long awaited order books and are sending multiples of good used machines to auction."

"Our sales managers are reporting that consigners are brimming with good stock and there is no shortage of fresh, late, low hours kit around. The market is hungry and our registered buyers, not just in the UK but across Europe, are pouncing on all lots."

The sale saw a raft of crawlers go through including a Morooka MK-890 which sold for £13,000 grade 10. The 2004 Case STX500 Quadtrac with front weights, four spool valves was moved on at £47,000 grade 9.7.

It was followed by a 2008 CAT Challenger MT765B crawler with front weights that was got away at £28,000 grade 10. The 2005 Unimog U400 4x4 3-way tipper with Horton body, £32,000 grade 10.

We moved on to the 2018 JCB Fastrac 4220 four-wheel drive with Field Pro Pack and front linkage, £54,500 grade 10. Best of New Holland was the 2019 New Holland T7.210, front linkage and front suspension, £45,000 grade 10. A 1993 Ford 8340SLE 4WD with two valves was yours at £8,000 but will need some work grade 0. As for the John Deere's the 2018 6150R 4WD with front suspension, cab suspension was yours at £42,000.

As for the 2009 Fendt 514C 4WD with front loader and three spool valves some £18,000 was raised in grade 10 condition. A 1993 Ford 8340SLE 4WD with two valves was yours at £8,000 and will need some work grade 9.4. The 2008 Fiat 110-90DT 4WD with two spool valve raised £16,000 with hardly any hours on it grade 10. There were plenty more that went through in the Massey Ferguson and Ford classic line making from £9,000. As always there was plenty to go for here in very pleasant surroundings particularly with the café here. George was very pleased with the results and is delighted to take lots for their next sale here.

This 2019 New Holland T7.210 changed hands at £45,000 grade 10.

Best John Deere on the day was the 2018 6150 that sold for £42,000

Best JCB Fastrac on the day was the 2018 4220 4WD with Field Pro Pack and front linkage, £54,500 grade 10

Needing a new set of front tyres and more, the 1993 Ford 8340SLE 4WD with two valves was yours at £8,000

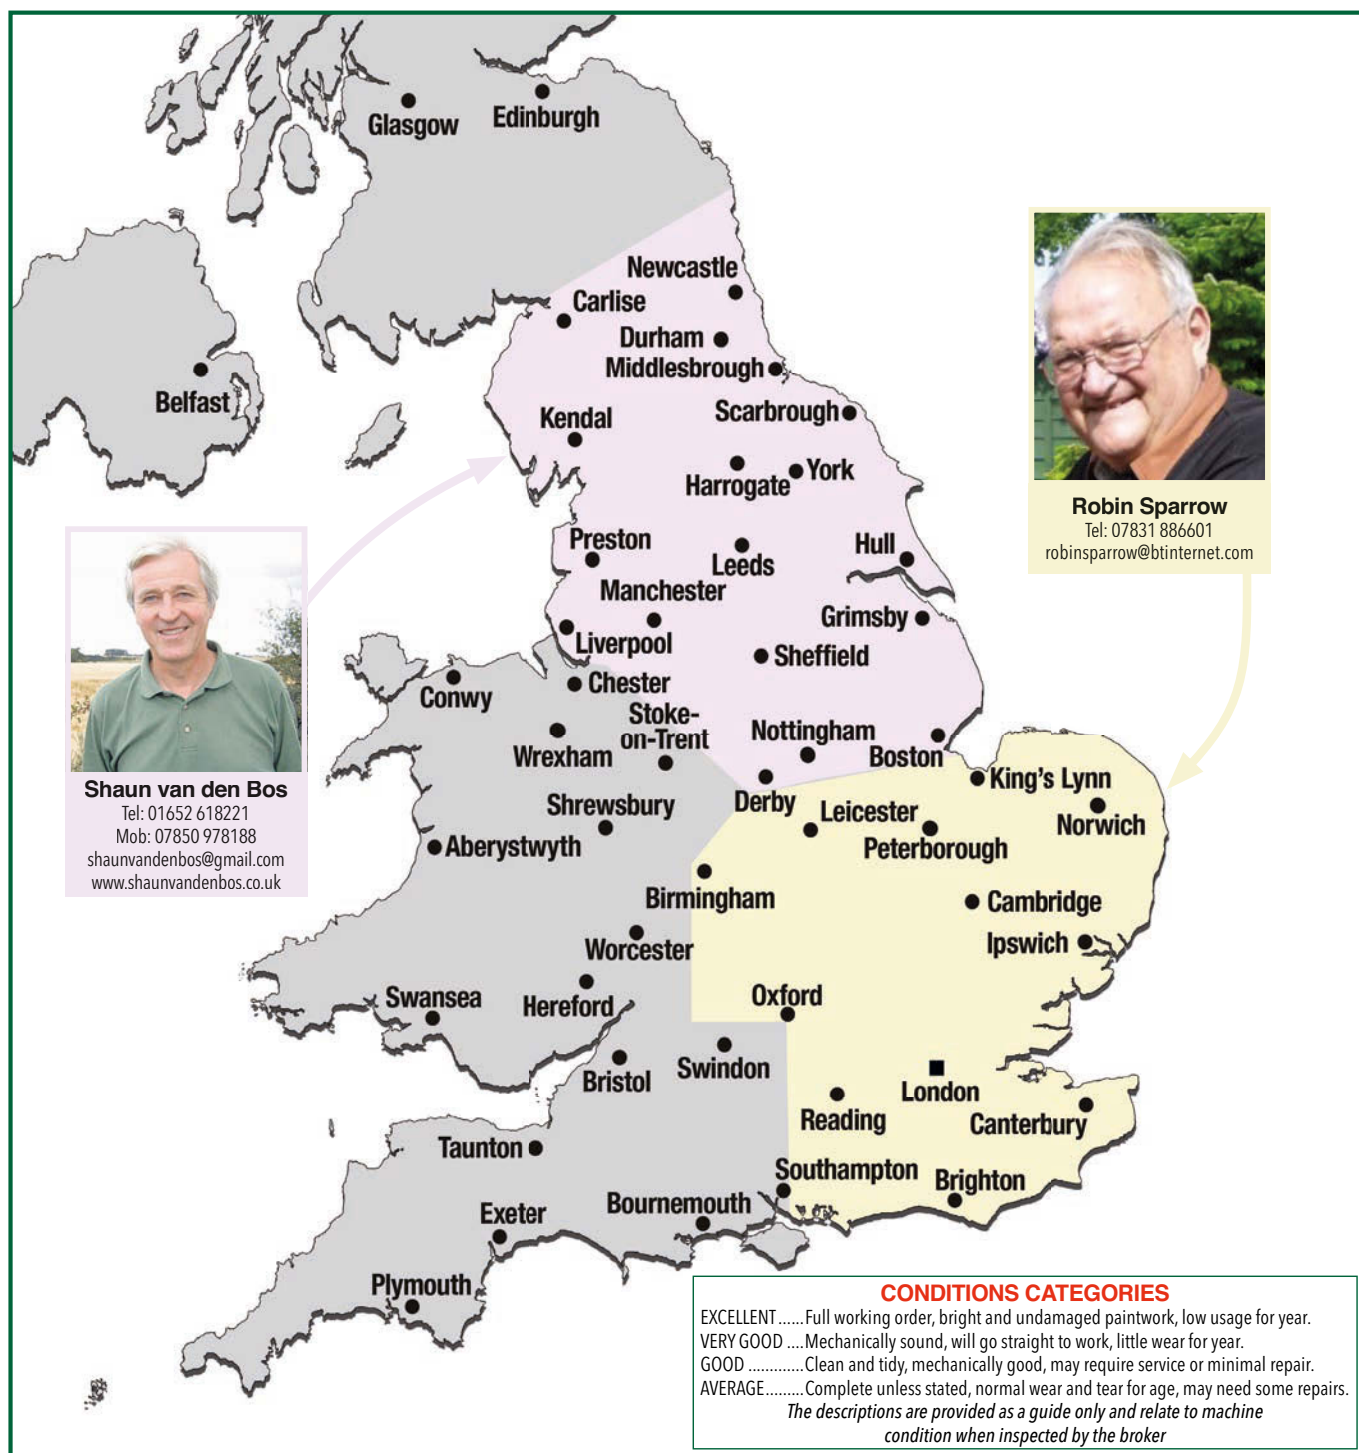

Got away here was the 2004 Case STX500 Quadtrac with front weights, four spool valves at £47,000 grade 9.7

The 2005 Unimog U400 4x4 3-way tipper with Horton body sold at £32,000 grade 10

The safe and reliable way to buy and sell machinery and equipment

Wrights Farming Register offers farmers and contractors a unique service through its team of brokers. They are the 'men in the middle' who give an impartial opinion on the items of machinery they handle on behalf of their clients. The brokers, who currently cover an area stretching from the Scottish borders to the South Coast, can save farmers time and money when it comes to buying or selling anything from a combine harvester to a cattle trough. In these security-conscious days, they also provide a discreet alternative to a public farm dispersal sale and can help farmers avoid the tax pitfalls these can cause.

HOW TO SPOT A SCAM ADVERT

We are currently aware of a number of fraudulent advertisers attempting to sell items within this section.

While we aim to protect our readers by removing these adverts, sometimes they may unfortunately appear.

Please be mindful before entering into any deals and

PROCEED WITH CAUTION.

1. SPEAK TO THE FARMER

Always look into whether an advertiser appears legitimate.

2. VIEW THE ITEM

If you can, view the item on the farm first.

3. AVOID ERRORS

Avoid anything with errors. If an ad has odd formatting, strange or poor-quality images, or spelling/grammar mistakes.

5. NEVER PAY IN ADVANCE

Avoid sellers who claim to be unavailable (e.g. they are travelling or have moved overseas) and insist on payment prior to arranging delivery.

6. PAYMENT

Avoid any arrangement that asks for payment via money order, wire transfer, international funds transfer, pre-loaded card or electronic currency, like Bitcoin. It is rare to recover money sent this way.

Farm Machinery is NOT responsible for any part of the transaction that takes place with the seller and the buyer.
