4669G COMBI CLAMP

Work easier and safer with the IMPROVED Combi Clamp.

This revolutionary sheep handling system makes handling easier, substantially reducing body stress. The shepherd no longer has to struggle to restrain, hold or turn a sheep over for examination as the Combi Clamp operates "hands-free" allowing time to deal with drenching, dagging, vaccinating or tagging all in one operation.

COMPACT FOURS OFFER PLENTY OF CHOICE

Current N5 tractors make the original N series look dated but, under the skin, a great deal is carried over. Used Valtra N values, like all kit these days, have hardened so make sure you look around to get a feel for prices before making a buying decision.

If you are after a nominal 90 to 185hp four-cylinder tractor, a used Valtra 'N' could well be worth a look. First launched back in 2005, these models include the fifth N5 series that are now available as a used buy. Navigating the used Valtra N market is a little complex but the flip side is broad choice with a decent chance you can find a tractor with the spec you need. The trick is to know what is on offer.

Price point: £25,000

N113 HITECH

Year: 2014

Hours: 3,250

Comment: Front and cab suspension. 40km/hr. Three rear spools. Front weights. 60% 440/65R28 and 40% 540/65R38 tyres.

Price point: £39,500

If you are an existing Valtra tractor operator you will have something of a head start when it comes to deciphering what the four-cylinder 'N' series has to offer. You will also appreciate that just because a given series was launched by AGCO at a certain time it does not mean this is the date when a given series became available in the UK. The N4 series, for example, was launched back in late 2015 but it was not until later in 2016 that these models started to reach UK customers.

The current N5 models have also seen a delay in getting to customers, although this time the reasons why are obvious. What this has done is create strong demand for relatively scarce late N4 tractors. Regardless of make or model, the market for good used tractors demands patience and the right level of investment to secure the right buy.

If you are not familiar with how Valtra outlines its models and core specifications everything will be clearer once you get the basics sorted out. First up is to appreciate the N series, launched back in 2005, initially filling a gap between the then recently renamed four-cylinder Valtra C and M models. The two model ranges spanned a nominal 90-150hp and 120-150hp respectively, the 'new' N models pretty much duplicating the same power choices.

Confusingly, the existing 6000 models remained available for a while too, albeit with a basic specification, but it is no wonder Valtra earned a reputation for offering plenty of choice and much buyer confusion. As an aside, six-pot power is reserved for the T series, starting with the nominal 120hp T120.

By around 2007, N models had replaced both the C and M series, the more compact centre 'frame' of the N giving them a 2.50m wheelbase. In brief, this means they are a bit shorter than M models and slightly longer than a C. >>

<< STEADY EVOLUTION

The first N series, with model numbers ending with 1, were offered in three main spec variants, Classic with mechanical shuttle, HiTech with a power shuttle and both with open centre hydraulics. Advance has a single lever transmission, electronic fuel pump, cab suspension, load sensing hydraulics, electronic spools and armrest controls.

The four-cylinder engines in all models were all derived from the Sisu Citius family, with a long-stroke motor in the range topping 150hp N141 displacing 4.9 litres and with common rail injection. The 133hp N121 has a lower capacity short-stroke 4.4 litre power plant, again with common rail fuelling. Further down the power scale, the 4.4 litre N101 and N111 are fitted with mechanical fuel injection, the N111e EcoPower having electronic injection. This was tuned to develop 116hp at 1,800rpm in Eco mode and 122hp at 2,200rpm in Power mode.

In 2010 the N2 series launched, these models looking much the same as their predecessors but with new model numbers ending in 2. Revised engines, now tagged AGCO Power, saw them tuned to meet Stage 3a emission compliance with changes to the transmissions offering.

This included range topping Direct with a stepless CVT transmission option. Developed 'in house' by Valtra, the Direct CVT is not shared with other tractor brands in the AGCO stable.

Versu replaced the Advance spec, with a choice of either HiTech3 or HiTech 5 with a three- or five-step. Versu and Direct models come with load-sensing hydraulics, both HiTech variants sticking with mechanical gear pump open centre systems.

The N3 series, with the model numbers now all ending in a 3, arrived in late 2013 to meet Stage 3b emission regulations. The power units are based on their predecessors but have a number of detail changes to include the sump design (see Key Checks). All have SCR oxidation catalysts and the need for AdBlue. To cope with higher operating temperatures, the engine cooling pack was upgraded with the engine hood gaining enlarged side grills and a modernised profile.

Apart from a few detail changes, N3 models are otherwise a progressive development of their N2 predecessors.

The biggest set of changes arrived with the N4 series launched in 2015. Now spanning a nominal 104 to 174hp, or 115 to 185hp if you allow for the boosted output, the four key specification packs stick with HiTech, Active, Versu and Direct naming and two 'eco' models, N114e and N154e.

These two 'eco' variants have engine control software that is tuned to optimise the available torque at an engine speed 1,100 rpm, as opposed to the 1,400 to 1,500 rpm applicable to other models. The aim is to help boost fuel consumption by exploiting the available torque at reduced engine speeds in certain applications.

N4 power units are Stage IV / Tier4 Final compliant but pretty much in line with the

On N4 models, the HiTech5 can be fitted with Active armrest controls as an option but they will still feature mechanical spool levers.

Valtra controls will obviously match the spec pack selected, but there are also differences between the various N series generations. Pictured HiTech5 from an N3 series.

predecessor N3 series, the nominal 100 to 125hp N104, N114e and N124 are powered by the AGCO Power 4.4 litre engine, the nominal 130 to 175hp N134, N154e and N174 having the longer stroke 4.9 litre power unit.

Fuel capacities were upped from 220 litres of previous N models to 235 litres with the option to increase this to 315 litres. The latter should be enough to allow the more powerful tractors to work a long day without the need to refuel, this popular choice being well worth seeking out on a used buy.

The basic engine block is carried over from all previous N series, but the air intake and cooling system was completely redesigned for the N4. The engine hood, which is completely re-styled, is sealed around the cooling pack and will only draw cooling air through the bonnet grills. This helps keep the radiators clean. Engine intake air is drawn from the front of the cab.

A throttle valve is included in the air intake and remains closed at engine start up to help speed engine warm up in cold weather. The valve will also restrict air flow when the tractor is running downhill to protect the engine from over revving.

The chassis for the N4 was revised, with the engine still positioned, with the cooling pack, directly over the front axle but narrowed to give extra clearance for the front wheels. This allows the turn radius to be reduced from the previous 4.9m to 4.5m. A choice of solid or new swivel front fenders were made available for the N4 too.

Sticking with the front end, Valtra boosted the axle capacity by 25% whilst at the rear the differential locks on entry level HiTech spec tractors stick with the same fully locking dog clutch design, all other variants having a heavy duty Hi-Lock system combined with larger wheel hubs.

The N4 series chassis is built to accept an integral front linkage, the hydraulics running within the chassis to do away with exposed hose runs. The factory fit front linkage capacity is rated at 4,600kg. New this would have been a £3,500 option, a 1,000rpm front pto adding a further £2,500.

Size wise, the cab size was increased by around 200mm in width and is around 150mm longer and taller. An adjustable lower step and when wider tyres are specified, fender extension guards, were made standard. As before, a Valtra base Armrest is fitted on Active models, and was offered as an option on HiTech models. Both the Versu and Direct models come with a SmartTouch armrest.

The N series always came with a choice of seat, so it follows you will get the type as specified by the original buyer. By the time the N4 series was launched, there were four seat options, ranging from a basic >>

N4 Versu and Direct models benefit from a SmartTouch armrest complete with a small LCD display. Overall N4 ergonomics taking a step up from the previous N generations.

N4 models continued to use the same analogue dials to show fuel, engine temperature, rpm and speed. Simple and easy to read.

Side and rear wiper controls are mounted on the 'C' pillar. Side wiper not over common in the UK.

N3 Versu cab is uncluttered but will look a bit dated when compared to an N4 series.

Although it has the same design DNA as its predecessors, the N4 series cabs do feel more modern. Fabric seat covers look plush when new but soon get grubby. A seat cover is a common fit but check under it as they can hide wear.

Current N5 models have seen a big change in the cab, this factory shot of a top spec Direct model clearly showing a four-pot tractor can host a festival of modern tech.

<< sprung design that will be the most likely find in low powered HiTech models, specced up for yard work, through to an Evolution Air design that incorporates in-built heating and ventilation.

Another point to consider is that the cab was available with a choice of two or single door access, most yard oriented models have two doors. N4 models have a single 180 degree front screen wiper as standard with a 270 degree sweep front and offside door wiper as an option. The N4 lighting pack was generally upgraded with the LED side illuminated access steps staying on for up to 50 seconds when all lights are turned off.

Valtra continued to offer its TwinTrac reverse drive option across all N series tractors, this option getting an upgrade on N4 models with an improved drive by wire steering system. This makes steering lighter. The rear pick-up hitch, which can be viewed on tractors equipped with a video display in the cab, comes in both base and Hydraulic push back hitch varieties, the latter as standard on the top three models.

Rear lift capacity is put at 8,100kg, a 3-speed PTO coming as standard but with a choice of either 1,000Eco or 540Eco speeds as well as the option of a ground speed drive. The rear axle disc brakes have an extra set of discs and plates added when compared to the previous N models, and AutoComfort cab suspension was available for the first time. This air bag suspension system will automatically stabilise the cab over rough ground and help keep it level. The previous cab suspension system was offered and, as it was initially just a £600 option, it will be a common find on used models. The more advanced Auto Comfort system would have cost around £1,500 but, on a PCP purchase deal, would have added relatively little to monthly costs so it too will be common on higher spec tractors.

N4 series HiTech specification tractors come with mechanical outlets and open centre hydraulics with a pump capacity of either 73 or 90 litres/min. All N4 models have electronic spool valves, with mechanical levers in cab on Active models, with both Versu and Direct controlling the spools via the SmartTouch armrest.

Previous N series tractor remote valves were split into two blocks to either side, all N4 models having them grouped in a single block to the left of the tractor. All outlets are >>

When looking over a used tractor, do not forget to check the battery and the toolbox. If the cubby is clean and tidy it reflects well on past care. Note large screen wash reservoir is sited by the exhaust, this stopping the contents freezing in cold Finnish winters.

Versu and Direct tractors will have a rear pto control as standard, with extra remote valve control as an option.

N4 tractors have LED rear light clusters, with remote rear linkage controls on the rear mudguards as standard.

<< colour coded, as you would expect. Two 2 rear remotes are standard but, as an option up to five rear and three front valves may be fitted, so up to eight in total.

No one could accuse Valtra of offering little choice, but in practice you should find used examples follow pretty fixed spec patterns for the various packages on offer; HiTech models are pretty basic, Active suiting those after a bit more field work friendly features with Versu offering a good all-round specification.

Direct models can come with a lot of extras fitted so consider this when comparing used pricing. A range topping N174 of the same hours and condition can have its sticker price hiked by £5K plus if it has a few extras, a front linkage and pto, Auto Comfort cab suspension, a full lighting pack and video cameras easily adding £10K plus.

KEY CHECKS

All the usual used tractor buying pointers clearly apply, with late N1 and early N2 series tractors now fetching similar money if they share the same spec, are in equal condition and have the same hours. What can let these models down is the paintwork, the lacquer tending to peel. N3 tractors can also suffer from poor paint but the later models are better. As to colour, there were seven offered as an option. You get what you see.

The Structural sump of N3 could crack and the rear crankshaft oil seal could leak on some tractors but not others. Valtra carried out a recall on affected models but check with a dealer before assuming a used buy has been modified. A simple check is to check the sump, the original design having four threaded bolt holes in the sump to attach a loader. Modified examples have six. If a used buy was not modified under the factory recall scheme it will need doing, the job possibly taking up to 50 hours to complete. Not cheap in other words. A dealer buy should be fine but be very careful if buying from third party, at auction or privately.

The alternator bracket on N1 to N3 models can fail, but again most should have been fixed by now. On both the N1 and N2 tractors, the viscous fan hub may fail, leading to overheating. Again, this should have been fixed on a used buy. A simple check is to get the tractor up to temperature, turn the engine off and see if the fan spins. If it does, the hub has failed. Also check for an error code on the armrest screen. Do not ignore this problem as a fix could weigh in at over £700.

As with many tractors with electronic spool valves and load sensing pumps, the rear fender buttons can stick open in the flow position. This will cause the hydraulics to run enough to cause the hydraulics to overheat. Not common but if there is a problem a new switch should solve it. Talking of switches, the variable resistor in the cab fan speed switch can fail.

Valtra linkages have not changed radically between N series models, with the hydraulic valve blocks on N4 series models all being sited on the left and in a single block. Make sure you get the hitch balls and drawbar with a used buy.

Valtra gearboxes are not known for problems, but a service history will be a good indicator that the oils have been changed on schedule. Tractors showing in excess of 6,000 hours or with a poor service history can suffer problems with the synchromesh failing, spoiling the shift between ratios. You should be able to pick this up by working through all the gears under a bit of load.

Apart from seal leaks, that can happen with any make of model of tractor, worn steering joints and the brakes needing to be looked over that is it. These are well-made and dependable tractors that can reward routine service attention with a long and economical working life.

SUMMARY

Used tractor pricing is really tricky to outline these days, the lead time for new tractors, plus the fact that prices for new kit in general have risen, can see a well-cared for tractor purchased used a couple of years ago now fetch pretty much the same money as it did then with a 1,000 hours or so extra on the clock.

Not so long ago, the arrival of a new tractor model would see the previous generations prices take a bit of a dip too. In the case of N4 series tractors this is not the case as these models are highly sort after.

As is increasingly the case you need to really think through what you need, how much you can afford and what you expect the tractor to do. Despite there being a great deal of choice in the Valtra N series that does not equate to the right used models being readily available. If you cannot get the spec you want, talk this through with a Valtra dealer. They will have the best access to models due as a trade-in. If you buy on finance, then a new model may be more affordable than you think, low interest rates possibly making a tractor built to your specification more affordable than you thought. But you may have a bit of a wait before a shiny new tractor turns up. Which is why you may be reading this!

With thanks to Laura Heath, John Bownes Ltd, Winsford, Cheshire and Andy Miller, AGCO.

Where air brakes are fitted, the integral compressor can work hard, with condensation in the system sometimes building up and leading to internal corrosion. Have it checked.

hitch and ensure the latches that secure the tow hook are in good order. Valtra only offer a three speed pto with ground speed option, so make sure you select a tractor with the right ECO pto speed for your needs.

The cab suspension offered on all N series tractors is built around rubber isolation bushes and sprung dampers. The spring pre-load can be adjusted to either soften or firm the 'ride'. Simple and trouble free, excess cab movement suggests wear in the bushes.

Auto Comfort cab system is fully automatic and will deliver superior cab suspension. More likely to have been specified on Versu and Direct models, the system is worth having and is not known for problems.

F-DRILL INTRODUCED TO BOOST SEEDING COMBINATIONS

Kverneland has introduced the f-drill front hopper for those looking to carry larger capacities of seed or fertiliser, to run with combination outfits.

Available as the f-drill Compact and f-drill Maxi, the two versions provide hopper capacities of 1,600 litres and 2,200 litres respectively. Both benefit from Kverneland's innovative ELDOS electric metering unit complete with hydraulic fan drive, which is capable of delivering application rates from 1-400kg/ha.

"The f-drill is a great solution for those looking to boost productivity when placing fertiliser with an eight-row maize drill," said Kverneland's seeding specialist Graham Owen. "With its own seed metering unit and 100mm diameter distribution system, the f-drill front hopper is ready to be combined with many different outfits including the Kultistrip, Optima maize drill and Monopill sugar beet drill."

"When combined with a power harrow drill combination such as the Kverneland e-drill, the f-drill front hopper could also be used as an additional seed hopper to suit companion cropping," he added. "Doing so contributes to better balance for the entire combination."

The generous carrying capacity of the f-drill also enables it to be combined with Kverneland power harrows and a coulter bar, to deliver a compact drilling rig up to 6m wide.

With ISOBUS e-com software, the f-drill provides plug and play functionality through any ISOBUS compatible tractor, using either the tractor terminal, a Universal Terminal, or the IsoMatch Tellus Pro or Tellus GO+ terminals.

A Duo version of the f-drill is also available, and is equipped with two ELDOS metering units and split-hopper capability. Prices start from £21,237 for the 1,600 litre capacity f-drill Compact.

Trelleborg Sealing Solutions launches its new MFS Nexus mechanical face seal for improved performance and increased service life.

Light and flexible, the new MFS Nexus seal is ideal for drive systems, gearboxes, and undercarriages in construction and agriculture applications where excavators operate at low rotational speeds and the risk of wear and ingress of contaminants is high. The seal is also capable of protecting the bearings of machines used for other heavy-duty work.

The simplified design of the MFS Nexus seal incorporates two spring steel rings mounted face-to-face on a lapped seal face within specially designed housings, as well as two elastomeric O-Rings to centre the metal rings within the housings. The seal protects the inner shaft and other important components from debris while also preventing inner lubricants from escaping.

The unique light and flexible spring steel material used for the housings is an alternative to traditional bearing steel and cast-iron rings, providing flexibility against mud compression which over time can degrade components and shorten an asset's expected working life. It also has increased sealing performance for applications where peripheral speed is limited.

In-house testing of Trelleborg's MFS Nexus seal has demonstrated exceptional performance in tough conditions. After 2,000 hours submerged in mud at rotational speeds of one meter per second, the seal continued to work effectively without any sign of failure. Further testing also revealed minimal contamination to the machine's oil lubricant, with the presence of iron, lead and other impurities well within acceptable limits.

The MFS Nexus mechanical face seal is easy to install and does not require any specialist tools due to its conventional geometry.

THIRD MODIFIED COMPACT TRACTOR FOR UK STRAWBERRY GROWER

Summer Berry's farm in Colworth has over 400 acres of delicious strawberries, raspberries and blueberries. They've been farming at Colworth since 2006 and over the years have created a farm full of strawberries, raspberries and blueberries which all grow under polytunnels.

With rows measuring just 160cm, they desperately needed a tractor narrow enough to fit down the tight strawberry tunnel rows without damaging their crop.

After much searching, Farm Manager Arunas Budry got in contact with Kirkland who specialise in compact tractors. Able to alter an existing machine to a customer's specification, Kirkland's skilled engineers came up with a solution:

"We sourced a cab and cut it down to measure just 800mm wide which allowed the tractors to have plenty of space when going up and down the rows. This is Summer Berry's third modified tractor by us here at Kirkland." Dave Allen, Service Manager.

The Antonio Carraro TN5800 is one of the narrowest models on the market measuring just 1170mm, the ideal machine for any fruit grower looking for a narrow tractor for their tight rows.

"The AC TN 5800 is initially a cabless tractor. Kirkland was able to modify a cab and fit it for us, so we can spray strawberries safely and not touch the plants, thanks to its narrow width." Arunas Budry, head of farming at Summer Berry.

Also searching for a narrow tractor, Hall Hunter Partnership is another UK fruit grower that Kirkland has also supplied a modified machine:

"I am very pleased with the Antonio Carraro TN 5800 tractor. It's very manoeuvrable on tight headlands and the cab is surprisingly spacious with plenty of leg room even for over 6ft tall drivers. The electro hydraulics are positive in operation and ease of use and most importantly, we do not touch the plants with the cab, considerably reducing damage especially to the flowers in our blueberry fields. The tractor will also be used to spray 6-line high table top Strawberries at harvest. All in all, Kirkland have gone the extra mile designing this tractor and I am very thankful."

SUPERIOR VISION ESSENTIAL FOR NIGHT-TIME DRIVING

FIRST UK OUTING FOR PORTABLE CHAMBERS TO MEASURE METHANE

High-tech portable chambers for measuring methane emissions from sheep are being used in the UK for the first time.

Scientists at Scotland's Rural College (SRUC) have unveiled their New Zealand-designed Portable Accumulation Chambers (PACs) as the latest tool in mitigating agricultural greenhouse gases.

The trailer-mounted chambers can predict methane emissions in individual sheep from a variety of systems, including at pasture, as well as in multiple locations.

Scientists can collect air samples and then analyse methane concentration, showing which genetics, feed types and systems generate the highest emission levels.

In a recent blog post, Professor Wayne Powell, Principal and Chief Executive of SRUC, called for increased efforts to reduce the climate impact of ruminant livestock.

Dr Nicola Lambe from SRUC, who is leading the PACs project, said: "There is an urgent need to mitigate greenhouse gas emissions from sheep. Recent figures show there are more than 1.2 billion sheep in the world, producing around 7 million tonnes of methane into the atmosphere.

"Despite the fact that resource efficiency and greenhouse gas emissions are global priorities, there are few examples around the world of research to implement breeding strategies to directly tackle these issues in sheep.

"This is largely due to the difficulty in recording feed consumption and greenhouse gas emissions on an individual animal basis, especially in grass-based systems. The Portable Accumulation Chambers will play an important role in starting to address this issue."

Working with Agri-EPI Centre, Rob Hodgkins, who has 2,500 sheep on his farm in Hertfordshire, has become the first farmer in the UK to use the PACs, following a grant from Innovate UK.

He said: "Not only does this make sense from an environmental point of view, but it also makes sense economically. It will only be a matter of time before consumers will be able to look at labels on packets of meat that show what they're buying has come from, for example, a carbon-zero sheep."

WIDER RANGE OF ACCESSORIES

Existing and prospective owners of Corvus Off-Road Vehicles now have a wider range of accessories available to enhance the looks and performance of their Terrain utility vehicles.

Set out in a new 2023 brochure, the accessories range from protective steel front bumpers to snow tracks and a host of useful devices in between that can be specified or retro-fitted. The front bumpers, which include installation components, are designed to allow the installation of a front winch and there is a choice of WARN winches with hauling capacities from 1,500kg to 2,041kg. These can be operated from a dashboard switch or by the top-of-the-range WARN wireless system, which allows the use of a remote control from up to 15 metres away. Selection of tyres is an important factor for all types of tough terrain where traction is critical, and the CST Clincher tyre offers high grip in all situations. Options on wheels include light, sports design 14" aluminium rims or 14" matt black steel rims that are highly resistant to shocks and temperature changes. A spare wheel comes complete with Clincher tyre and can be used on any axle.

Safety, storage and comfort are pre-eminent factors for hard-working 4x4 utility vehicles and the range of accessories in these categories live up to the Corvus Terrain reputation for quality and productivity. There is rear windscreen impact protection with a tubular steel grill, a luggage roof rack and side storage pods for extra storage, cargo box cover and protective anti-slip silicone carpet. An electro-hydraulic system for tilting the cargo box can be fitted and operated from a switch on the dashboard. Steel side extensions are available to maximise the storage volume of the cargo box area. Creature comforts are catered for with a two-door pack of driver and passenger full doors with windows, half doors or net half doors. The front windscreen can be tempered glass or a protective glass flip-up to let in the breeze and both have a wiper and jet kit. There's additional safety with a reversing warning device with sound and light and a rotary emergency light kit which includes wiring and switch. To round off, when the snow's on the ground or the terrain demands it, an adapter kit lets you install Camso 4S1 snow tracks for the ultimate traction (Terrain models T21 onwards).

NEW FREE AGRICULTURE SHOW

An new, free-to-attend farming and machinery show promises to “celebrate and support farming, innovation and enterprise” across the South of England.

The Southern Counties Farming & Machinery Show will take place at the Newbury Showground on 15 November 2023.

Created by Kelsey Media, the publisher of the UK's top agriculture brands, South East Farmer, Agricultural Trader, Profi, Farm Machinery, Vineyard and Crop Production Magazine, the show will be an unmissable event for farmers and everyone involved in farming and farming-related activities across the region and beyond.

“We’re very excited to launch the Southern Counties Farming & Machinery Show,” said show publisher Steve Kendall. “After the incredible success of our sister show, the West Country Farming & Machinery Show, earlier this year, we knew we wanted to bring the same knowledge and authority of our brands with our marketing reach and expertise to put together this new event for the southern counties.

“We’re looking forward to celebrating and supporting farming, innovation and enterprise and bringing all aspects of the farming industry together at the Newbury Showground in November.”

The Southern Counties Farming & Machinery Show will showcase agricultural companies large and small under one roof. It will offer a free, one-day opportunity to sample and keep up to date with all things farming and farm-related, new products and services and the latest farm machinery from the region's top manufacturers and dealers.

There will also be a number of seminars throughout the day on topics relevant to farmers and farming today, plus a live farm machinery auction.

In addition to the show's core farming and machinery content, there will also be a focus on construction and outdoor power equipment.

The industry has longed for an accurate crop moisture and temperature probe that combines precision and ease of use in a single package.

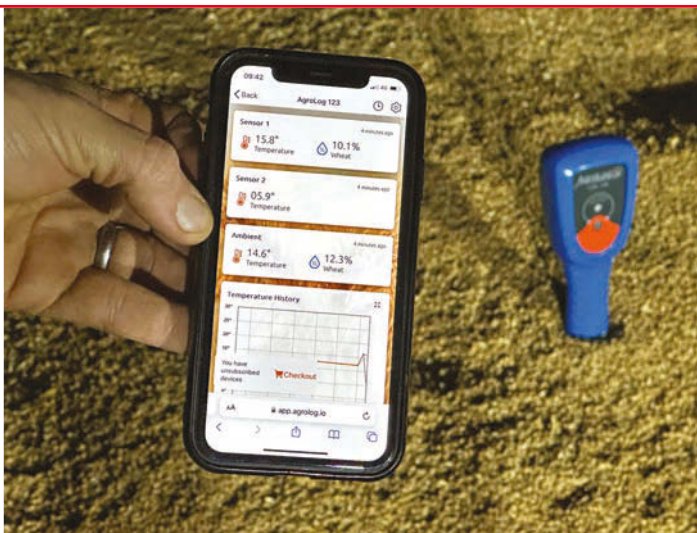

Addressing this demand, crop storage specialists Martin Lishman Ltd have introduced the AgroLog moisture and temperature probe to their comprehensive line-up of crop quality equipment. Timed perfectly for the 2023 season, this cutting-edge 2-meter probe offers instant temperature and moisture readings, serving as the ultimate portable monitoring solution. Equipped with five on-board sensors and an extensive calibration process, it can accurately determine the moisture content of stored grain.

The probe's standout feature is its seamless wireless capabilities. Once positioned in the crop, it automatically collects moisture and temperature data and sends it via the cellular network to the cloud for further analysis. The data can be conveniently accessed and manipulated using the AgroLog app, available for iOS and Android. Additionally, a web-app version is accessible on any internet-enabled device.

"The AgroLog probe is an exciting addition to our crop quality range," explains Joel Capper, Managing Director for Martin Lishman Ltd. "We believe this probe fills a gap in the market, and we are confident that farmers across the UK will find it a valuable tool to use in their stores."

With its advanced sensor technology, the AgroLog probe provides users with crucial knowledge of the equilibrium moisture content (EMC) specific to their grain. Understanding the EMC is essential for effective grain drying. Farmers and grain handlers can ensure safe storage conditions while avoiding unnecessary energy consumption and economic losses associated with over-drying.

The multiple sensors inside the AgroLog Probe assist in identifying the location of the drying front. By confirming when the lower levels of grain have reached their target moisture content, the probe helps users decide when to turn off heaters so that fresh airflow can be utilised, reducing the risk of over-drying and saving energy.

THE ULTIMATE WIRELESS CROP MOISTURE AND TEMPERATURE PROBE

Pete Waudby, Farm Manager for J.E. Atkinson & Son, trialled the new AgroLog probe earlier this year. "I was fortunate enough to trial this probe during the testing stage. I was surprised at how easy it was to set up and use, and the unit's accuracy coincided with our moisture meters. This will be a handy tool for any farmer looking for an instant guideline moisture reading."

Constructed from the highest quality materials, the AgroLog probe is designed to withstand the rigours of farm use. Its construction incorporates aluminium, fiberglass, and ABS, ensuring its durability, and it is weatherproof to withstand the harshest storage conditions.

'DRIVE IT DAY' A GREAT SUCCESS

Sunday April 23 was wet, wet, wet, but despite that fact the Bodle Street Green FBHVC 'Drive It Day' event was a great success when approximately 250 vehicles came and went. This included 87 tractors with a number making their debut at any event.

The event even had a reader come from Cornwall and went on to raise £1,435 for much needed village hall funds.

Organiser Peter Love said: "I'm lucky to have around me some excellent marshals particularly John Gee, Bryan Kemp, Trevor Manual and Bernard Saunders from Nottinghamshire as they manoeuvred the vehicles in and out the small yard and green. I thank Annette Spratley for booking the vehicles in and for Wendy Gee selling the raffle tickets. Also the village hall volunteer ladies who spent the whole day supplying free teas, coffees and Caroline Croft's rock cakes to all the exhibitors."

David Vaughan was supposed to be at home recovering from a knee operation, but it was cancelled at the very last minute; poor chap did a sterling job with the model railway displays in the hall including one where the children or grown-ups could drive themselves.

A big thank you must also go to Clive Osborne for providing the P/A system for David and others to chat over and keeping everyone informed.

Lastly to Colin Anton (who always gets forgotten) for all the hard work he did in running the road run and leading it even if some did get lost! We did have a route map but not many of the road runners picked them up at the entrance to the hall.

There was a friendly atmosphere to the event with everyone talking together which was great to see. Peter added: "If everyone is happy I'm happy." Make a date for the 2024 event which takes place on Sunday 21 April. Do come along you are most welcome.

This year's Welsh National Tractor Road Run in Neath has seen entries come from all over England, Scotland and Wales. The organising team has been busy attending various runs and shows publicising the event, including the popular Welsh/Irish run in Haverfordwest. Entries forms and information is available on the WNTRR Facebook page or by email from the secretary, Anne on anne.trials@btinternet.com

The excellent start is situated approximately five and half miles north of Neath and only seven miles from the M4 motorway. The route will include many lanes and roads never used for tractor runs before and will take in views over Swansea Bay and the Vale of Neath. Some sections of the route will be untarred, but are of a hard surface and suitable to be driven on by any vehicle.

Three charities are to be supported this year: Brecon Mountain Rescue, Neath YMCA Baby Bank and Children Christmas Funds.

OPEN FARM SUNDAY

LEAF will take place on Sunday 11 June, providing an opportunity for farmers across the country to showcase British food and farming.

At a time when more questions than ever are being asked by consumers, and the media, about how food is grown or reared, the environment, and animal welfare, the day, supported by Linking Environment and Farming, offers a unique chance to collectively raise the voice of farming.

On 11 June, and throughout the month, hundreds of farms will open their gates to host events from small walks to full farm open days, welcoming anything from 10 people to 1,000s. Every event is individual to the farm and its own story, but all offer a valuable opportunity to build connections and relationships.

KENT SHOW LOOKING FOR HISTORIC PICTURES

It's the 100th anniversary of the Kent County Show this year and it takes place on 7-9 July at the Kent County Showground, Detling, Kent. All are invited to enter tractors in the Heritage section, in particular tractors that are 100 years old!

In addition, the secretary Nikki Dorkings, is looking for pictures of the show that were taken over 50 years ago, particularly old black and white pictures. If you can help please get in touch: nikki@kenteventcentre.co.uk.

Nikki can also supply entry forms for this superb three-day show, which normally hosts 80 tractors in its line-up. If you have never been before, it's well worth attending.

In late April this year, the 17 April 1964 Doe New Performance Triple-D D373 unfortunately had a mishap and had to be reloaded, before heading to Northern Ireland and its new life.

The tractor had been offered by a Kent tractor dealer as part of the Jim Aikman Collection sale on 25 March when the bidding stopped at £33,000.

Interestingly, this Brooks of Newark supplied tractor was listed as D173 in the catalogue when in fact the number is D373. It was supplied new to Smith of Balderton, near Newark, Nottinghamshire.

However, after that, nobody knows how it ended up in a scrapyards in Germany. It was saved by world renowned tractor dealer Mark Hellier. He had both engines running at the time of the sale and had owned the tractor for seven years. If you have any further history on this tractor please do get in touch: peterlove@madasafish.com

VINTAGE COLLECTIVE RAKES IN £2 MILLION

Cheffins' Cambridge Vintage Sale at Sutton, near Ely on the 21-22 April 2023 saw a number of the world's most unusual classic and vintage tractors, alongside vintage motorbikes, classic commercial vehicles, petroliana and collector's go under the hammer, grossing over £2 million in total. Based in East Anglia but operating nationwide, Cheffins is Europe's leading auctioneer of vintage machinery, and this sale was a major event for collectors and enthusiasts from across the continent.

Of the over 300 vintage and classic tractors offered, the headline lot of the day was a 2001 John Deere 7810 which sold for £45,500, to a collector in the UK. This was followed by a 1980s Ford 7810 Silver Jubilee which achieved £32,500. Among the earlier tractors, a 1964 Roadless Ploughmaster 6/4 fetched £31,000 in concours condition; while a 1920 Avery 8-16 made £29,000 which needed a power wash. Tractors from the 1970s were also in high demand, with a 1975 Ford 7000 achieving £29,500 another at £28,000 and the trio was completed at £8,500 for the last an open centre older restored 1971 John Deere 3120 sold for £16,000.

Among the vehicles, a 2005 Argo Avenger 8x8 UTV, which was bought new by journalist and TV personality, Jeremy Clarkson, far exceeded its presale estimate of £2,000, selling for £5,500, while a 1963 Thames Trader and Scammell trailer achieved £24,000. One of the most sought after lots at the sale was a Brayslaw living wagon, which had been fully restored and sold for £17,500.

Another highlight from the sale was an 8ft long 1/6 scale Scammell Pioneer tank transporter and Armotek Sherman Firefly tank model. The remote-control model was created over a 10-year period and achieved £20,000.

Oliver Godfrey, Head of the Machinery Division, Cheffins, says: "The April Vintage auction really kicks off the start of the season for many collectors and vintage enthusiasts. The sale saw over 142,000 views on-line ahead of the auction, and we had hundreds of buyers in attendance from across the continent, all looking to pick up that next special piece for their collection. We were pleased to welcome back familiar faces to this iconic sale ahead of the vintage rally and show season and will look forward to seeing the regular collectors and enthusiasts join us for the next vintage auction in July." The next Vintage sale will be on 21-22 July.

NEW STEAM & VINTAGE FEST TO TAKE AWAY GDSF BLUES

A group of friends felt there would be something missing in the Dorset area this year, after the cancellation of the Great Dorset Steam Fair. Thanks to generous sponsors, the new Steam & Vintage Fest, with support from a selection of fellow exhibitors, is slowly taking shape and will take place on 25-27 August 2023.

The event, hosted by one of our sponsors, will be sited at Fryern Court Road, Fordingbridge, Hampshire, SP6 1ND just off the A338. There will be steam, vintage plant, tractors, stationary engines, heavy horses, trade and craft stands and live entertainment in the beer tent. The show will be open daily until late with a vintage theme throughout the three-days.

Thomas the Tank Engine will be making a visit too and you are all welcome to enter your exhibit. Further details, tel: 01202 883161 or 07974 404829

The safe and reliable way to buy and sell machinery and equipment

Wrights Farming Register offers farmers and contractors a unique service through its team of brokers. They are the 'men in the middle' who give an impartial opinion on the items of machinery they handle on behalf of their clients. The brokers, who currently cover an area stretching from the Scottish borders to the South Coast, can save farmers time and money when it comes to buying or selling anything from a combine harvester to a cattle trough. In these security-conscious days, they also provide a discreet alternative to a public farm dispersal sale and can help farmers avoid the tax pitfalls these can cause.

The Radial Range

Designed to ensure you get the Power of C-T-R, i.e. Low compaction, High Traction and High Roadability. Aimed to give you an all-round performance and peace of mind. Due to their flexible sidewalls, superior construction, higher tread arc width & higher inner tyre volume, our radial tyres help reduce soil compaction. Their dual lug angle design with more lug overlap gives it superior traction and better roadability.

The Bias range

The high traction farm & agriculture vehicle front and rear bias tyres are developed for mighty performance over hard and black soil for sturdy crop that leaves behind strong stubbles. Properties of self-cleaning, improved puncture resistance and longer tyre life assures farmers of a tension free usage. Working on fields across the world, our Bias tyres come in 4 ranges to suit different terrains.
